Russia Fears End of Communism in China

Warning Also Hits Mao Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist Party said today there is a clear possibility communism might be overthrown in China.

In a strong attack on Mao Tse-tung's policies, the Soviet party's theoretical journal said, "The very existence of the Communist Party of China . . . is now at stake

"Already clearly in sight is the danger of a change in the nature of the government in the country and, hence, a real danger to the Socialist (Communist) gains of the Chinese revolution," the journal Kommunist said.

Internal Danger

The article, as summarized by Tass news agency before the journal was distributed, indicated that the danger of communism's being overthrown was an internal one.

It suggested that Mao's policies had created such discontent that his ouster and the destruction of his party were possible.

After the failure of the "great leap forward" in the late 1950s, Kommunist said, "Mao Tse-tung's authority and the belief in his infallability began waning in the party and among the people."

Dictatorial

To overcome this, Mao adopted an increasingly dictatorial policy, militarizing life and increasing the role of the army, fanning nationalist passions and inflating his own "cult of personality," Kommunist said.

At the same time, he tried to divert attention from internal problems by criticizing other Communist parties, the article said.

It also accused Mao of "staging military provocations to aggravate the international situation." The summary of the article did not specify what these were.

'Wave of Discontent'

Aside from "channeling the surging wave of discontent outside," this policy had another goal of seeking greater world power for China, Kommunist charged.

It described Mao's Communist Party as never having been truly Communist by Kremlin standards. Instead, the article suggested, it was infected with "the artificially cultivated idea of China as the center of the world" instead of Communist internationalism.

"All the burden of responsibility for the present deep social-political crisis in China rests fully and entirely with Mao Tse-tung's group which deliberately broke with Marxism-Leninism in keeping with its great power adventurist ambitions," Kommunist contended.

Analyzes Causes

Emergency Programs Urged

Millions Go Hungry In U.S., Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report says that in the Deep South, in New England, on Indian reservations, in Applachia —in every section of the nation —at least 10 million Americans suffer unremitting hunger and the number of victims is growing.

They suffer anemia, growth retardation and parasitic diseases usually found in underdeveloped countries, the report said. And their infants often are fed water instead of milk, while their aged suffer dizzy spells from hunger.

"No other Western country permits such a large proportion of its people to endure the lives we press on our poor," the report said "To make four-fifths of a nation more affluent than any other people in history, we have degraded one-fifth mercilessly."

National Emergency

The report, made public Monday by the Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States, urged President Johnson to declare that a national emergency exists and to launch emergency food programs in 256 hard-hit countries, as well as migrant farm camps and some Indian reservations.

It also recommended establishing a free food-stamp program and stripping the Agriculture Department of responsibility for food aid because it places "the interests of agricultural producers first, the needs of the poor and hungry second."

The report said only 5.4 million of the estimated 30 million persons in poverty receive surplus commodities or food stamps under current Agriculture Department programs. And, it added, one-third of those receiving the government aid still have a poor diet—according to Agriculture Department standards.

Not Enough Food

"We cannot assume that any of the remaining poor—those on neither program—are getting enough food," the report said.

Co-chairmen of the citizens' group are Benjamin E. Mays, retired president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., and Leslie W. Dunbar, director of the Field Foundation, New York.

The 100-page report showed pictures of undernourished infants, children and old people—as well as grain storage bins, farm land taken out of production under government programs and a shipload of food headed for India.

The report said the 256 counties requiring immediate food programs are in 20 states—most in the South and Southwest—with 47 of them in Georgia.

William Burson, Georgia welfare director, commented on the report: "As bad as the situation is in Georgia, it's not as bad as the committee painted it."

Another 27 counties are in North Carolina. Said that state's welfare chief, Clifton M. Craig: "We are aware that there are many poor persons without food and other essentials of life, including proper shelter and clothing" and added his department is doing its best to help the destitute.

In Virginia, which the report said has 14 hunger-struck counties, Director Otis L. Brown of the Department of Welfare and Institutions said some hunger and malnutrition problems stem from "eating and buying habits."

The citizens' board gave no ethnic breakdown of hunger victims but did report: "Curiously, the desolate poor are heavily weighted on the side of old inhabitants: Indians, Negroes, Appalachian whites, Spanish-speaking residents of the Southwest."

"A thousand people who must go without food for days each month would be shocking in a wealthy nation," the citizens' report said. "We believe that, in America, the number reaches well into the millions. And we believe that the situation is worsening."

Believed Lost in Thailand

3rd F111 Downed on Strike Against North

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the third crash of a U.S. Air Force F111 fighter-bomber on its way to or from a bombing mission against North Vietnam. The command said the plane was believed down somewhere in Thailand Monday night.

There was no other information on the plane or its two crewmen, the command said.

Six of the $6 million, swing-wing aircraft arrived at an air base in Thailand March 17 and went into combat March 25. On March 28 the first of America's most advanced planes crashed and was believed down in a remote section of Thailand.

The second crash was March 30, in northern Thailand, and the crew was rescued and the wreckage recovered. That crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material getting lodged in the flight controls.

Following the first two crashes, the other F111s were grounded until two replacements were flown from Nevada. The squadron resumed combat missions against North Vietnam April 12 and have been bombing every night since then.

Four Missions

A U.S. spokesman said the F111s flew four missions against North Vietnam's panhandle Monday night, but he would not say how many planes were on each mission.

U.S. planes flew a total of 155 missions over the panhandle Monday as pilots took advantage of clearing weather to hit targets south of the 19th parallel. Most strikes were against communications lines and weapons positions.

On the ground in South Vietnam there was heavy fighting south of Saigon, but no sign of the major enemy attack on the capital feared by the South Vietnamese.

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and the 199th Light Infantry Brigade fought an all-night battle 17 miles southwest of Saigon with an estimated battalion of Viet Cong holed up in bunkers.

Troops Rush In

The Viet Cong opened up on the infantrymen when helicopters landed them in a nearby clearing. More U.S. troops were rushed in by helicopter, and artillery, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers were called into the fight that raged through the night.

The Viet Cong retreated just before dawn. Eight U.S. soldiers were reported killed and six wounded by intense small arms and automatic weapons fire and enemy rocket grenades. The U.S. troops said they found the bodies of 35 Viet Cong in the bunker complex.

South Vietnamese infantry reported 115 Viet Cong killed in a battle 20 miles south of Saigon Monday.

The South Vietnamese said troops of their 7th Infantry Division fought for an hour with a Viet Cong unit of unknown size in the Mekong Delta. Seven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 47 wounded.

Shelled by Enemy

Enemy gunners also shelled installations more than 40 miles south and east of Saigon today, but close to the city there was no evidence of activity that might signal the big offensive anticipated by the South Vietnamese command.

Government forces in the capital and in neighboring provinces were put on full alert Monday after a North Vietnanese defector said the Communist command planned an enemy attack with all the punch of the Tet offensive in February.

Key U. S. officials said the alert was a case of war jitters, and a U.S. mission spokesman said: "No alert or any warning has been issued to American personnel."

Extra 100,000 Seen In Draftees for 1969

Gen. Hershey Claims Pentagon's Estimate of 240,000 Is Too Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey has told Congress he estimates the 1969 draft call could exceed by as much as 100,000 men the 240,000 the Pentagon is asking.

And at the least, the Selective Service director indicated, the draft call—should the Vietnam war continue—will probably be closer to 297,000 than to 240,000 next year.

In testimony given to a House Appropriations subcommittee Feb. 23 and released Monday, Hershey noted that for this year the Pentagon orginally asked for induction of 285,000 men.

The number actually to be taken this year now stands at 345,000 and, "Therefore, when I get 240,000 in my figures, it will take another 100,000," said Hershey, adding:

"If the war gets over, everything is gone. But if the war doesn't get over, I have to think of the worst, because the best I can always live with "

Hershey also related the 240,000 Pentagon figure to the 297,000 actually inducted in 1967. He explained the 1967 figure was more pertinent to 1969 needs than were figures for 1968 since men are inducted for two-year terms.

And he expressed skepticism recruiting efforts could appreciably lower his estimates on the number of inductees needed

Talking of the need to replace 1967 inductees who will be discharged next year, he said: "We don't necessarily replace them, if (the) recruiting is good enough. The 285,000 (in 1968) make it."

2,400 for State

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's 1969 draft call could be boosted by 2,400 men if estimates by draft chief Lewis B. Hershey are correct, the State Selective Service headquarters said today.

March by Whites Urged on Capital

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, called today for a massive march on Washington by white people to demand an end to racism.

A march by hundreds of thousands must be led by the nation's most respected white leaders if rebellion by poor and frustrated Negroes is to be avoided, said the Negro head of the civil rights organization.

Young told the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, "White people own the industries, the newspapers, the housing. They reap the benefits of our way of life, and theirs are the rewards of this society. It is their future which is at stake, perhaps more than that of Negroes, who, after all, have the least to lose."

'Cabinet' Wants To Reorganize State in 8 Parts

Appleton Situated in Center of 11-County Region of 'Fox Valley'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The proposed creation of a series of state service districts might well put Appleton in the running for a new state office building, it was disclosed here Monday.

A uniform districting plan dividing Wisconsin into eight administrative districts to provide clear-cut lines for providing state services has been endorsed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles' operating cabinet.

Headquarter cities have not yet been chosen for the districts, but state planners hope to have proposals before the cabinet by May 20.

Centrally Located

Appleton is the most centrally located major city within one district of the Fox Valley region which includes Outagamie, Door, Kewaunee, Brown, Shawano, Waupaca, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Calumet, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties

The comprehensive plan prepared two years ago by a St. Louis consulting firm for Appleton has designated the Jones Park area as a future civic center.

One of the potential structures proposed for the center is a state office building. A city-county complex also is envisioned for the general site.

Knowles warned, however, that local residents should not look upon the headquarters site decisions as regional battles

"I hope we don't envision regular capitols in the areas, or start a run on the part of local legislators," Knowles said.

The plan actually divides the state into four regions, each having two districts.

Economy, Efficiency

The cabinet-level departments would offer their services through identical districts to provide residents with common centers for state governmental service and operation.

Blending of the headquarters also would effect economies and efficiencies in state operation, according to the cabinet members attending the meeting with Knowles.

Linked to the district headquarters office buildings would be the state departments of natural resources, revenue, transportation, agriculture, industry, labor and human relations, health and social services and local development

The plan represents the first step toward restructuring

Thant Optimistic

Initial Talks This Week?

PARIS (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today, "I hope preliminary peace talks between Washington and Hanoi will begin soon, perhaps even this week."

Thant told airport newsmen, "Phnom Penh, Warsaw, Geneva or Paris are the cities where these preliminary talks could be held."

Thant was reported last week to be in contact with Washington and Hanoi on peace talks.

His comment on prospects came amid rumors in financial circles in New York that a site already had been agreed on.

But in Washington a State Department spokesman said: "You can say flatly that no agreement has been reached "

North Vietnamese diplomatic sources in Paris said they knew nothing of any agreement.

Answers Questions

Thant flew to Paris from Tehran where he opened the International Human Rights Conference. He went to Paris' Orly Airport greeting salon for distinguished persons and then informed newsmen he would make a statement. He told about the purpose of his trip and then responded to questions about Vietnam.

"I have taken part through my contacts with the two parties, on a private basis, in the negotiations toward a solution to the problem of preliminary talks between North Vietnam and the United States.

"It is up to Hanoi and Washington especially to settle this problem. However, it is preferable to be optimistic."

Asked if Paris could be considered as a possible meeting place, Thant said, "Phnom Penh, Warsaw, Geneva or Paris are indeed possible meeting places."

Accident Fatal to Police Chief

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The police chief of Phillips was killed early today when he was struck by one car and then hit by another on a Milwaukee street.

Phillips Police Chief Donald Marks, 41, who also was a Price County deputy sheriff, was killed in an accident at 2:40 a.m. today. He was in Milwaukee to attend a police administrators' school.

Authorities said Marks, a pedestrian, was struck by an automobile at N. 27th and W. State streets on the city's west side and was carried about 30 feet on the hood of the car before he rolled to the pavement. An unidentified person directed traffic at the scene while the motorist went into a nearby restaurant and telephoned police. Another car then struck Marks, dragging him about 40 feet. The woman driver said she did not see the person directing traffic.

Marks, married and the father of three children, had been a member of the Phillips police department for 10 years and chief since 1966. His wife, Lorraine, is an elementary school teacher, there.

Nixon Forecasts Presidency Contest With Another Kennedy

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon foresees another great Nixon-Kennedy contest for the presidency next November, almost a repeat of the 1960 spectacular which he lost in the closest election in modern political history.

Nixon expects to win the Republican nomination for president and he thinks Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York will be his Democratic opponent.

The former vice president's analysis of the outlook for Kennedy and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has not yet announced his presidential candidacy, goes like this:

"You always think of Bobby Kennedy as being the organization man and Humphrey as the man with great appeal to the public. Now Humphrey, because he is part of the administration, is the organization man and he has to depend on the Democratic establishment. Kennedy on the other hand is playing to the people. My guess is that if Kennedy rolls up the majorities I think he will in the primaries, he will be nominated."

Apart from the presidential primaries, Nixon's chief lieutenants advanced three principal reasons why they believed Kennedy will be the Democratic nominee—what they describe as the senator's "capable and efficient organization," his appeal to younger Democratic politicians as against the older ones in the party hierarchy, and their belief that "the national Democratic organization is too weak to get the nomination for Humphrey."

To which, perhaps, could be added a fourth factor, the jagged memory of November 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas.

Nixon said in Helena, Mont., Monday, "I am not indicating that I would prefer him (Humphrey) to win over somebody else but I am suggesting that the vice president is going to have quite a difficult time unless he can find a way to stop Kennedy in the primaries."

Some of Nixon's chief advisers, however, say they believe Humphrey would be a stronger opponent than Kennedy. They are mindful of the enormous influence of the White House in a presidential election.

Nixon constantly keeps one eye on the doings of the Democrats.

In the past two days, he has hit out three times at them, at Presidet Johnson, at Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

He charges the President with "fiscal mismanagement" and bringing on "the worst economic crisis in postwar history."

Kennedy, Nixon said in Cheyenne, is "unjustified" in criticizing Johnson for not accepting North Vietnamese proposals as to the sites for the projected peace negotiations.

Then, in Helena, Nixon blasted McCarthy for saying Secretary of State Dean Rusk should resign and be replaced by Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana. Nixon said:

"To suggest as negotiations are pending that the secretary of state resign would torpedo any possibility of successful negotiations, because the enemy then would assume that we are repudiating our policies of the past and that all he had to do was to hang on to get a complete success for his views."

Nixon encountered snow flurries and a brisk wind in Cheyenne. But when his plane landed in Helena, bright sunshine gilded the snow-mantled mountains in the distance.

"We just turned on this weather for you," Gov. Tim Babcock said to Nixon at the airport. Babcock is cochairman of the Nixon-for-President organization in 15 Western states.

They had a dinner conference in the governor's split level official residence and then dropped in on a crowded restaurant on the way to the airfield. The diners recognized Nixon, rose clapping and whistling, and pressed forward to shake his hand.

Nixon's tour of North Dakota, Wyoming, Montana and Nevada has been leisurely.

Talking with Republican governors of those states, he says he has not asked for their support nor for commitments of the states' delegations. He has been gathering information from them and exchanging views, especially on agricultural problems, looking toward the writing of the GOP platform at the convention in Miami.

Nixon flew from Helena to Reno, Nev., for another meeting, this one with Gov. Paul Laxalt. The governor and other Republican leaders were waiting at the airport when Nixon's plane landed.

McCarthy Only Candidate

Write-ins Should Tell Story Of Pennsylvania's Primary

By ANTHONY J. MAY
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With only Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's name on the ballot, political observers will be watching the size of the write-in vote in today's Pennsylvania presidential preference primary election.

Write-ins were expected to carry special weight—even lacking formal campaigns for them—on the Democratic side where the only entered candidate kept personal campaigning to a minimum.

McCarthy made his sole in-person appeal for votes in one hop-scotching state tour over the weekend.

Favorite Son

Any threat to what his campaign managers hoped to be a net of 200,000 votes in Pennsylvania would come from write-ins for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the favorite in state labor circles, and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, whose personal appearances here early this month drew screaming throngs.

GOP Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, although his name does not appear on the ballot, told the Republican State Committee he wants to go to the national convention as a favorite son candidate to stave off an intraparty fight that would distract voters from the issue of state constitutional reform on which he has staked his administration's reputation.

A recent Associated Press poll of candidates for delegates to the Republican convention showed the favorite son position was far from solid.

Top among potential delegates' choices were New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Both were expected to get write-in support.

In addition, newspaper advertisements were run in the state proposing write-ins be cast on the GOP side for McCarthy as a sympathy measure. Crossing of party lines is not allowed in Pennsylvania.

'Peace Candidates'

Because the preference primary is not binding to the convention delegation the nub of the campaign is in the races for delegates. On the Democratic side, a sizable number of the 302 candidates for the 108 district seats have declared themselves to be "peace candidates" for McCarthy.

On the Republican side, there are 89 candidates for 54 district delegates seats.

Sects Now Officially Are United Methodists

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Two families of Christians today joined hands—literally and symbolically—in a vast pageant uniting them into a single denomination, the United Methodist Church.

"All praise to our redeeming Lord, who joins us by his grace," sang the assembly in Dallas Memorial Auditorium after the newly combined body was formally declared established.

It is the largest Protestant merger yet in an era of multiplying interdenominational mergers. It unites the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a denomination of more than 11 million adult members in this country.

'This Is the Day'

Prayers, processions and chanted litanies marked the occasion. Flags of many nations bedecked the big arena, before a towering cross.

"This is the day the Lord hath made," intoned a presiding minister.

The climactic moment came when E.U.B. Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, of Indianapolis, and Methodist Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, of New York, clasped hand, and pronounced in unison:

"Lord of the church, we are united in thee, in thy church, including the Bible, and to repeat the words of oneness. " . . We are united . . ."

First came two children, then two youths . . . two adults . . . six clergymen . . . two local church officers. Finally, the whole assembly took one another's hands, and all spoke the words. ". . . are united . . ."

Methodist Bishop Donald Harvey Tippett of San Francisco, presided for the service, with a score of other prelates, clergymen and lay people taking special roles.

"We are no longer our own, but thine," the assemblage vowed in reciting a covenant of their union. "Put us to what thou wilt . . . and the covenant which we have made on earth, let it be ratified in heaven."

In a sermon for the gathering, the Rev. Dr. Albert C. Outler of Dallas, a leading Methodist theologian, said, "We stand here on a threshold. A new horizon looms ahead . . .

"It is a day when doors are opened that heretofore were closed, when new possibilities of reformation and renewal are at hand."

POST-CRESCENT NLRB APPROVED PCCU ESTABLISHED 1921 CRAFTSMAN'S UNION

No Progress To Telephone Strike Talks

Formal Bargaining Absent Through 6 Days of Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes appeared dim for renewed negotiations anytime soon in the nationwide strike involving some 200,000 telephone workers as union attorneys sought to upset an Alabama court injunction against the walkout.

"There's nothing to report" on the prospect for new wage talks, a spokesman for the striking AFL-CIO Communications Workers said Monday.

There has been no formal bargaining since the strike began six days ago in some 40 states.

Company spokesmen said telephone service—mostly automated—remained largely unaffected by the strike.

The Alabama injunction applied only to the approximately 8,000 strikers in that state but CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said the state court order blocked any early possibility of settling the nationwide walkout.

Go on Fighting

"We are faced by the kind of injunction in Alabama which only a company that wants to go on fighting would seek," Beirne said in denouncing the court order as antiunion.

The Alabama strikers continued to ignore the injunction, issued Saturday by Circuit Judge James A. Hare of Dallas County, while union lawyers sought to have the case transferred to federal court in Mobile.

The case was placed on the docket of U.S. District Court there.

A similar union legal strategy succeeded Monday in Kentucky, where Federal Judge James Gordon voided a state injunction and said Southern Bell Telephone Co. would have to seek some other remedy such as a suit for damages if it feld it had any valid complaint against the union.

Southern Bell, which obtained both the Alabama and Kentucky state court orders, contended its employes were illegally refusing to cross the picket lines of telephone installers.

Silver Being Rapidly Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department is handing out silver at a record clip to redeem a heavier-than-expected surge of silver certificates before the deadline two months from now.

Most of the silver is going to about a half dozen dealers who pay a premium for eact silver certificate in hopes of turning a handsome profit from the two-price system now in effect.

They can redeem the certificates at the government's payout windows at the rate of $1.29 an ounce and sell the silver on the open market for more than $2 an ounce.

The Treasury will redeem the certificates—paper money circulated between 1929 and the early 1960s and backed by silver—through June 24 at the $1.29 rate.

Still Money

After that silver certificates can still be used as money but they can't be turned in for silver.

Officials said that through last Friday about $31.75 million in silver certificates were redeemed for silver this year, including a record $13.6 million in March alone.

The April redemptions are empected to be near that figure.

Treasury officials acknowledged the heavy redemptions have forced a downward revision in the estimate of silver which will be left when the redemption deadline passes.

At one time they expected a supply of about 350 million ounces but now say they foresee one closer to 325 million ounces. Because of the danger of exact estimates, however, the official prediction is between 300 million and 400 million ounces.

This will include about 265 million ounces in silver from the melting of old dimes and quarters containing 90 per cent silver. The Treasury already has more than 1 million ounces melted.

York and San Francisco assay

Silver certificates can only be redeemed for silver at the New offices and must be presented in person or by an agent. No mail orders are accepted.

The stockpile of free silver—what isn't used to back silver certificates—now exceeds 45 million ounces and is available for sale to domestic industry.

Despite the heavy run on silver and the profits to be made, some silver certificates are still going unredeemed.

Treasury officials estimate that about $1 million or slightly less in silver certificates turn up at the Treasury or the Federal Reserve banks each month in the normal course of business and are withdrawn from circulation.

Broad Range of Concerns

Sociology Gives World Scope

University students follow trends — not only in hair and fashions — but in curriculum too.

One of the most popular subjects these days at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center and other college campuses is sociology. Although a relatively new focus of academic study, its popularity among students underlines the important contributions sociologists have made toward understanding contemporary problems.

What do sociologists study?

"We examine social actions that spring from and are motivated within the individual but which result in patterned social behavior," says James Phillips, Fox Valley Center assistant professor of sociology.

A broad range of concerns fits within Phillips' definition. At the Fox Valley Center sociology courses include:

—Social Disorganization, which deals with social problems such as crime and delinquency, mental illness and minority group problems.

—Marriage and the Family, which studies the traditional institution of marriage and also changes in attitudes toward courtship, parenthood and child rearing.

—Contemporary American Society, which examines problems of our highly developed institutionalized society and the depersonalization of the individual.

Using such courses as starting points, Phillips works to develop broader perspective in his students.

This is the last of a four-part series on "Social Sciences Today," prepared by the staff of the University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center.

No Pat Answers

"Sociology tries to deal with conflicting and contradictory choices people have," Phillips explained. "Sociology doesn't offer any pat answers, but teaches students to think for themselves on the basis of data presented.

What can a student who earns a bachelor's degree in sociology do?

There are several career choices, according to Phillips. Among them are social work, sociological research and employment with private research foundations interested in sociology.

Phillips himself spent six years in social work — two with the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association and four as research director of the Milwaukee Council of Social Agencies — before he became a teacher. Before joining the Center faculty, he taught at Milton College and at Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point.

Lately Phillips' interest in race relations has led him to explore a rural Wisconsin community where whites and Negroes lived in harmony before and after the Civil War.

Two Articles

The Center sociologist examined the community intensively and presented his findings to a recent meeting of the Wisconsin Sociological Society. Two articles based on his research have appeared in a Negro history magazine.

Phillips combines dedication to sociology with his love for teaching.

"I'm fully committed to college teaching," he said. "I try to give my classes a world scope because we are part of the world. The world has become so small that we must share world problems even though we might wish to withdraw from them."

Currently six sociology courses are available at the Fox Valley Center. Besides those already mentioned, there are classes in Man and Society, Social Psychology and American Minority Groups.

"A student who wants to achieve the breadth of knowledge needed in today's world can't afford to overlook the study of sociology," Phillips said. "It's fundamental in helping orient a student toward himself and toward the world."

Two Elementary Principals Take Part in Sessions

Two Appleton principals will participate in the annual state elementary principals conference in La Crosse May 2, 3 and 4. About 600 state principals are expected to attend.

Charles Lynch, Johnson Elementary School principal, will be on a reactor panel which will discuss one of the main speaker's addresses on educational innovations.

Giving the address will be Dr. Robert Anderson, professor of education, Harvard University. The meeting will be geared toward new ideas and trends in the elementary principals' field.

Lynch also will be in an information discussion session on teacher evaluation while Richard Naas, Huntley Elementary School principal, will be in an information discussion session on evaluation of elementary schools. Several other Appleton principals may attend.

Over 50 educators from across the United States are expected at the convention.

Teachers' Association Workshop Set Saturday

The Fox Valley Teachers' Association will have its spring workshop Saturday at Preble High School in Green Bay.

More than 100 delegates are expected to attend the workshop, which is geared to assist new local teacher associations, officers, and committee members in the areas of civic responsibility, professional rights and responsibliities, and salary negotiations.

Instrumental Solos Tuesday at Lawrence

Organist Frank Rippl, a Lawrence University Conservatory junior from Menasha, is among five instrumentalists who will present a public recital at 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 23 at Lawrence Memorial Chapel.

Other principals on the program are organist Michael Fisher, West Bend; pianist Ellen Stoehr, Waupun; and trumpeter Edward Engle, Rockford, Ill. Engle will be assisted by pianist Norman Yamada, Platteville.

State Official Talks at Meeting Of Activity Center

John Melcher, assistant Wisconsin superintendent of schools, will speak at the third annual dinner meeting of the Sheltered Activity Center, Inc., at 6:30 p.m. May 8 at the Columbus Club.

Melcher, who also serves as director of the Bureau of Handicapped Children, will speak on "Holland's Provision for the Retarded and the Implications for Us."

He is chairman of the Governor's Coordinating Committee on Mental Health and Mental Retardation Development, is a member of the Professional and Advisory Committees on Statewide Planning for Vocational Rehabilitation and is on the all-university committee on Mental Retardation.

A family-style dinner will be served. Deadline for reservations is May 3.

Record Changer Taken in Burglary

A $50 record changer was apparently all that was missing following a burglary at the Hillview Ski Club lodge on Alcan Road near New London.

The burglary, which apparently occurred last week, was reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department Monday. Entry into the building was gained by using a sign to break a window.

Little Chute Man Fined For Being Disorderly

LITTLE CHUTE — Dennis Vander Velden, 31, 811 E. Lincoln Ave., pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was fined $100 when arraigned Friday before Municipal Justice Raymond Sanders.

Sanders stayed $25 of the fine. Vander Velden was arrested after a disturbance at his home.

Appleton Man, 41, Guilty of Intoxication

Wesley Wynis, 41, 822 W. Commercial St., was fined $25 and costs or six days in jail Monday after he pleaded guilty to a public intoxication charge brought by Appleton police.

Wynis, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, was arrested on W. Lawrence Street, near downtown Appleton, Saturday evening.

Shelter Lack Cited In Losses of Planes

Wheeler Claims Destruction on Ground Totals $132.5 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler says the enemy has destryed or damaged $132.5 million in U.S. aircraft on the ground in Vietnam—a toll he contends could have been drastically cut by use of shelters.

Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told inquiring senators that special protective shelters now proposed for Europen-based U.S. planes could have held these plane and helicopter losses in Vietnam to about $7 million.

The Pentagon has decided against providing anything more than side-walled barricades, with no roofs, for aircraft in Vietnam because the enemy doesn't operate bombers over the South.

Wheeler said the total cost of aircraft wiped out by hostile ground fire between Jan. 1, 1964 and Feb. 9, 1968 amounted to $94,033,000.

This included 122 planes and helicopters destroyed by enemy mortars, recoilless rifles, satchel charges or small-arms fire, Wheeler said.

In addition, 590 other planes and helicopters were damaged in 1966 and 1967, requiring $38.5 million in repairs, he said.

Wheeler also disclosed that during the major thrust of the Viet Cong's Tet holiday offensive last Jan. 29-Feb. 1, U.S. air units suffered heavily.

In a estimate drawn up during the first week of February, he figured the enemy destroyed 38 aircraft, including 15 planes and 23 helicopters, dealth major damage to 154 others—32 planes and 122 choppers—and caused minor damage to 198 craft—53 planes and 145 helicopters.

No Information

In response to questions March 28 the Pentagon told a newsman it could provide no aircraft loss figures for the Tet period since this might prove valuable to the enemy so soon after the fighting.

"But," the Pentagon stated, "it should be noted that most of the aircraft damaged during the Tet offensive suffered only minor damage."

This was barely correct in the most literal sense: 192 aircraft were destroyed or suffered major damage, while 198 had minor damage.

The Pentagon is seeking congressional approval this year to spend about $17.3 million on building 60 steel-and concrete aircraft shelters at NATO facilities in Europe.

Russia Hits Mao Policies

lyzed the causes of the current situation in China.

When Mao's great proletarian cultural revolution began almost two years ago, the Soviet Union first took the position that things wuld sort themselves out and Soviet-Chinese friendship would survive the increasingly bitter hostility.

Then for a while the Kremlin openly backed Mao's opponents by expressing public hopes that "right thinking" Chinese would prevail in the cultural revolution's chaos.

Cry of Horror

Kommunist's article, however, sounded like a despairing cry of horror over the situation.

It seemed as if the Kremlin was losing hope of Chinese Communist leaders emerging from the confusion who would be able to work with the Soviet Union on mutually acceptable terms.

Using the strongest words in Communist dialectics to condemn Mao, Kommunist charged that his version of communism was really hostile to the true faith. Its heresy is hidden behind ultrarevolutionary elftist phrases, the article said.

The present situation in China is causing great concern among world Communists, Kommunist said, because of the danger of communism's overthrow and alleged help that China's attitude gives to Western opponents of communism.

Firemen Wait for Fire to Come to Them

ALLEGANY, N.Y. (AP) — Volunteer firemen didn't have to go to a fire here Monday—an Erie-Lackawanna Railroad crew delivered it by fast freight. Train crewmen discovered the fire aboard one of its three diesel units soon after it left Salamanca. They used a radio hook-up to call the firemen and as soon as the train rolled in, the volunteers used chemical solutions to douse the blaze.

Owners of Sleek Automobiles like to keep their cars washed and shiny, so why not do the same with a sleek horse? At least, so reasons Leona Orlando of Pottstown, Pa., as she rides her Arabian mare into a car wash, uncinches the saddle and proceeds to clean and vacuum the horse. (AP Wirephoto)

'Anti-Imperialist Unity'

Reds Planning Congress

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Communist delegations gathered in Budapest today to set the stage for a world congress in Moscow later this year aimed at promoting "anti imperialist action unity."

The more independent Communist parties—those of Romania, Yugoslavia, North Vietnam, North Korea and Japan—were expected to stay away, but an East European source said they are keeping an open mind about participation in the Moscow congress. The Chinese and Albanian parties are certain not to attend either meeting.

In sessions beginning Wednesday, the delegations will decide on the program, procedure and scope for the world conference, called two months ago at a consultative meeting of 66 parties in Budapest.

The host Hungarian party is expected to keep unrepresented parties informed on the work in hopes of persuading them to attend the Moscow meeting in November or December. As part of this reconciliation effort, Zoltan Komocsin, a party secretary, has visited Romania and Yugoslavia and another party secretary, Arpad Pullai, recently visited Japan and North Korea.

The Romanian delegation walked out of the consultative meeting Feb. 29, objecting to criticism of the Chinese Communist Party and accusing the Russians of trying to dominate the other parties.

Since that meeting, the Czechoslovak party, under new leadership, has begun major liberalization moves. It indicated Monday it would oppose any attempts by Moscow to turn this week's meeting into a campaign to re-establish Soviet control over the world Communist movement.

The Czechoslovak party newspaper Rude Pravo also urged that the conference make amends to the Romanian party.

All 88 established Communist parties were invited. The number attending was not disclosed but was expected to be less than at the consultative conference two months ago.

Police Praised for Ticketing Efficiency

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Police received a $1 bill in the mail to pay for an overtime parking ticket.

Attached was a note: "God bless the efficiency of the Laramie Police Department. I received this ticket while at the City Hall paying another."

Freighter Crew Saved at Sea

NEW YORK (AP) — After the crew of a British refrigerator ship rescued all 26 men from a leaking Lebanese freighter in mid-Atlantic, U. S. Coast Guardsmen of the Cutter Mendota today surveyed the extent of damage and the chances of saving the stricken ship.

Coast Guard Search and Rescue Headquarters here said that overnight the Lebanese ship, the 441-foot Alheli, had developed a 10-degree list—not considered critical. Seas at the scene, 900 miles east of Bermuda, subsided from 10 feet to 4 feet overnight, the Coast Guard said.

Thieves to Eat Well

OJAI, Calif. (AP) — Cattle thieves not only slaughtered and butchered a calf in this ranching area during the weekend but they also stole a barbecue to cook it on, the sheriff's office said.

Manitowoc Reserves Ordered to Ft. Riley

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) —Two Army units mobilized April 11 have been assigned to Ft. Riley, an Army spokesman said.

Originally the 377th Composite Service Co. of Manitowoc, Wis., and the 452nd Composite Service Co. of Minnesota were scheduled to report to Ft. Carlson, Colo. Together they have an authorized strength of 370 men.

Supreme Court's 'Sexy Magazine' Ruling Is Clear Victory for Censors

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just last May the Supreme Court made chopmeat of the idea that juvenile court judges are a sort of substitute parent, entitled to punish or condone as they see fit.

Juveniles accused of crime, the court said, are entitled to be judged by the same constitutional ground-rules as adults are.

"Neither the Bill of Rights nor the U.S. Constitution is for adults only," Justice Abe Fortas said then.

On Monday, however, the court turned around and assigned a parental role to the states in deciding what juveniles may read or see.

Utter Route

The 6-3 decision, written by Justice William J. Brennan Jr., amounts to a clear victory for the censors and an utter rout for civil libertarians. It puts government in the business of deciding what is moral and gives government the right to declare illegal what it finds immoral

Brennan's pronouncement for the court reaches this end by building on the proposition that "the well-being of its children is of course a subject within the state's constitutional power to regulate."

Since society and "constitutional interpretation" have recognized the authority of parents to direct the rearing of their children, the next step was that parents and teachers "are entitled to the support of laws" designed to help them do the job.

All this means that states have a green light from the Supreme Court to suppress sales to minors of whatever books and magazines a majority of the legislators decide are too rich for young blood. The same probably holds true for movies, though the decision in a New York case—wasn't explicit.

Since the same Supreme Court decided last term that "girlie" magazines can't be kept from adults, the result is two sets of rules, or what is called variable obscenity The reach of the first amendment depends on the age of the reader.

Once again, the subject of censorship fragmented the court, and the frayed nerves showed.

Justice Potter Stewart, who in some recent instances has taken a strong free-speech stand, voted with the majority, saying there was no need for "a doctrinaire, knee-jerk application of the First Amendment."

Justice William O Douglas, with Justice Hugo L. Black's concurrence, observed dourly in dissent that the juvenile delinquents he has known are mostly over 50 years old

Speaking of the Supreme Court, Douglas said "with all respect, I do not know of any group in the country less qualified . . . to know what obscenity is when they see it."

Some 35 states now have laws or provisions of laws designed to shield juveniles from sexy or violent reading matter or movies Though the decision dealt only with New York's special law, apparently all the states have to do to pass the court's censorship test is to take a leaf out of New York's law books.

Rockefeller Effort Unaffected

Javits Questions Poll Putting Nixon Ahead of Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits challenges the results of a national opinion poll indicating Richard M. Nixon could defeat any of the three leading potential Democratic presidential nominees.

Javits said in an interview that this sampling of potential voters will not affect efforts being made to get his fellow New Yorker, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, actively into the race to oppose Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon's aides were so elated by the Gallup Poll results that they called the survey to the attention of newsmen.

Party Unity

"I think the poll which shows Nixon could defeat the Democrats represents a fragmentation of the Democratic strength among three candidates," Javits said. "It does little to demonstrate that he could beat a single Democratic nominee who had his party united behind him.

"Of course it's better from Nixon's standpoint that the poll showed him a winner rather than a loser. But in terms of the general election, I don't think it means anything," said Javits, adding:

"We who are trying to get Gov. Rockefeller to announce his active candidacy are convinced that he is the one Republican who can get enough Democratic and independent votes to win the general election."

'Loser' Tag

Nixon, who has been fighting to shed the "can't win" tag pinned on him after the 1960 presidential and 1962 California gubernatorial elections, got a political lift out of the poll which matched him individually with Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy, announced Democratic candidates, and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who is expected to announce Saturday.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., supporting Humphrey, said in a separate interview the poll showing Nixon as a potential winner "doesn't mean a thing—it will be a lot different after the nominations are made."

Williams said he expects Humphrey to get most of New Jersey's 82 votes on the third ballot at the August Chicago convention.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes, a staunch supporter of President Johnson before the President said he would not accept renomination, subsequently took a neutral stance as a potential favorite son.

Principle Costs Students Dearly

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Schwartz, 25, and Earle Partington, 26, sophomores at Hastings College of the Law, contested 115 tickets they had received for parking in the 10-minute green zones at the federal building where they asserted admirals parked without hindrance.

Municipal Judge Janet Aitken ruled Schwartz and Partington must pay more than $700 in parking fines and spend a total of 15 days each in jail on consecutive weekends.

But the city will withdraw the parking privileges the Navy officers have been enjoying. A police department official said until meters can be installed the public can use the 10-minute zones along with the admirals.

Cabinet Seeks Reorganization

state services to provide uniform and coordinated service areas for the state departments working with the public.

It will replace — possibly over a period of several years — the individual departmental districting plans which have grown up for virtually every department which serves the public on a statewide basis.

Not Included

Roger Schrantz, head of the State Bureau of Planning, told the cabinet the technical school districts were not included in the new service districting plan because of the amount of work which went into drawing the vocational school lines and because of the amount of work which still faces the new system.

While the plan was given unanimous support by the department heads included in the operating agency cabinet, several pointed out individual reservations about some facets.

Lester P Voigt, secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, said his agency will encounter some difficulties if Shawano and Menomonee counties and Vilas and Iron counties are to be split into separate districts.

Some Flexibility

But if some flexibility is allowed in the operation of departments within the districting plan, the system will be workable, Voigt said.

He was assured flexible workings will be possible under the proposed plan which still is open to alteration.

The second district which would be included in the Fox Valley region would consist of Marathon, Wood, Portage, Juneau, Adams, Waushara, Marquette and Green Lake counties.

Presidents Johnson and Arthur

Before President Johnson's unexpected and dramatic renunciation of the idea of renomination for the presidency by his party, his declining status in the polls and his visible troubles as leader of his party sent many of the pundits to their encyclopedias of American history to find historical parallels for his situation.

Thus we were told ad infinitum that the repudiation of an incumbent president is a rare event, and that the last time it occurred was in 1884. The last man who fell from grace at the hands of his own party was Chester A. Arthur, one of the less distinguished of the chief executives of the country, and who may be remembered, in fact, because of the circumstance that he was the last of the five men who were so punished.

Yet the President Arthur situation, even if the present President had become a candidate, was not a real parallel.

Mr. Arthur had been elected to the vice presidency, as had Mr. Johnson. He was on the ticket with James A. Garfield, and took over after his chief had been assassinated, as did Mr. Johnson. But the similarity ends there. President Arthur did not have the national recognition through precious service that Lyndon Johnson had attained. Moreover, he had not been elected in his own right, as Mr. Johnson was in one of the smashing political victories in our national history only four years ago. In fact, four of the five rejected presidents in our history stepped into the White House from the vice presidency. But unlike the man who now occupies it, none of them had won an election on their own merits.

College No Substitute for Parents

The confusion among college administrators, faculty and even students over how to handle student rebellions was demonstrated by the preposterous and amusing "punishment" given to a Barnard student.

Linda LeClair, a 20-year-old sophomore, violated college housing rules by giving a false off-campus address and stating that she had an off-campus live-in job, one of the few reasons Barnard students under a certain age are permitted to live outside the dormitories. But Miss LeClair was really sharing an apartment with her 20-year-old boy friend, Peter Behr, a Columbia University student. Behr has explained that he and Miss LeClair do not believe in marriage, that they want to set up a community of similarly minded couples and teach their children without sending them to school.

The student-faculty judicial board at Barnard reprimanded Miss LeClair for misleading authorities and expressed "strong disapproval of the methods" with which Miss LeClair expressed her convictions. Then it banned her from the college snack bar, the cafeteria and a lounge where food may be purchased. No mention was made of Miss LeClair's living with a man outside of marriage.

However ridiculous this particular punishment may be, the affair points up the dilemma for university and college authorities. The University of Wisconsin Board of Regents discussed requests from students at the Madison campus for an end to hours for freshman and sophomore women and for permission for students to live in non-approved off-campus housing. The St. Norbert College Board of Trustees has had a request from the Student Senate for a change in rules to permit anyone 21 years or over to live off-campus. And all across the country, there is debate over to what extent university authorities should dictate actions of students off campus. There have been incidents at hundreds of institutions over alleged immorality of students and a great deal of confusion over what to do about it.

Certainly part of the trouble is the considerable gap between what we like to consider public morality and what we condone — as long as it is done quietly. Researchers have concluded that the so-called new student morality has not in fact led to any more sexual intercourse outside of marriage. At least in the last forty years there has always been a certain percentage of young people who hopped in and out of bed while they were still in high school, in college or in their early twenties.

But college students in particular are at both a highly idealistic and practical age. They see the hypocrisy of condoning casual sexual relations and what may well be serious exploitation for sexual reasons while at the same time society castigates the open living together of young people who may sincerely care for each other. There has long been a belief among some faculty members too that it is better for the college student to make mistakes without too heavy a condemnation and gradually adopt behavior and beliefs not too different from that of society outside the ivy walls than merely to accept the dictates of his elders.

And always there is the problem of how far any authority — including the authority of the law — can go in regulating morality or in differentiating between conflicting moralities. Most states prohibit sexual relations outside of marriage but such a law is demonstrably unenforceable. Its backers argue that it does serve to restrict such activities and help to provide a moral climate. But it also tends to bring disrespect for all laws and to demonstrate legal hypocrisy to the purists.

It is clear that students at most colleges and universities are going to demand — and are going to receive eventually — more responsibility for their own actions with the demise of restraining and punitive restrictions. No one obviously is going to be dissuaded from living with her boy friend by being denied the privileges of the snack bar. It is quite likely, in fact, that if a young woman and young man decide to have sexual relations outside of marriage, no rule or regulation will dissuade them.

To a large extent parents who want university authorities to act in loco parentis are conceding their own lack of confidence in the way they have brought up their children to college age. Sexual morality may mean something quite different to a parent and a college student but true moral living with a deep respect for the rights and concerns of others must develop long before the college years.

State of the City

Mayor George Buckley is to be complimented for his exceptional state-of-the-city message at the reorganizational meeting of the Appleton Common Council. And aldermen, too, can take a bow for their excellent choice of Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) as Council president for the 1968-69 legislative year.

Buckley and Tews, in separate comments, made it quite clear to their colleagues, the general public, municipal departments, boards, agencies and commissions that Appleton faces many problems in the future but that they must be met head-on. To accomplish this, petty politics and personalities must be set aside in favor of cooperation and hard-earned progress.

"Only by drawing together as a team organization can we deliver to the people of our community, their hope, and the results they seek, when they chose each of us to represent them in this legislative body," is the way the mayor so adequately put it.

And at the same time Buckley indicated Appleton must continue to move forward because it can not tolerate the "status quo." However, he emphasized that whatever major improvements and progress is made in the future it must be tempered with the ability of the community to pay.

Most significant was his proposed land bank program to keep the momentum going when it comes to industrial development within the Appleton city limits. And the mayor also maintained that Appleton should continue to maintain its excellent educational program but warned that we must not treat education as a sacred cow or . . . "an idol to worship."

His call for greater cooperation between city and Outagamie County government was heartening in view of the fact that both units of government may, in the not too distant future, be faced with building programs which could appropriately result in a cooperative Safety Building project to house the city and county police departments and some city-county offices.

And for the first time the mayor indicated that while Wisconsin's archiac annexation laws have been harmful to cities by allowing them to be fenced in by semi-urban towns, he would favor immediate contact with the nearby Town of Grand Chute to get talks started on possible merger or consolidation.

We are hopeful the city administration will turn the mayor's words into action over the next four years.

Rockefeller's First Policy Speech Bores Editors With Tired Cliches

BY WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

It must be very discouraging to be a politician. Here is the governor of the most influential state of the union, running hard for the presidential nomination of his party, richer even than Bobby Kennedy, abetted by one of the two or three most expensive speech writers in the English-speaking world, addressing the editors of just about every newspaper in America, delivering a much-heralded speech in which he managed to spend 150-billion American dollars — and you know what the headline is the next morning? In one of the nation's most liberal newspapers, devoting maybe second most linage in the country to national and world affairs? "Rockefeller Speech-Heard in Silence."

Surely Mr. Rockefeller envisioned other headlines? "Rockefeller Solves-Problems of City," might have been one. Or, "Rockefeller Magnetism-Wows Editors" — would have been satisfactory. Or even, "Rockefeller Speech-Brings GOP Raves." But the reporter (Mr. David Broder, one of the nation's best) was as uninspired as the general audience, as uninterested in what Mr. Rockefeller ended up saying as the editors who heard him. A total of two sentences from the massive speech was reproduced in the morning paper — way off, toward the end of the first-page story which began:

Buckley

"Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York made his long-heralded debut as a 'non-candidate' yesterday, delivering a thirty-minute speech on urban problems, uninterrupted by applause, to the luncheon meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors at the Shoreham Hotel."

What happened?

Well, to begin with, the speech was so heavy with rhetorical pomposity that it would have required a Saturn IV Booster to launch it. Would you like a taste? — "Our time of testing now follows — like a twin heritage of challenge — from both these earlier ages (Lincoln's and Roosevelt's). The signs of peril — and the chances for leadership — rise as high on both fronts: from within — and from without — our nation. For we are not only struggling to build peace in the world. We are also striving to live at peace with ourselves."

If you believe that I selected the single worst passage, I give you the peroration which, I have a paralyzing suspicion, somebody at Rockefeller's shop actually thought was eloquent . . .

"I believe deeply in such a new government, such a new leadership, and such a new America.

"We as a people, have — right now — a choice to make.

"We must choose between new division or new dedication.

"We can live together as bullies — or as brothers.

"We can practice retribution or reconciliation.

"We can choose a life of the jungle, or a life of justice.

"We cannot have both.

"We cannot live for long with parts and pieces of both.

"We must choose."

We must cut the crap.

Really, we must. And it is an objective indication that such emptinesses are boring, that they bored the audience, and bored the reporters, and permanently traumatized the musers. "The audience reaction," says the account in the Washington Post, "was noted with concern by some Rockefeller For President sponsors in the room. One of them said afterwards, 'I hope this convinces Emmet Hughes (the Rockefeller adviser and writer whose stylistic touches were evident in the text) that it will take more than the power of his words to nominate Rockefeller."

A pity, really. Because Mr. Rockefeller is a very able man. His delivery is first-rate. He has great facility for extempore talk, and his ideas, if one excavates them from all that lard, are worth pondering. For instance, the recognition that the private sector is five times more resourceful than the public sector, and that if the cities are to be saved, it will have to be largely by private enterprise. For instance, his observation that we are spending five times as much money subsidizing our rich farms, as our poor cities. But it takes men of archaeological passion to find Mr. Rockefeller's ideas in Mr. Rockefeller's current prose. Next time, he should furnish his audience with a trot.

Wisconsin Report

Rockefeller Gave Up Any Chance to Gain Support From State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is the situation of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who is now obviously moving toward a campaign for delegates at the Republican national convention to make him the presidential candidate of the Republican Party, which tends to puzzle some seasoned observers, as the phrase goes in American journalism.

Wyngaard

If the number of seasons survived is a test of "seasoning," then it may be that this chronicler of many summers may be included within the definition. And be it freely admitted here, this observer confesses his perplexity about what is going on.

Months ago, Rockefeller said as plainly as it could be said that he was not a candidate for the presidency. He pushed Gov. George Romney into the race in his stead. Romney filed in the Wisconsin primary, at a time when there was a substantial showing of opinion that Rockefeller would have been a more formidable and welcome entry here.

A poll of organization politicians taken by this department some months ago, in fact, showed that about half of the ranking men in the Republican campaign machine believed Rckefeller would have been a stronger candidate for their party this year, judging Wiscinsin circumstances alone, than would Richard Nixon, in spite of Nixon's wide acquaintance and stumping here in other years.

REMOVED FROM BALLOT

That same objective sounding of sentiment showed very little enthusiasm for Gov. Romney, a fact that Romney later acknowledged when he abruptly withdrew his name and dismantled such campaign machinery as he had bought and paid for here to make a publicity showing in the Wisconsin April primary.

Meanwhile, the state electoral commission, sharing the view of most unprejudiced politics watchers that the New York governor was widely advocated and acknowledged as presidential timber, put his name on the Wisconsin primary ballot within the spirit of the Wisconsin law. But Gov. Rockefeller would have none of it. He promptly dispatched the disclaimer which took him off the ballot and was the equivalent of a public declaration that he did not intend to run.

Then came the declaration from President Johnson of his withdrawal as a Democratic candidate, and the immediate move of Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York, whose name was also absent from the Wisconsin primary ballot because of his own wish.

On April 2, Sen. Kennedy got about six per cent of the total vote through the comparatively clumsy write-in method. Most "seasoned observers" undoubtedly expected some comparably spontaneous showing for the governor of New Yrok, considering all that had gone before including the surveys of public opinion about Republican nomination preferences.

Yet, the Rockefeller write-in vote here was minute and stood in startling, even stark contrast, to that which was recorded for Sen. Kennedy. Was there shown some electoral objection to the evident disdain Gov. Rockefeller has for the idea of primaries?

WISCONSIN BOXED OUT

One man's surmise about these things is as valid as another's, which makes politics at once such an inexact but fascinating business.

The relevant fact, in a Wisconsin view, is that Wisconsin will again be boxed in at the convention, with respect to a free choice among those available for the nomination at Miami Beach.

If Rockefeller is interested in the nomination, as now appears reasonably evident, it is too late for any of the Wisconsin Republicans who will go to the convention to do anything for him.

Under Wisconsin law, they will be inextricably pledged to Richard Nixon, whatever reservations some of them may have in their hearts.

Had the New York governor only a few weeks ago felt disposed to honor the spirit of the Wisconsin primary law, so carefully rewritten to provide a public expression of preference, he might very well have wooed a part of the Wisconsin delegation into his corner.

Critics' Judgment One Man's Opinion

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"I am confused," writes a reader. "Two music critics I have respected just reviewed a concert by a famous string quartet. One of them praised the performance — the other knocked it. How can they both be good critics?"

This sort of thing bothers a lot of people. They feel that the critics must agree about a performance, or else one of them doesn't know his business.

But reviewing a performance isn't like announcing a ball game, where everybody can agree on the score at the end. Art has some objective standards, but there is a large subjective component in all artistic judgments, and experts have room for disagreement.

Nor is it merely the critics who disagree, as the public imagine. I used to attend concerts at the Aspen Summer Music Festival in the company of some of the finest musicians in the world. At the end of a performance, the musician at my right might applaud fervently, while the one at my left held his nose in disdain.

If you would listen to a single Mozart concerto played by a dozen different pianists, you would hear a dozen different interpretations — possibly none of them done exactly the way the composer had intended.

One pianist will stress Mozart's elegance, another his melodic line, another his gaiety, another his sadness, another his complexity or simplicity. The greater the work, the more facets may be found in it — and the more various the aspects of interpretation.

I have seen some 20 different interpretations of the role of Hamlet, and no two were even remotely alike. I have seem Hamlet played (by excellent actors) as a callow youth, as a philosopher, as a madman, as a cynic, as an idealist, as a hero, as a wastrel, as an incest-ridden neurotic, and as a flagrant homosexual.

What we forget — especially in America — is that the critic is voicing only one man's opinion, despite his often oracular tone. He is expressing what he thinks, and not necessarily rendering an eternal verdict for all mankind. In Europe, critics are paid less attention to; the public reserves the right to make up its own mind on such matters.

But we are so unsure of our judgment, so desperate for guides to the arts that we put more value on professional critics than we should — or than they want us to. A couple of poor reviews can kill a new play on Broadway — but not in any of the European capitals, where the theater-going public is less dependent upon press reaction to a play.

Conflicting reviews should not confuse us. Artists themselves disagree as much as critics do; only privately, but just as pungently.

Council Brands Post Story False

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 18, 1868.

Alderman Gilmore offered the following resolution in the meeting of the Common Council Saturday, April 14, 1868:

Whereas, The Appleton Post, of the 16th inst., contained a statement in its editorial columns that the Editor of the Crescent (Sam Ryan) put in a claim of $300 before this Council, on Saturday evening last, for "his traveling expenses, hotel bills, etc., on his recent trip to Washington, or some other trip of as little consequence," and

Whereas, The said article also contained the further charge that the "Council recognized his claim and immediately handed over the required amount," therefore,

Resolved, That we declare such statement of the presentation by, and allowance to the Editor of the Crescent, to the amount of $300, or to any amount whatever, as false in each and every particular.

On motion to adopt, the yeas and nays were called as follows: 5 voted aye, Alds. Lyon, Lamphear, Gilmore, Bauter and Steffen; Alds. Heath and Jones — 2 voted no.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, April 20, 1943.

The Royalton State Graded School was preparing a two-act comedy, "Hands Up," with the following pupils taking part — Ellen Wheeler, Gloria Redmann, Kenneth Carew, Mary Howell, Joann Thern, Glenn Davis, Phyllis Sullivan, Alice Martin, Donald Dean and Thomas Sullivan. Louis Peters and Eugene Redmann also were to present the dialogue "I Lost My Job" and Marilyn Poole and Annette Groher were to give musical solos between the acts.

Marcella Kolashinski was elected May Queen for ceremonies on Mother's Day by the Young Ladies Sodality of St. John Church Menasha. Attendants were to be Sylvia Kileshek, Mildred Gullickson, Marian Konetzke and Mary Pakalski.

Mrs. Earle Frazer was elected president of the Cadence Club and Mrs. Harold Heller was named secretary-treasurer.

10 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, April 22, 1858.

Newly elected to the board of directors of the Appleton Memorial Hospital Association were Charles R. Seaborne and Leonard E. Pasek. Re-elected were Herbert Crane, Mrs. Stephen Freschl and Reinhold Hoerning. As retiring president, Abraham Sigman was to remain on the board ex officio.

Members of the Northside Advancement Association's Dairyman committee were Victor Nieland, Leonard Weiss, Ray Branch and Clarence Sievert. The event was to be held in Erb Park in June.

New leaders of Cub Scout Pack 51 at Little Chute were Robert Driessen, cubmaster, and Melvin Van Asten, chairman. The two men took office at the pack meeting at Village Hall. Tom Olson and Tom Heiting presented the colors.

Patricia Brenner Captures Calumet Spelling Contest

JERICHO — Patricia Brenner, an eighth grade pupil at Holy Trinity Catholic School here, outspelled 58 contestants Saturday to capture the Calumet County spelling championship. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Brenner, route 3, Chilton.

Runner-up was Betty Thiel, a seventh grader at the same school and winner of the Green Bay Diocesan spelling contest, March 31 in De Pere. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Thiel, route 3, Chilton.

Top speller in each of the other eight participating schools were Kathy Schleis, St. Mary, Brillion; Catherine Steiner, St. Charles, Charlesburg; Michael Grube, St. Augustine and John Mittnacht, St. Mary, Chilton; Dennis Hackbarth, St. Mary, Hilbert; Patricia Peters, Sacred Heart, Sherwood; Barbara Van Asten, St. Mary, Stockbridge and Sharon Vande Hey, St. John the Baptist, St. John.

Sister Maria, OSF, Fredonia, organizer of the first county spelling contest here eight years ago, was pronouncer. Principals of the nine schools were judges.

The winner will receive a trophy and a chance to enter the state contest May 11 in Madison. The winner there will compete in the national meet in Washington, D.C. in June in addition to receiving many prizes.

Top spellers in each school received plaques. The awards are given each year by the Calumet County Knights of Columbus.

Appleton Woman Is Injured in Scuffle Sunday Outside Bar

A 35-year-old Appleton woman was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital Sunday evening for treatment of a right hand laceration she suffered in a fight in the parking lot of a N. Appleton Street tavern.

Police, when they arrived at the K-C Modern Bar, 317 N. Appleton St., at 7:25 p.m. Sunday, found the woman with a towel wrapped around her hand. She refused to go to the hospital in the rescue squad. Police finally got her to go with them in a squad car.

Police learned that the fight, which involved several persons, began when the woman left the tavern with another man. Her husband reportedly followed her outside and slapped her. The woman broke a beer bottle over the head of a man who attempted to break up the struggle.

Police said the woman also became unruly at the hospital. No charges were filed.

Too Much Tax

Voters Rejecting Bond Questions

By GEORGE TAYLOR
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There are signs all across the land that the American taxpayer is becoming increasingly unwilling to vote "yes" on bond issues and school budgets that mean higher taxes for him.

Bond and budget turndowns in many towns and cities across the country indicate clearly that, while the nation is not on the verge of armed rebellion against taxation with representation, voter resistance certainly is hardening.

"There is a stiffening on the part of taxpayers to bond issues," says Henry Olson, Wisconsin assistant state school superintendent.

"The trend is more for rejection of issues than in the past," he says. "It's caused by a general feeling that taxes are too high."

Nationwide Survey

Olson was one of scores of state, civic and school officials questioned in a nationwide survey by The Associated Press to determine the depth of taxpayers' feelings.

The survey found many examples of a tougher taxpayer attitude.

For instance:

—The school district covering Grosse Pointe, Mich., near Detroit, one of the nation's most affluent suburbs, rejected three tax increases by a 2-1 vote in February. It was the first time the district had turned down a bond issue or tax increase in 19 years.

—In New York State, voters in 57 school districts rejected proposed 1967-68 school budgets last May, so disturbing state officials that they commissioned a study of the reasons.

Spending Rejected

—Well over half of local spending proposals submitted to California voters are turned down "and the percentage is rising every year," says a spokesman for a taxpayers group there. However, a statewide $30-million higher education bond issue won in 1966.

—Taxpayer groups opposed to increases in 19 Kansas counties have joined in the Kansas taxpayers Federation.

—Two elections were required to win approval of a record Kansas City, Mo., school budget.

—The Oregon State Department of Education said that last year far more school budgets were turned down the first time than ever before. The same is expected this spring.

—A record 145 school budgets for the 1968-69 school year were rejected in New Jersey. The previous high was 103 in 1965.

—Six Florida counties refused to vote any school levies in 1967 and 15 others approved a rate lower than state officials sought —actions described as "a disaster" by School Supt. Floyd Christian.

Growing Trend

U.S. Office of Education figures indicate a growing voter disenchantment with higher school outlays. In the 1966-67 year, 69.2 per cent of school bond issues passed, $2.1 billion of $3.1 billion, down from the previous year's 74.5 per cent.

In 10 years, school bond issues have averaged 72.7 per cent approval, the Office of Education said.

Some states report little or no signs of a tougher voter attitude. Among these are Utah, Idaho, Mississippi, Iowa and Louisiana

In New York, too, where school budgets took a beating, voters endorsed a $2.5-billion transportation bond issue—the largest single bond authorization approved by any state. Gov. Nelson A Rockefeller stumped the state in support.

Local issues and personalities helped shape the outcome of some spending proposals. But one issue figured in virtually all the rejections—higher taxes.

Tax Resistance

George Eddington, assistant to the Grosse Pointe, Mich., school superintendent, blamed "general resistance to taxation" for Grosse Pointe's school levy rejection this year

The New York study probed for the causes of the school budget defeats.

Noting that most came in urban areas, the report said, " . .taxpayers who are already paying more than others for their children's education are protesting against being asked for still another increase."

The study fixed two reasons for the defeats: "high taxes and lack of a general state aid increase." The report said resentment over the lack of more state aid was an important factor particularly in the suburbs around New York City but "the tax rate was important everywhere."

Asa A. Gordon, Maine school administrative services director, says "there's been a lot stronger taxpayer resistances to budget increases this year than at any time in the past."

"When you are basing most of your expenditures on the property tax, as Maine communities do, you can't help reaching a point where rising tax rates meet resistance," Gordon says.

Los Angeles School Supt. Jack P. Crowther commented, "There is no reason to believe that the local property owner-taxpayer who is now paying most of the cost of financing our educational program will assume an even greater share of the burden."

Defeat of school bonds has caused cutbacks in programs in several California school districts. In Los Angeles last year, two bond issues lost, totaling $80.8 million, for libraries and police.

A California Teachers Association tally for 1966-67 shows 243 school bond issues failed and 214 passed.

Kansan Changing

In Kansas, 53 per cent of bond issues passed in 1967, down from 72 per cent in 1966 and 76 per cent in 1965.

The rejection rate for school bond issues in Missouri jumped from 27 per cent in 1965-66 to 44 per cent in 1966-67.

Two Oregon groups of property taxpayers are seeking to fix limits on property taxes for schools through November ballot proposals.

In South Carolina, Dr. Carlos Gibbons, president of the South Carolina Education Association, said "many schools have had to prepare budgets on a conservative basis."

Research Director Lloyd Markell of the Montana Education Association sees "an increasing indication of voter resistance to school bond issues. But I'm not certain the result shows the true voter attitude—just the fact they haven't sold the public on the necessity of these things."

"The trend over the past two years has been to reject bond issues, for the first time in Alaska's history," says Don Berry, executive director of the Alaska Municipal League.

Two key bond issues lost in Arizona last year. Scottsdale, a Phoenix suburb which has grown into Arizona's third largest city in the past 10 years, and votes Republican, rejected a $13-million school bond issue by a 4-1 margin.

Yuma, which has been an Arizona city since territorial days and votes Democratic, knocked down a $1.75-million school bond issue by a 1,266-892 vote.

North Little Rock, Ark., voters rejected a school tax increase in 1966 despite a warning that the school system faced loss of accreditation. The school system was placed on probation and last year voters approved an increase double the 1966 proposal.

W E. Easterling, executive secretary of the North Carolina Local Government Commission, says where proposed bonds are for new schools because of overcrowding "there is no trouble getting bonds passed."

But where the bonds are for new buildings resulting from school consolidations, voters are more apt to disapprove, he says.

Some school areas split fringe items, such as swimming pools, from main bond proposals to avoid jeopardizing the entire plan.

In Seattle, a $385-million rapid transit system proposal was defeated.

Valley Area Planners Expected to Attend Technical Action Panel

Several Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission planners are expected to attend the first state technical action panel to be held Thursday in Wisconsin Rapids.

The one - day organizational meeting is being coordinated by the Farmers Home Administration (FHA). Its purpose is to better acquaint panel members — district FHA officials — with their functions and responsibilities, and to establish a working relationship with regional planning commissions throughout Wisconsin.

Gordon Bubolz, regional planning commission chairman, also is expected to attend the meeting.

Republican Revolt of Ford Termed Effective

House Leader's Top Lieutenants Lead Fight; Defection Breaks Long Pattern

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

Evans

Novak

Michigan since he became his party's floor leader in January, 1965.

Had that revolt not succeeded, the civil rights bill and its open housing provision would not be law today. It picked up 77 badly-needed House Republican votes in the key vote April 10 (against 106 who stuck with Ford's leadership.)

Apart from civil rights, the revolt was a landmark in the murky Republican politics of the House. It was led not by badly outnumbered liberal Republican Congressmen, consistently though not effectively in revolt against the Ford leadership, but by Ford's own kind of pragmatic conservatives. The ringleaders were two erstwhile Ford lieutenants: Reps. Charles Goodell, 42, of New York (himself a member of the party's regular House leadership) and Albert Quie, 44, of Minnesota.

Broke Pattern

Their open defection broke the pattern of the past decade. The House Republicans have been the Arabs of Capitol Hill, deposing leaders from time to time in lightning coups, but maintaining a facade of unity. Under these ground rules, it has been acceptable to plot against the current leadership by night but the most heinous crime to vote against it by day.

A handful of Republican Congressmen who balked at this voting discipline (mostly, but not exclusively, liberals) formed the Wednesday Group. But most ambitious young members, like Al Quie and Charley Goodell, played the game. While maintaining voting records of party regularity, they helped engineer the coup that gave Ford the leadership.

However, Ford's brand of leadership, while sufficiently partisan and aggressive to forestall any coups, had quietly grown less satisfying to Congressmen desiring a new national Republican image — including Quie and Goodell. Over the past year, they have been producing their own alternatives to Democratic proposals — ideas that became labelled collectively in the House Republican cloakroom as the "Quie-Dell" approach.

Head-On Collision

That approach collided head-on with Ford last December on the poverty bill when the Quie-Goodell poverty package was scrapped in favor of a bare bones approach. But the point of revolt was not reached until this year when Ford decided against accepting the Senate-passed open housing scheme.

Ford was backed by the entire leadership, including the powerful Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin — except for Goodell. Their support was overwhelming among rank-and-file Republican Congressmen, reflecting their own lily-white small-town and rural constituencies.

With this backdrop, Quie and Goodell quietly put together a team of Republican Congressmen to fight the leadership. Rep. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts, driving force of the Wednesday Group, was the only member of the original "Quie-Dell" cadre with a conservative voting record less than 50 percent.

The otherwise Clark MacGregor of Minnesota, Howard Robison of New York, Paul Findley of Illinois, and two young freshmen — William Steiger, 29, of Wisconsin, and Edward Biester, 37, of Pennsylvania.

When they began persuading their colleagues, they could count only 37 House Republicans for quick passage of open housing, as desired by the Democratic leadership. Slowly, they increased the number to 57, then to 65. It slipped to 60 during the riots following the King assassination but soared to the final 77, marking a successful anti-leadership effort without precedent. The Republicans had been saved from the ignominy of defeating a civil rights bill.

Much credit goes to two later converts to the Quie-Goodell cause — William McCullouch of Ohio, the party's respected civil rights spokesman, and John Anderson of Illinois, who opened the bottleneck of the House Rules Committee. But the villain pilloried by the neanderthals in Republican cloakroom gossip is neither McCulloch nor Anderson but Goodell. No member of the Republican leadership, they grumble, should deviate from the party line and collaborate with the Democratic leadership.

Indeed, Goodell's rise up the House leadership ladder may now have been arrested. But his revolt splintered the shell of House Republican unity so thoroughly that it can never be adequately pasted together, raising the prospect of an important new Republican faction on Capitol Hill geared to a national rather than a parochial constituency.

U. S. Budget Speaker Set For Planners

Fox Valley Officials Will Attend Friday Meeting in Madison

Several Fox Cities area planning officials are expected to attend the annual one-day Association of Wisconsin Planners (AWP) conference in Madison Friday.

The session includes several speakers, including a former high-ranking Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) official and now U.S. Bureau of Budget assistant director. The theme is "Planning Government and Growth — Are They Compatible?"

Planning to attend are planners of the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission and the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG). Several COG officials also are expected to attend.

The talks and discussions will center around intergovernmental relations — city, state and federal.

Speakers Listed

The speakers are Peter Lewis, assistant deputy of metropolitan development of HUD, Washington, D.C.; Robert Farley, director of intergovernmental relations, Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, Detroit; and James H. Pickford, of the national advisory commission on intergovernmental relations, a nonpartisan group of municipal, state and federal officials.

Other speakers are Douglas Weiford, State Secretary of the Department of Local Affairs and Development; Richard C. Babcock, lawyer and independent planning consultant, Chicago, Ill.; and George Berteau, chairman of the Southeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission, Miwaukee.

It Was a Day to Go to the Fair

Mrs. Trubert Andrews, a member of Stockbridge Methodist Churchwomen's group scoops potato salad into a container for a customer. Gallons of potato salad and baked beans were sold from the booth. (Post-Crescent Photos by Robert Baeten)

BY CAROL HANSEN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It was raining, it was pouring and the proverbial old man may have been snoring, but many people in the Fox Cities were up Saturday and off to the Good Neighbor Fair at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

And at the fair, there were children and brightly colored balloons, a happy-faced clown dressed in a pink coat and people in raincoats milling about and buying the vendors' wares.

There were delicious smells of hot dogs, Spanish hamburgers, baked beans, potato salads and fresh, hot donuts.

There were booths with tables heavily ladened with homemade bakery, with bazaar items and with fresh country eggs. There were booths with gladiolus bulbs and tiny plants waiting to be set in somebody's garden

Yes, in spite of the rain, it was a day to go to the fair and people in the Fox Cities did just that.

The Clown Wore a Pink Coat, a big smile and sold balloons. Kertous and Jerome Yohr, above, stopped to buy one of the balloons just before leaving the fair. Steve Hardman, Oshkosh, played the clown on behalf of Boy Scout Troop 78 which is sponsored by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. At left, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Borchert, Neenah, purchase gladiolus bulbs from R. A. Vogt of the Fox River Valley Gladiolus Society.

Deanery Will Hear Panel on Alcoholism

Calvin Spice, undersheriff of Outagamie County, and Mrs. John Stoffel, a nurse supervisor at St. Elizabeth Hospital, will discuss the legal and medical aspects of alcoholism at 8 p.m. Thursday before the Outagamie Deanery's spring meeting at St. Mary Catholic Church, Kaukauna.

The public is invited to attend the panel presentation at which a member of Alcoholics Anonymous will present the alcoholic's point of view.

During a short business meeting parish society annual reports will be distributed.

The Richard Lamers family will sing.

Salad Luncheon To Feature Fashion Show

WINNECONNE — The Presbyterian Women will sponsor an annual Spring Salad Bar at 1 p.m. Saturday at Central School. A fashion show will be featured during luncheon.

"A Thread in the Tapestry" by Sarah Churchill will be reviewed by Mrs. O. B. Zimmerman after luncheon.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Jack Gruwell.

Ceremony Performed

MENASHA — Miss Molly M. Meyer and John A. Kaye exchanged wedding promises in a 1 p.m. ceremony April 13, at St. Mary Catholic Church rectory. The Rev. John Dewane officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Meyer, 929 E. Fourth St. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Kaye, 921 Plank Road, ae parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Gay Lesperance and Thomas Swiontek were honor attendents.

The couple greeted guests at a dinner at Biggar's Restaurant.

The new Mrs. Kaye attended Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, and was employed by Theda Clark Hospital. Her husband attended Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago, and Data Processing School of Wisconsin, Milwaukee. He is employed by T. A. Chapman Co., Milwaukee.

The couple will reside in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Kalies to Head St. Anne's Altar Society

DARBOY — Mrs. Ralph Kalies will move up to the office of president and Mrs. Raymond Schreiber will continue as treasurer of St. Anne's Altar Society. Elected Wednesday night at a meeting at Holy Angels School were Mrs. Robert Weyenberg, vice president, and Mrs. Paul J. Jansen, secretary. Installation of officers is planned for May.

Mrs. Michael Schreiber and Mrs. Ivol Vanden Heuvel will plan the bacculaureate mass and brunch sponsored by the society to honor high school graduates from Holy Angels Catholic Church.

The Rev Robert Vandenberg, St. Peter Catholic Church, Oconto, talked to the group about the Christian Family Movement. Three CFM participants also presented their views. A representative from the girl scout office also spoke and plans were made to form a girl scout troop at another meeting.

Mrs. Harry Van Roy served as chairman of the refreshment committee.

International Club Names President

Mrs John Rogers, Neenah, was elected president of the International Club at a meeting April 16 at the First National Bank.

Mrs. Devendra Joshi, Neenah, was named secretary and Mrs. Herbert Byatt, treasurer.

The group meets the third Thursday of the month at First National Bank. Foreign born wives of American men are invited to participate in meetings.

Biennial Spring Meeting

State VNAs Urged to be Aggressive In Future Regional Health Programs

BY JACKIE KRUG
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — "If the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) is going to fit into the health program of the future, it must be aggressive," Dr. James King told an audience of about 120 VNA nurse-directors and board members Monday at the Pioneer Inn. Dr. King, associate regional director of the Bureau of Health Service at Chicago, was guest luncheon speaker at the biennial spring meeting of state VNA organizations.

The day-long program was opened at 10 a.m. with a welcome and introduction of the day's activities by Mrs. David Leach, president of the Oshkosh VNA, host group for the meeting. A business session was held in the morning and board members and nurse-directors met for separate discussion meetings in the afternoon.

Appleton Participant

Mrs. William Arnold, president of the Appleton VNA board, was a participant in a panel discussion on various aspects of publicity and public relations in the VNA program during the afternoon session for board members. Other members of the panel, moderated by Mrs. Simon Horwitz, Oshkosh, were Mrs. R. J. Laubenstein, Green Bay; Mrs. Conrad Elvehjem, Madison, and Mrs. James Straub, Sheboygan.

Dr. King's luncheon talk centered on problems of administration in the VNA program. He stated at the beginning of his address that the key word in successful VNA administration is planning "A good administrator must be aware of the planning process." he said.

Two General Areas

Two general realms of planning, according to Dr. King, are internal, that within the organization; and external, the agency's working relationship with other agencies, with individuals and with the community.

Dr King outlined a seven-point planning process through which he stressed the need for incorporating immediate needs of the community in long range planning

The first step in planning, stated Dr. King, is to indentify the health status of the community by gathering data from all sources and making a list of the health problems.

The establishment of a goal or objective to answer "where would we like to be in the future?" is the second step in planning. The goals of the VNA should be spelled out with a timetable for reaching them, Dr. King stressed. He stated that this is the only way in which progess can be measured.

Assess Resources

The third step is an assessment of the attitudes and resources of the community. Dr. King pointed out that it is useless for a VNA organization to plan a program that it does not have the manpower to carry out.

With the problems pinpointed, the fourth step is the listing of alternative approaches to solving them. Dr. King noted there is no one way to solve a problem, and all avenues should be considered as possibilities.

In determining the problem approach to be used, Dr. King urged administrators to determine the cost benefit, or effectiveness, of each possible program. The intent is to realize the greatest benefit at the lowest cost, but be willing to spend more for greater benefits.

Select Plan

The sixth step is the selection of a specific alternative of those listed earlier.

The final aspect of planning, and one which Dr. King emphasized, is evaluation or "looking at what you've done." Dr. King stressed the importance of evaluation, saying "the world is not static" and "the moment you provide a service, you have changed what was" and must re-evaluate.

Another second major portion of Dr. King's address was devoted to the problem of personnel management within the local VNA organization.

He stated four primary points in this area. First is correct placement. The worker is happier, and more likely to continue employment, in a position for which she is suited.

Probation Period

Dr King advised administrators to set up a probationary period during which the agency can determine if the worker is suited to the work of the agency, and the worker can determine if the agency meets her needs for employment. Dr King pointed out that this probationary period should be fully explained during recruitment, and that it should be noted that it is also the employe's chance to reject the agency.

Job and agency orientation is a major part of good personnel management, Dr. King continued. The employe should know what his total job consists of. She should be acquainted with the total philosophy of the organization. Another important point, Dr. King stated, is encouraging the employe to take part in in-service training to learn new methods and new ideas.

Evaluate Performance

The speaker also advocated performance evaluation. He elaborated that this meant periodic personal conferences to determine if the employe is happy in her work and what may be done to improve working relationships. He noted that a word of praise is necessary from time to time.

Dr. King added that the administrator must be alert to discipline problems and avoid any bickering among staff members.

Dr. King was asked to comment on the role of the VNA organization in the coming area-wide regional health services. It is in this area he advocated aggressiveness on the part of the VNA. He stated that the VNA must not wait until regional planners come to them, but must go out and make known the services the VNA can provide in the area of regional health.

He stated that many patients who are now sent to hospitals could be treated as well or better and at a lower cost if they were treated in the home by Visiting Nurses. Dr. King concluded that the primary problem here is in the low number of patient referrals to the VNA by practicing physicians.

Darboy Couple Marks 50th Anniversary

DARBOY — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Otte, route 4, Appleton, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday with a supper and reception at the Darboy Club. A mass of thanksgiving was offered at 11 a.m. at Holy Angels Catholic Church.

The couple was married by the Rev. F. X. Steinbrecher April 23, 1918, at St. Mary Catholic Church, Kaukauna. William Otte, Kaukauna, Mr. Otte's cousin and an honor attendant, was present at the anniversary celebration, but illness prevented Mrs. Michael Houser, sister of Mrs. Otte and another honor attendant, from attending the event.

Mr. Otte is a lifelong resident of Darboy. The couple farmed the Otte homestead southeast of Darboy until 1929, when they purchased a farm in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Otte have two daughters, Mrs. Clarence Hoelzel, route 4, and Mrs. John Van Handel, 417 E. Frances St., Appleton. A son is deceased. There are 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Otte

Promises Exchanged

Miss Donna Menning and Guy D. Phillips were married in a double ring ceremony April 13.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Menning, route 6. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Phillips, Racine.

Mr. and Mrs. David Mikulecky were honor attendants.

The new Mrs. Phillips was graduated from Prospect Hall, Milwaukee, and is employed by Wisconsin Telephone Co. Her husband is a student at the University of Wisconsin.

Length of Boy's Hair Indicative Of Extent of His Rebellion

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old son Larry wants to wear his hair longer than his father thinks he should. For years his father used to cut the boy's hair but lately haircut time has produced such terrible fights that my husband has told the boy he will not cut his hair anymore — he'll have to go to a barber and pay for his haircuts out of his allowance.

I had a private talk with Larry and he told me he hates to be different from the other boys at school. He says short haircuts are considered square and that's all there is to it. He made it clear he does not want to wear his hair so long that his ears are covered up but he does like bangs (which I think are frightful) and he also likes a full look in the back.

Ann, I am so sick and tired of listening to my son and his father argue about hair I could scream. Several of my friends tell me they are having the same trouble. Please, once and for all, settle this in your column. Do you think a boy's haircut is important enough to fight about day and night? Do you think parents have the right to insist that a teen-age son wear his hair the way they think he should? If you would devote a few paragraphs to this subject, parents of teen-agers all over the country would bless you. — Beside Myself

Dear B.: Hair has become one of the most passionately argued subjects of our time — ranking third after Vietnam and the race riots. I have received thousands of letters from Anchorage to Austin — letters from distraught fathers, exhausted mothers and embattled teen-agers. Some readers have sent photographs (front and back) and asked, "Do you think this is too long?"

I believe the male teen-age craze for long hair is rooted in (a) the desire to look like the other guys and (b) rebellion against parents, society, or whatever they happen to be fighting. The length of the boy's hair is a good means of measuring a boy's rebelliousness. The kid who wears his hair so long that he attracts stares from strangers is saying, "See, nobody can tell me what to do."

If your son fits this description I recommend the following: Keep quiet about his hair. Make it clear he can wear his hair in bangs down to his nose and braids to his shoulders if he wants to, but he must give it a weekly shampoo. Also, let him know if he gets in trouble with the school authorities because of his hair it will be his trouble and not yours.

Schools not only have the right but the obligation to set standards and make rules. Some schools ignore hair, other schools have specific regulations. If the boy is told to cut his hair or not come back it must be his decision and he must accept the consequences.

Personally, I wish the crew cut would hurry back. It's neater and cleaner. But the style today is longer hair and most kids want to be in style.

One day (if you stop bugging him), your teen-age son will cut his hair, but it has to be his idea and not yours. When that day comes you will know that your boy has made an important step in the transition from adolescence to manhood.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of Five

NEW MOTHER NOTES

New mothers are apt to think that every cry is a hunger-cry.

But they soon learn that babies cry for other reasons: air-bubble trouble, diaper discomfort, loneliness, etc. How can you tell if your baby's cry is caused by hunger? You can't every time but a pretty good guide is how much time has elapsed since the last feeding. If he (or she) has been fed within the hour, he may just need a few pats on the back to get up a stubborn bubble. Or a little cuddle session to chase those cries away.

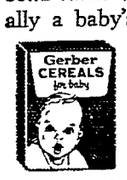
Solid facts. Why is cereal usually a baby's first solid food?



Because specially prepared baby cereals provide some of the nutrients needed in the early months. Gerber Baby Cereals are enriched with iron and B-vitamins to supplement the nourishment he gets from milk.

Rice Cereal, Barley, Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and High Protein Cereal make up the Gerber list. Flavors are pleasantly mild. The texture is smooth and easy to swallow when mixed with formula or milk.

Sleep strategies. If you've a baby who seems to fight sleep (and some babies do) these simple tricks help nudge baby toward sleep:

1. A gentle oil rubdown is most relaxing. So is a bit of warm milk.
2. A 10-to-15 minute rocking chair session is a sweet sleep-coaxer. Doctors recommend this because it's good for both of you.

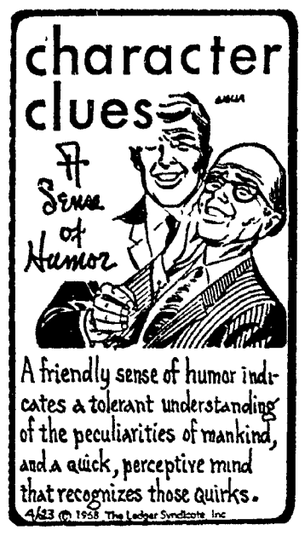
Why vegetables for baby? Primarily for the variety of vitamins and minerals they supply. Note: yellow and green ones provide high vitamin-A values, the green ones significant amounts of iron. Gerber Strained and Junior Vegetables, like all Gerber Baby Foods, are "custom-cooked" according to their special requirements to preserve garden-good colors and flavors and natural nourishment to a high degree.

Toddler Salad Suggestion

Got a toddler who shies away from vegetables? Might try this 1-2-3 recipe:

Add one jar of Gerber Strained Carrots to a box of orange-flavored gelatin, replacing an equal amount of water, stated on package directions

Gerber® Baby Products, Box 33, Fremont, Michigan.



Lovelier You

Portrait to Cherish

A Lovely writes: I will soon sit for my bridal portrait, and I am uneasy over the prospect as I am not particularly photogenic. Do I need a special makeup? Would it help? How can I be sure of taking a graceful pose? Please help me.

The Answer: When any lovely faces the camera for a wedding portrait, she must relax and let the photographer do the worrying. The most vital secret in getting a likeness of your best self is a relaxed approach.

A tense, stiff sitter takes a picture that answers to the same description. Tension is one of the few problems that cannot be overcome by a photographer's artistry.

Really, there is nothing to be nervous about. The photographer will direct your posing. He will light your face and position your head, so as to catch the flattering angles. Should there be a flaw in your makeup, he will suggest the improvement.

To avoid flaws, practice making up this way: 1. Film face and throat with foundation that matches skin tone. 2. Use pale, translucent powder and fluff it on; do not press or scrub. 3. Apply lipstick in natural curves — the neatest ever. Medium shades take best. 4. Brush-groom eyebrows and apply any eye makeup with feather-touch. 5. Polish hair with pomade and spray.

Designer's message: For those of you that have found the recent straight hair styles too severe and feel you need the softness of curls or waves . . . rejoice! Hair stylist Axlander in Paris has created for all the Ricci models the full, richly waved look that Suzy Parker made so famous. But the difference is, that it is more waves than curls and less planned and more "tasseled" (making it less of a problem to do and care for and more natural). Paris '68

Breakfast idea! Trim crust from Raisin Bread; place bread in buttered muffin cups. Bake at 350° for 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from cups and fill with scrambled eggs. Serve with crisp bacon.

Fill 2 buttered slices of Raisin Bread with crisp bacon, slice of red tomato and a slice of cheddar cheese. Saute until golden brown in a grill or frying pan. A delightfully different meal in minutes.

For a variety of open-face taste tempters . . . raisin bread with cream cheese fillers. Whip softened cream cheese using fresh cream to achieve spreadable consistency. Then, to 1 cup of spread stir in your choice of the following:

- ½ Cup Chopped Chicken or Turkey
- ½ Cup Finely Chopped Ham
- ½ Cup Chopped Nuts; or
- ½ Cup Chopped Stuffed Olives

Try Peanut Butter mixed with chopped Raisins and Orange Marmalade. Makes a quick filling for picnic sandwiches. Youngsters love them too!

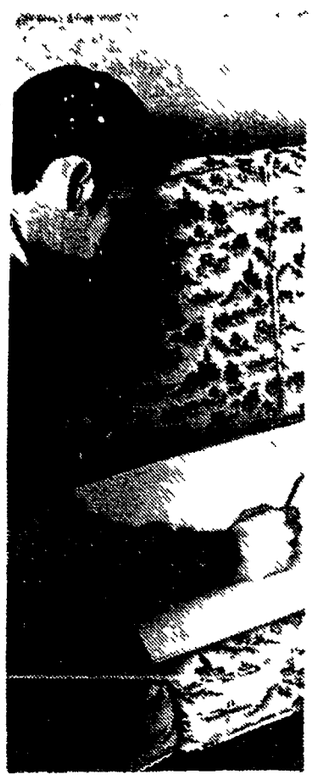
Students, Residents Enjoy Spontaneous Art Session



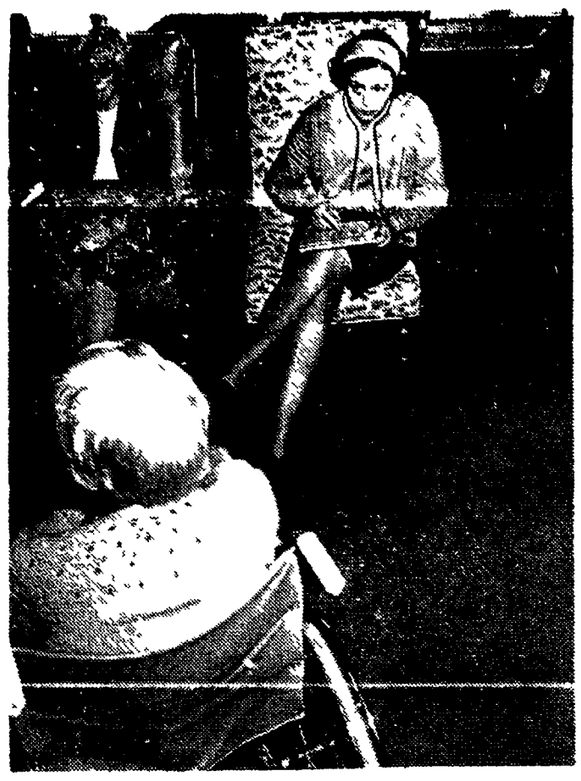
In a fun-exercise which provided entertainment for the residents and practical experience for themselves students from a University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center art drawing class met recently at the Appleton Extended Care Center

The doorway was filled with curious on-lookers and others who weren't being sketched, and just wanted to watch, sat quietly in their wheelchairs or upholstered chairs

The front hallway is now a gallery of sketches of hands and heads

Participating students were Steve Hinton, Shawano, James Krueger, Mrs Donald Bravick, Deanna Netzel and Mrs E E Uehlein, all of Appleton, Mary Treiber and Robert Dunn, Menasha, Kim Vanderhyden and Wendy Vick, Neenah, and Mary May, Kaukauna

Instructor of the class is Thomas Tasch



Mrs. Donald Bravick concentrates on her drawing of an identified resident in a wheel chair. To the left of Mrs. Bravick, a resident, Mrs. Laura Stager watches the artists at work. At left, Mrs. E E Uehlein carefully outlines the features of the resident she is sketching

Quickness In Playing Is Costly

In an ordinary rubber bridge game at home the players usually waive penalties when an irregularity occurs; in a tournament the laws are applied quite strictly. Only a strict policy can prevent an offender from gaining an advantage.

When today's hand was played recently in the French National Selection Tournament, South ruffed the opening club lead, led the ace of hearts and gave up a heart to the king. Back came another club, and South ruffed again.

Declarer then spread his hand and claimed the rest of the tricks East immediately called the tournament director, who ruled that South could not take any finesses even if his line of play disclosed that one opponent was void in a suit

This meant that East had to win the setting trick with the jack of diamonds South didn't complain since the rule is well known to tournament players, but North had a few words to say on the subject of partners and the way they played

A simple safety play would have assured the contract. Only a 4-0 diamond break can worry South. He can do nothing if West has all four diamonds, but he can guard against four diamonds in the East hand by leading a low diamond to dummy's king on the first round of the suit.

When West shows out, declarer returns a diamond from dummy. East puts up the ten, and South wins with the queen. South returns a spade to dummy's queen and leads another diamond for a finesse through East's jack.

The rule against finessing after a premature claim protected East in this hand. Without such a rule, if East objected to South's claim he would alert South to the danger of a bad diamond break; and if East didn't object he would have to concede the slam. The innocent side should not be handicapped in this way by the side that has committed the irregularity.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S 10 9 4 3 H K Q D None C A K 9 7 6 5 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one club. The hand is much too strong for a preemptive opening bid. You have a play for game if partner has as little as K J of spades and two or three low clubs, but he will never act with such a hand if you open with three or four clubs.

'Invent New Woman,' Says Consumer Leader

BY RODNEY PINDER

LONDON (AP) — The housewife's ideal home shopping list should start with the perfect contraceptive pill and end with the perfect jug

And somewhere in between, says Mrs. Mary Adas, should be: "A neat, adjustable, elegant, remote-controlled panel for my bedroom so that when I wake in the morning I can, without leaving the nest, switch on light, heat, blanket, teamaker, toaster, radio, telephone—in that order."

Mrs. Adams, 69, Deputy Chairman of Britain's Consumer Association, told members of the Institute of Patentees and Inventors the things women wanted now or soon

Ramps to Replace Stairs

Housing—few doors, magnetically closing; sink, cooker, freezer, washing machines on hire and changed when outdated, ramps instead of stairs; shared community services and communal work spaces

Heating — central, with warm bathrooms and cool food storage areas

Cleaning—floors that don't need polishing, no curtains

Cooking — easily - dismantled ovens with pre-set controls; all cooking utensils designed for quick transfer from cooker to table

Services—intercom telephone with handle and cheap recording device; remote-control TV; water softening at source.

Easily Opened Packages

Shopping — stores open evenings and weekends; informative labeling, easily opened packaging and less of it, purses with interior lighting

All automobiles should have special seats for women drivers "After all, we're a different shape than men," she said

Mrs Adams told the inventors to mug up on ergonomics—the science of making the job fit the worker

Invent New Woman

"I want to see a milk jug that looks pretty, pours well and can be held easily," she said

How does the birth control pill fit into the setup?

"The pill is the most important invention women have received so far But to have to take a pill a day is quite ridiculous"

She conceded "It might be simpler and quicker to invent the new woman, ergonomically standardized, without biological disabilities and without built-in attachments to men and babies, but instead armed with an unsentimental critical attitude to possessions and status"

Marriage Promises Exchanged

Sacred Heart Catholic Church was the setting for the 1 30 p m. Saturday wedding of Miss Norma Jean Van Heuklon and Kenneth Edward Sanderfoot The Rev Roger Stodola officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs Norman Van Heuklon, 814 E Harrison St. Mr and Mrs William Sanderfoot, 313 E. Lincoln St, Little Chute, are parents of the bridegroom

Miss Margaret Van Heuklon, a sister of the bride, attended as maid of honor Miss Donna Sanderfoot and Miss Margaret Kufner were bridesmaids

Raymond Sanderfoot performed the duties of best man for his brother Howard Belonger and Joseph Kessler were groomsmen. James Evers and Robert Van Heuklon shared ushering duties

The couple greeted guests at a reception at Reetz's Supper Club

The new Mrs Sanderfoot is employed by St. Elizabeth Hospital Her husband is with Elm Tree Bakery

Campus Club Serves Four International Cuisines

By MARGUERITE SCHUMANN
Of Lawrence University

"Dozens of cooks, millions of calories," read the announcement of the Campus Club's third international dinner, and that proved an accurate description of the gastronomic event at Colman Hall Saturday evening for an over-capacity crowd of Lawrence University and Institute of Paper Chemistry staff members.

Colman Hall was Appleton's most elegant restaurant that evening, for it boasted four complete cuisines — French, Greek, Hungarian and Scandinavian — including 20 desserts (not one of them ice cream).

The hall looked like Appleton's most elegant restaurant, too, for its 12 picture windows overlooking the Fox River bore brilliant bouquets of silk flags, the window sills twinkled with hundreds of white firefly lights, and each of the 32 dining tables was set with a bouquet of daffodils and a pair of votive lights on a broad table runner made of aqua and white striped wallpaper. A student jazz combo played quiet, sophisticated music during the dinner.

Colorful Casseroles

In the center of the room was the focus for the evening — four buffet tables laid with dramatically-scaled serving pieces: enormous ancestral platters, mammoth teak salad bowls, and the classic casseroles of high cuisine made of copper, earthenware and cast iron enameled in scarlet, aqua and yellow.

Mrs. Richard Stowe gathered a group of cooks who are French by adoption, and one genuine article, French-born Mrs. Wayne Ready, to create a menu opening with Quiche Lorraine, a savory cheese-custard pie eaten as an appetizer The main course was Boeuf a la mode, (not "beef with ice cream" as one Frenchman suggested, but beef marinated and cooked in a fragrant sauce), Carrottes Etuvees au Beurre, and Gratin de Pommes de Terre Provencal. The latter is a scalloped potato dish that incorporates tomatoes and anchovies.

After a classic French green salad, the desserts were Abricots Chantilly (a puree of apricots folded into whipped cream with almond slivers), a rich one-layer chocolate cake Reine de Saba, a flan decorated with fruits named Couronne Elisabeth, and Mousseline au Chocolat. Both the apricot and chocolate mousse desserts were served in tiny white pots de creme.

White China Menus

Mrs. Stowe had contrived a tri-color table cloth resembling the French flag for her buffet. Pots of red geraniums and red candles were grouped with a display of the French provincial earthenware called Quimper. Two white china menus, similar to those shown in fine French restaurants, announced the bill of fare.

Mrs. Carl Wellman has assembled a team of cooks with heavy representation from the art, philosophy and classics departments (whose cultural roots are logically in Greece) for the Greek buffet.

Appetizers were stuffed grapeleaves, ripe Greek olives and feta (white goat cheese). The main course dishes were moussaka (a combination of eggplant, lamb and several sauces), a spinach pie baked with flaky filo pastry leaves, Greek meatballs served with egg-lemon sauce, an eggplant salad and a braided sweet bread

Desserts were baklava (filo leaves interspersed with layers of nuts and honey); dipples, a kind of deep-fried snowball, Easter cookies and honey cake.

Color of Earth

The elaborate menu was set on a dull orange-tan cloth reminiscent of the color of the Greek earth. A three-foot statue of the god Mercury served as a centerpiece, accompanied by an arrangement of fresh grapes and glowing amber lights

The Hungarian table was decorated with a heavy linen cloth embroidered in a pleasant design and centered with a bouquet of red tulips, the national flower of Hungary. Both the cloth and the white embroidered costumes worn by several of the cooks were provided by Mrs Louis Wise who acquired them during an earlier residence in Europe

Chairman of the table for its planning stage was Hungarian-born Mrs. Kyle Ward. When she found it necessary to be out of town for the dinner, Miss Mari Taniguchi became marshal for the Hungarian forces Miss Taniguchi (whose name suggests her Oriental ancestry), endured a good many remarks such as "What kind of a Hungarian are you?" to which she replied, "I represent the Mongol invaders under Genghis Kahn."

Serve Oxtail Soup

The Ward-Taniguchi team provided a dinner that began with oxtail soup, proceeded through chicken paprika, pork-stuffed cabbage rolls served on a bed of sauerkraut and garnished with sausage slices, and a stellar lineup of desserts — three tortes of chocolate, walnut and roast filbert, and a confection composed of a stack of thin pancakes layered with nuts, jam and cottage cheese, all sealed in a meringue.

A beautifully - arranged Scandinavian buffet was planned by Mrs. Bernard Heselton, who comes from a "100 per cent Norwegian background" and learned many of the dishes from her mother. She was assisted by a committee of first, second and third generation Scandinavians.

The menu consisted of an array of devilled eggs, cheese, several kinds of herring, the classic Scandinavian meatballs, a roast loin of pork, baked lutefisk, turkey, glazed carrots, pickled beets, cucumber slices, two kinds of cold fruit including lignonberries, four varieties of bread including lefse, flatbread, limpa and Christmas cake Six desserts were offered — fattigmond, krumkaker, mandelkage, rosettes and two handsomely patterned Swedish tortes

Display Wood Horse

A large wooden Swedish horse, enameled in orange and blue, was used as a centerpiese, flanked by orange candles on a pale gray embroidered cloth

More than 40 cooks contributed dishes to the dinner, several of them the male gourmet cooks of whom the campus boasts. General co-chairmen for the evening were James Ming, professor of music, and Marguerite Schumann, director of publicity and publications President of the Campus Club this year is Mrs. Don Vorpahl

Use Bleach To Remove Wood Spots

Q I just finished sanding and scraping off the varnish on a nice old chair But in the wood itself are black spots. How can I remove them before I revarnish? — Los Angeles

A: Wood bleach, friend But this will also take any of the surrounding color out too. So then you'll have to restain to get the desired wood shade back again Easy to do, however.

Few months ago I asked if any kind friends could help us out with a bird feeder designed so greedy jays couldn't take over Kind friend W M. Bradshaw, of Oak Hill, Ohio, came to the rescue He wrote:

"Take a short piece of 2 by 4, from 18 to 24 inches long. Drill 1-inch deep holes at intervals, using a 1½ inch auger or bit. Drill as many as you like, on both sides, then fill the holes with suet or peanut butter, and hang from a tree branch Only the small-footed birds can get a toe-hold Jays can't hang on."

That's the best way I heard yet for giving the chickadees a break, at the expense of frustrated jays Thanks, Mr Bradshaw, from all us cardinals, nuthatches, juncos, goldfinches and chicadees!

Q: Last September, good painters did my apartment. Nice job, too Except for the heating pipe which rises through the bathroom to the apartment above. The paint has badly discolored and has started to peel. What caused this? — Paterson, N J

A Sounds as though the folks upstairs turned on the heat before your paint was thoroughly dry Pipes must be stone cold from start until final coat is thoroughly dry Any heat will cause the darkening and peeling

Better wait until the warm weather before attempting to repaint.

Parents' World

It's Unhealthy for Girl, 15, To Tie Herself to One Boy

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: You gave the most wrong and preposterous advice of your life when you said it's unhealthy for a 16-year-old girl to be dating steady and to be managing her boyfriend's money, and you told her father he should stop the steady dating.

Did it ever occur to you that the girl may have been in love? Breaking up their relationship may cause a more serious problem.

You make us teenagers sound like children who aren't old enough to have real love for the opposite sex But some of us do mature earlier than others and we do love and understand. I have many 16-year-old girlfriends who are happily married. And I'm 15 and very much in love and I've been going steady for over a year. My parents won't let me date alone with my boyfriend until I'm 16, but my boyfriend understands and has been waiting patiently for over a year, and I'm counting the days until I'm 16

I'm sincerely sorry you don't accept my views. But a 15 year old is no more capable of real love and understanding than a 5 year old who can read is capable of appreciating Shakespeare, especially if all he has read is a comic book version of Hamlet.

Why don't you give up "going steady" and get out into competition so you can honestly find out what you like and what you've got? You don't owe your boyfriend a medal because he picked you out when you were 14 and has been hanging around since waiting to get alone with you.

If you're as capable of good sense as you claim, you'll put an end to this unhealthy tie to this one boy. If not, let's hope your parents see this and realize they ought to.

Dear Dr. Jones: I'm divorced and have been bringing my boy up by myself, because his father doesn't care to have much to do with him I don't want to fail my son and hurt his chances of growing up to be a man Do you have any suggestions I can follow to keep on the right path? Mrs. W. W.

Raisinng your child in a fatherless home is undoubtedly a difficult task, but it's something you and other mothers can accomplish successfully if you watch out for the pitfalls described in the book whose name I'm sending you. If you have some specific questions about your situation that the book doesn't cover, please write again.

Pleas to Improve Schools Made by PTA, Civic Groups

Pleas for immediate board of education attention to improving facilities in several Appleton schools were made Monday night by representatives of parent teacher associations and other groups.

The spokesmen and one communication cited building inadequacies at Roosevelt and Wilson junior highs, Jackson and Columbus elementary schools and Appleton High School-West.

All schools except Columbus are slated for renovation and additions in the board's actual and tentative five-year capital improvement program, which was adopted Monday night.

Lost List

The spokesmen were Max G. Hensel, 1007 E. Glendale Ave., representing a group of Roosevelt parents; Norman Colson, 1514 N. Morrison St., Jackson PTA; Mrs. Patricia Danford, 424 E. Longview St., American Association of University Women (AAUW); and Mrs. Vernon Wiese, 1610 N. Clark St., whose communication was read to the board.

Hensel presented a long list of deficiencies at Roosevelt and Wilson, and urged the board give the "junior high schools number one priority."

In his statement, Hensel said desk level lighting was 17 foot candles when the desired level is 70. The heating system is inadequate, he continued, as the heating level ranges from 60 to 68 degrees. This necessitated the "students sitting in study hall wearing their coats," he said.

He also cited insufficient hallway lighting and a need for larger classrooms to house science lab equipment. The gym is inadequate to accommodate the whole student body at any athletic function, he said.

Roosevelt gymnasium refloor-ing has been in the budget "for the past four or five years and always has been removed after the final budget was adopted," he said.

Special Committee

Colson cited similar deficiencies from a special committee on fact finding at Jackson. He

A Tuberculin Skin Test may be a simple thing but it's a matter of major concern to James Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beyer, who is a pupil at Freedom School. The last clinic of the Outagamie County testing program was held at Freedom Monday. Previous clinics have been held at Seymour, Little Chute, Kimberly, Shiocton, Bear Creek and Hortonville public and private schools. Tests were given to 2,886 children. Board Asks Okay To Expand Schools

Permission Sought to Hire Architects; 3-Year Plan Has $3.3 Bonding Total

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Permission to hire architects for four school building additions, tentatively scheduled for bonding by 1970, will be sought "as soon as possible" from the Appleton school district fiscal control board.

The board of education adopted this proposal Monday night after a lengthy discussion and a split-vote passage of the updated five-year actual and tentative capital improvement program.

The proposal calls for bonding in 1968, 1969 and 1970 totaling $3.3 million. All schools would be scheduled for opening the year after bonding.

The additions planned are a $500,000 addition to Franklin Elementary School, to be bonded in 1968; $900,000 additions on Roosevelt and Wilson junior highs, 1969, and a $1 million addition on Appleton High School-West, 1970.

The board authorized Charles Buchanan, president, to request an appearance before the city council at its May meeting to present the updated plan and answer questions. He also will seek permission for hiring the architects at that time.

Seek Permission

Supt. of Schools William Spears and Buchanan urged the board to seek permission to hire architects for all four additions immediately to allow sufficient time for the planning.

Spears indicated there is need for some "very critical planning" for these additions and recommended a move for a concurrent on-going planning program for all the additions.

Buchanan added he felt the board still had a "moral obligation" to follow its tentative five-year plan bonding schedule, regardless of the time when the architects are hired.

Mrs. Helen Heil and Ronald Roberts, who cast dissenting votes, questioned the priorities outlined in the five-year plan. Roberts favored putting the junior highs and Appleton West at the top of the list and felt reopening Washington would make this feasible.

Mrs. Heil's opposition was directed at the delay on building a new elementary school. "I think the Franklin addition is going to only postpone a much-needed larger central elementary school," she said.

Now Recommended

The proposed Franklin addition was not in the 1967 edition of the five-year plan, but Spears said it was now recommended for immediate consideration because of population shifts and an acute need to relieve overcrowding at Jackson Elementary School.

He noted an unexpected parochial to public school shift and heavy building-up in the north central part of the city.

Upper elementary grades at Jackson apparently will be transferred to Franklin where mode adequate library and physical education facilities will be available. William Schein, Jackson principal, said ideally, he woud like to have 200 to 225 students.

James Westphal, elementary coordinator, said a study by three principals indicated a major shifting of attendance

Buckley Raps School Board Building Plans

Urges Completion Of Council Study On Present Buildings

Mayor George Buckley today criticized the Appleton Board of Education for wanting to hire an architect for four school projects before a council-authorized study of existing buildings is completed.

"The school board's plan to have the city bond for another $3.3 million over a two-year period is premature," Buckley declared.

The mayor said he had conferred with Ald. John Steidl (18th), chairman of the council's school advisory committee, and both were of the opinion the school board was moving too fast.

"Alderman Steidl informed me he was not in the least happy about what took place at last night's school board meeting," Buckley said.

'Heavier Tax'

"It would appear the board of education is attempitng to complete a five-year program in a year or two and hit the people of Appleton with still a heavier tax burden," Buckley continued.

He cited the city council had authorized a complete inspection and study of the Washington, Franklin and Jackson school buildings to determine if they could be renovated.

And Buckley questioned how the school board could come up with a future building program if it did not know what alternatives were available.

"I told Alderman Steidl that I agreed with him and concurred the school board has taken a poor attitude by proceeding without waiting for the inspection reports," Buckley added.

Charles Magnette, director of inspections, said it would be another 30 days before complete reports would be available on the schools. However, Magnette said a complete inspection of Washington School showed it to be "structurally sound".

Expect Opposition

Buckley also said he had talked with a few other aldermen and did not think the majority of the city council would concur in the school board's latest plan.

"We've got to call a little halt to some of this school board spending," Buckley asserted.

$600 Awards Go To Fox Valley, Xavier Students

Two parochial high school students today were named recipients of the $600 Rotary Club of Appleton scholarships.

George Kirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kirk, 235 S. James St., Kimberly, of Fox Valley Lutheran High School, and Karlene Van Grinsven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Grinsven, 933 W. Grant St., Xavier High School, received the awards today at the weekly meeting of the club.

This is the first year two scholarships have been presented and the first time they have been raised to $600, according to H. H. Helble, chairman of the club's education committee, who made the presentation.

In the future, the scholarships will be awarded on a rotation schedule, based on high school enrollment. In 1969 Appleton High Schools-East and West will be the recipients; in 1970, West and Xavier; in 1971, East and Xavier and in 1972, East and FVL.

Candidates must be in the upper 25 per cent of the class, must be recommended by the principal and must plan to attend an accredited Wisconsin college or university for four years.

County Officials Consider Repurchasing Farm Land

Outagamie County officials indicated Tuesday morning they may be interested in re-purchasing 28.9 acres of county farm land sold 16 months ago to Fox River Tractor Co.

The interest was expressed by members of the Executive Committee who referred for study to the finance committee a letter from the Koehring Company of Milwaukee, asking the county how they wanted payment of the land handled.

Koehring purchased Fox River Tractor earlier this year and is operating the Appleton firm as a separate division.

Fox River Tractor had purchased the land Jan. 2, 1967 under a 10-year land contract at $2,000 per acre. As of April 1, there remained $53,000 of the principle to be paid. Koehring offered to pay the entire amount on April 30 or to continue the existing contract.

Holding Action

Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, suggested holding up action, saying "we may want the land back."

However, inspection of the contract disclosed that no reversionary clause existed as some supervisors had believed. Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton, said he had argued on the board floor that such a clause be put in the contract in the event the land was sold.

The contract specified the obligation of the Fox River Tractor to make the payments under the contract, or "its successor."

A request of the Airport Committee for the hiring of a fulltime maintenance man at the airport under the airport manager was referred to a joint meeting of the airport and personnel committees May 3. The airport shares a maintenance man with the courthouse.

Supv. John Dietz, Appleton, Airport Committee chairman, said the amount of work is constantly increasing at the airport and a fulltime man is needed who would be under the airport manager for better control.

Aide Announces Her Candidacy

Shannon to Quit Job He Held for 40 Years

Sydney M. Shannon, Outagamie County clerk of courts for 40 years, announced this morning that he will not seek re-election in November, and his deputy clerk of six years, Gloria Johnson, announced she will be a candidate.

Shannon, who will be 65 in June, was appointed clerk of courts June 1, 1928 to succeed his father, Harry A. Shannon, who resigned after holding office 12 years. Sydney, who was a deputy clerk under his father for six years, was appointed by the late Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner.

Sydney took the courthouse job immediately after graduating from Appleton High School. He and his father were the only two employes in the clerk of courts office.

Miss Johnson, 25, of 123 S. Mason St., is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sylvester Johnson of Appleton. She began working full time in the Outagamie County register of deeds office after graduation from Fox Valley Lutheran High School. After working in that office for six months, she transferred to the clerk of courts office and has worked there for the past six years.

Shannon has always served as a Republican, and Miss Johnson said she intends to seek election on the Republican ticket.

In announcing her candidacy this morning, Miss Johnson said she felt that with the retirement of Shannon, the clerk of courts office should continue to be operated in the same efficient manner. "I feel that my six years as deputy clerk qualifies me to see that it is operated in such a manner," Miss Johnson stated.

She is the first person to announce candidacy for the $8,400-per-year job. Miss Johnson is one of four employes in the county office.

Oldest in Wisconsin

In terms of tenure, Shannon is the oldest clerk of courts in Wisconsin, and has held office longer than any other elected Outagamie County official. He said this morning that when he took office at the age of 25, he was the youngest clerk of courts in the state.

The Appleton native, when asked his reason for retiring, explained, "As far as I am concerned, I think it's time for me to retire from public office." He said he will continue to reside in Appleton, but will spend more time at his cottage north of Rhinelander.

Shannon is a member of the Elks Lodge. He and his wife, Dorothy, live at 1019 N. Owaissa St. They have a daughter, Sally Shannon Walsh and a son, Sydney Shannon Jr., both of Appleton.

GOP Caucus Hears Byrnes

'Give 'em Hell' Keynote

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Eighth district Republicans Monday night kicked off the 1968 state political campaign with a forum for candidates, a "give 'em hell" speech by Rep. John W. Byrnes and routine business at the annual caucus.

Following Byrnes' talk, criticizing Democrats at all levels of government and from Woodrow Wilson to Lyndon Johnson, the caucus selected delegates to the state GOP Convention next month and adopted eight resolutions.

The list of Republican candidates seeking support from the delegates was headed by Lt. Gov. Jack Olson and Byrnes.

Seeking the convention endorsement for attorney general were State Sen. Robert Warren, Green Bay, Milwaukee attorney Louis Ceci, who was the GOP candidate in 1966, and Beaver Dam attorney Howard Boyle, a past candidate for that post.

Two possible candidates for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Gaylord Nelson also asked for support. They were State Senate Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, Bayside, and Don Tewes, Waukesha, a former congressman from the old 2nd District.

Caucus Keynote

Also seeking endorsement was Harold Clemens, former assemblyman whom Gov. Knowles recently appointed state treasurer succeeding the late Mrs. Dena Smith.

In what could be called the caucus keynote speech, Byrnes told about 200 party officials from the seven-county area, "It is up to the Republican Party to get the country out of this sorry, tragic mess."

There is only one way to free the country from "the Democratic albatross. Put a new party in power," Byrnes urged.

Byrnes said it would make little difference to the nation, and what he called the mess in foreign relations, domestic crises, and fiscal problems, which Democrat runs for the presidency.

"I know them all," he said referring to President Johnson, and Senators Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy, and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. I've watched them all. Their differences are so minute they are almost invisible."

The philosophy of all, said

Valley Liquor to Build On Industrial Park Site

Groundbreaking Will be Held May 1 for $200,000 Warehouse-Office Complex

Plans for constructing a new $200,000 warehouse-office complex on a five-acre tract in the city's industrial park were announced today by the head of the Fox Valley Liquor Co.

The groundbreaking at the park, formerly the old county airport property before being purchased by the city, is set for May 1.

Gene B. Weiland, president of Fox Valley Liquor and the recently-formed Valley Liquor Distributing Co., Inc., said his firm has outgrown the facility it built on Wisconsin Avenue in 1966.

Weiland was the first to purchase property from the city when the airport property was earmarked for industrial and commercial purposes. With Aug. 15 the completion date for the new building, his firm also will be the first to begin operations there.

Earlier Groundbreaking

Previously, Appleton Mills held a groundbreaking and started to build a new $1 million plant.

Weiland said the new facility will be required by the two firms, of which he is president. When the expansion is completed they will be doing business in 19 counties.

Coming here to preside over the groundbreaking and to turn the first shovel of dirt will be Jack Musick, Windsor, Canada, president of Hiram Walker Co.

Fox Valley Liquor is the exclusive distributor for Hiram Walker in an eight-county area.

"With the formation of a second company," Weiland said, "we will also be dealing in different lines, along with hiring additional sales personnel."

The site of the proposed spacious warehouse-office complex is next to the Appleton Mills property and will be facing Glendale Avenue.

Green Bay Firm

The general contract for the huge structure, which will measure 120 by 250 feet and have 30,000 square feet of floor space, is Heyrman Steel Co. of Green Bay.

Weiland said the office section will be architecturally attractive with white brick frontage. The entire area will be landscaped.

The office will have 2,000 square feet of space and there will also be a special bond import room with 1,000 square feet. Weiland said the firm will import products from 11 foreign countries.

It will have 27,000 for general warehousing space.

The present building at 1802 W. Wisconsin Ave. will be rented out, Weiland said.

"We have outgrown our existing building," Weiland commented. "Everything is set for a new facility which should be a showcase in the industrial park."

'Junkets' Given County's Okay

After a 10-minute debate, the Outagamie County Board's Executive Committee authorized all five members of the Airport Committee to attend the annual state aeronautics conference.

However, the committee was told they could not charge for overnight lodging or for meals.

The conference will be held in Appleton May 9-10.

Trial Dates Set for Two Men Charged With Tipsy Driving

Appleton and Little Chute motorists had trial date set for them in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this morning after they pleaded innocent to charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

They were Alvin L. Gast, 29, 1325 W. Summer St., Appleton, and Paul Williamson, 18, 1204 E. Main St., Little Chute.

Outagamie County police arrested Gast on U. S. 10, at Bluemound Road, west of Appleton, about 2:45 a.m. April 3. He will stand trial June 10.

Little Chute police arrested Williamson about 12:45 a.m. March 26 on W. Main Street. His trial will be June 24. Both men posted $175 bonds.

Water Plant Cost Estimated At $1.7 Million

Consultant Urges Neenah to Start Soon on Expansion

NEENAH — The first stage of construction to increase the water plant's capacity by 5 million gallons per day will carry a price tag of $1,663,384.

Bruno J. Hartman, of Donohue and Associates, Inc., Sheboygan, hired by the water commission to survey the needs for coming decades, urged action on the new treatment facility so it could be in operation by 1971.

Hartman insisted the cost estimate was in line with projected construction costs. "I don't like low estimates," he said. "If the project can't stand on its merits, it shouldn't stand on price."

First Stage

However, the engineer added the first stage of the eventual 10 million gallon expansion would be the most expensive since it would include preparations for the second 5 million gallon plant, tentatively slated for the 1980's.

Pointing to the present seven million gallon capacity and the water needs projected for the next decade, Hartman said work should be started in the near future. The daily capacity was exceeded during six days of peak pumpage in 1966.

"The situation is not alarming," Hartman said, citing the sufficient water storage facilities in Neenah.

By 1970, peak pumpage will edge near 9 million gallons and by 1985, this figure will be close to the daily average and the top performance is anticipated around 14.7 million gallons.

Expansion of Runway Part of Port Outline

OSHKOSH — Airport Manager S. J. Wittman suggested several future projects for the Winnebago County Airport Monday, including extension of the new north-south runway to 7,500 feet.

The strip is now being built to 6,700 feet, with completion expected in several months. This length will accommodate North Central Airlines' DC-9 jets.

Wittman has been a promoter of the further extension of the airport's runway system, because of the future demands of the jet age.

At a meeting of the county's aviation committee, he said the length should be a minimum of 7,500 feet and also projected the need for an enlarged terminal, ramp area and parking area.

Other Projects

Other projects included the acquisition of land west of the Basler Flight Service, Inc., to Knapp Street, complete fencing around the airport, connecting taxiways, a lighted east-west taxiway and a revised zoning ordinance.

An immediate project for the airport is the tower relocation and Wittman said it will have an eye level 24 feet higher than it is now. An extra 1,000 feet of "seeing level" has been allowed, he said.

The tower is expected to be moved to its new location, south of its present site, in May.

Turning to the present terminal, aviation committee members decided to give Mike Goerlitz of Mike's Airport Grill a push to get his rental lease signed.

Goerlitz met with aviation committee members in December on the contract, and in February the committee authorized that the five year lease be drawn up.

Goerlitz had appeared in agreement with the provisions of the lease, but to date has not signed it.

Committee Chairman Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, said he had talked with Goerlitz who had said he would meet with his attorney to get the negotiation worked out.

New Terminal

Committee members also agreed Monday night that they should find out what specific interests Goerlitz has in a new terminal building.

But the first order of business is the lease on his present facility, and the committee therefore authorized Corporation Counsel Gerald Engeldinger to contact Goeriitz for negotiation of the contract by May 1.

The committee, in other business, authorized the county highway department to proceed with plans for construction of four cul de sacs on dead-end roads at the airport.

It also asked Engeldinger to prepare copies of permits for persons to occupy and use airport property for agricultural purposes.

Eight Blocks on W. Atlantic

Largest Street Reconstruction of 1968 Now Underway in Appleton

Reconstruction and widening of an eight-block stretch of W. Atlantic Street is well underway, City Engineer Robert Pfefferle reported today.

The overall project — installation of new sanitary sewers and paving — will cost $114,000 and represents the largest single public works program scheduled this year.

Because the street will be widened four feet, to 37 feet, it was necessary to cut down about 30 trees, Pfefferle said.

Major Artery

Pfefferle said Atlantic Street is one of the city's major traffic carriers.

The first phase of the reconstruction is being carried out by Central Construction Co., Oshkosh, which is laying sanitary sewers to replace those installed in 1895.

It was disclosed that in the area of the Packard Street ravine there has been a problem with trenching.

Surface Construction

"The ravine consists of a variety of fill and is unstable," Pferffele said. "Many of the old sewers have been sagging considerably due to lack of support."

The surface of Atlantic Street is of asphalt-oil-gravel construction.

Under terms of the contract issued to Weiseler Construction Co., Appleton, the new roadway will be concrete.

After completing the sewer work the trenches will be backfilled and allowed to settle for several weeks. Paving is expected to begin about July 1.

Pfefferle said the roadway will be open to traffic after the first phase of reconstruction.

"We don't anticipate any problems," Pfefferle said.

Champ Awards Sought At Gillingham School

NEENAH — Competition for a CHAMP award given each year jointly by the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the Kennedy Foundation, is underway with four boys taking final tests for their gold and silver emblems.

Al Goerlitz, instructor at Gillingham School, has Mike Sanderfoot only one test away from the Gold emblem and Kevin Koehn, Paul Hill and John Newman measuring up to Silver emblem qualifications.

These fitness awards are marks of achievement in the physical fitness program introduced in the educable classes of the Neenah Joint School District this fall.

Years Behind

"It is known that the educable retarded may be two to four years behind normal children in the development of physical fitness," Goerlitz explains.

"These deficiencies are caused by the restrictions placed on their activities, and there is convincing proof today that a vigorous program of physical education and recreation produces marked improvement in their abilities physically, as well as socially, emotionally and intellectually."

The physical education programs designed for the President's Physical Fitness awards for children in standard elementary schools are the basis for the retarded program, with four major differences.

Three of the seven test items have been modified for the retarded. The standards are determined from norms based on a large national sample of educable retarded children. The awards themselves are different, and, in addition to meeting standards, the participants are asked to spend a specified amount of time in physical activity outside of class hours.

The boys and girls achieve silver standards on five of the seven requirements, gold standards on any five of the seven items and go on to achieve all seven test items and engage in at least 30 hours of sports and recreational activity to become a Kennedy Foundation CHAMP.

The seven test items are: flexed arm hang, sit-ups, shuttle run, standing broad jump, 50 yard dash, softball throw for distance and 300 yard run-walk.

Special recreational activities can include swimming, ice skating, tennis, badminton, wrestling, basketball, skiing, hiking, climbing, roller skating, canoeing, gymnastics, touch football, jogging, horseback riding, bicycle riding, and overnight camping.

Board Okays Hiring 25 New Teachers

14 Resignations Accepted From Appleton Schools

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved hiring 25 new teachers for the 1968-69 school year and accepted 14 resignations.

The new instructors include 14 at the high school level, 10 elementary and one resource position. Nine teachers resigned from secondary posts, 4 from elementary and one resource.

William Spears, superintendent of Schools, had said about 12 vacancies still exist although there are applications for all open posts. The state deadline for existing teachers to return their contracts, signed or unsigned, was April 15.

Teachers signing for Appleton High School-East were John R. Biolo II, math; Mrs. Rozanne Tadych, French-Spanish, and Mrs. Sara Webb, English. Those to West were Carol Ann Arter, Spanish; and Steven P. Johnson, physics.

Junior High Teachers

Junior high instructors okayed were James A. Burmeister, industrial arts; James W. Cross, social studies; Glenn A. Denton, math; Lynn M. Gleixner, French; Susan Keene; Gary A. Krueger; Carleen A. Nordstrom, home economics; Mrs. Mary Putzer, English-social studies; and May C. Van Beek.

New elementary teachers in the primary division are Mrs. Betty Lou Peterson, Sherri R. Pettyjohn, Joyce L. Rickert, Mrs. Beatrice Rule, Shirley Wanty and Suzanne Streu.

Intermediate elementary instructors hired are Gary J. Finman, David A. Erickson, Ronald Lupien and Richard M. Van Heertum. Ingred M. Lange was hired as an elementary art instructor, a resource position.

Hearing Today on Sanitary District

MENASHA — Town of Menasha residents on the west side of Little Lake Butte des Morts will have an opportunity to discuss the proposed sanitary district extension at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. today at Spring Road School.

Towns Feel They Need Fire Truck

MENASHA — A new fire truck, which could cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, is needed for the joint volunteer fire departments of the towns of Neenah and Menasha, the fire chiefs feel.

However, the key to the purchase lies in the possibility of lower fire insurance rates and who will pay for the equipment.

Town officials of both Neenah and Menasha met Monday to discuss the purchase and decided to delay new equipment until the effects of insurance rates were known.

Burglar Empty-Handed After Store Break-in

A burglar went away empty-handed after breaking into Wisconsin Appliance Service, 904 W. Wisconsin Ave., over the weekend.

Appleton police, who were notified of the burglary Monday, said that entry into the building was gained by removing a storm window on the west side and then prying open an inside window. An office desk was rifled, but nothing appeared to be missing, police said.

Fishing Tackle Taken

Harold Lillge, 1526 N. Alvin St., reported to Appleton police Monday that about $45 worth of fishing equipment was stolen from his unlocked garage over the weekend.

Teachers Urge Menasha to Hire Negro

MENASHA — A proposal from the Menasha Teachers Union Local 1166 AFL-CIO to the board of education urging consideration of hiring a qualified Negro teacher for the 1968-69 school year was read and placed on file Monday night.

In his letter, President Barry Ewald stated "when our nation is facing strife, we often ask ourselves, what can I do about it. There are times when the course of action is not clear or when we just do not know of anything that we can do to help."

"At this time, however, it seems clear that there is something which can be done to ease the problems this country is having in larger urban areas," the letter continues.

The desirable effects which hiring a qualified Negro teacher might have, the letter sets forth, are "first, we can bring our children to see the problem close at hand in the hope that by the experience they might better cope with the problem when it is upon them."

Truck Overturns On Slippery Curve

Although the truck he was driving sustained considerable damage, Lloyd E. Fye, 39, 1225 Garfield Ave., Little Chute, was uninjured in an accident about 7 a.m. today on Outagamie County Trunk CC, just south of County Trunk JJ.

County police said that the truck Fye was driving went out of control on a slippery curve and tipped onto its side in a ditch. Two wreckers were needed to upright the vehicle.

The truck, owned by Arthur Simon, route 4, Appleton, is used to haul milk cans. The truck was nearly empty when the accident occurred. Police estimated damage at about $600 to the box and frame of the 1965 vehicle.

Board Asks Okay To Expand Schools

would be necessary to re-open Washington Elementary School. There would be "a great deal of population shifting" at Lincoln, Highlands and Franklin elementary schools, he said.

"We feel the attendance problems would offset any advantage of opening Washington," he said, noting it would probably fill one building but vacate another in the process.

Updated Plan

The updated five-year plan also calls for a $500,000 addition at Johnston or Jefferson elementary schools in 1970 and a $1.6 million elementary school in a north central or central location in 1971. No additional facilities are contemplated for 1972 in the revised plan.

The board did not feel the need was critical for the Jefferson or Johnston addition at this time and no further action was taken.

However, after considerable discussion board members agreed to add the possibility of a central location for a tentative elementary school in 1971.

Dr. Roy Whitney, in moving adoption of the revised five-year plan, suggested adding the central location possibility since population shifts that far in advance could not be confidently predicted.

Buchanan commented the updated five-year plan would not increase the city's bonded indebtedness. "The interest will not be any higher than it is now," he said.

Mobile Unit

The board also probed the possibility of using temporary mobile unit on Franklin but Spears indicated the strict Wisconsin Building Code and necessary expenditures make it undesirable.

The unit would be 20 by 38 feet and cost about $13,000, he said, but then there would be additional costs for footings, foundations and exit canopies. He estimated the total cost would be closer to $18,000.

The structures also must meet standards on distance from bathroom facilities and other requirements, he said. A unit would provide about 760 sq. feet of floor space compared to a "typical" elementary school with 1,080 sq. feet.

Ald. James Bethke (9th), a member of the ctiy council's school advisory committee, questioned if the board felt it was "wise to take action at this time" since the city is making a study of old McKinley, Jackson and Washington elementary schools to determine whether they can be renovated or are adequate.

Study Welcomed

Buchanan answered the board welcomed the study but had "long-range problems" to consider. "We have been moving toward larger elementary schools," he said, noting additions would produce these larger facilities, called more efficient in operating cost and better as an educational institution.

Ald. John M. Steidl (18th), Advisory Committee chairman, asked whether the board would consider taking over some rooms or a complete parochial school to ease pupil increases.

Renting vacant rooms create real "tough administrative problems," Buchanan said, but "we would look very carefully" at renting a whole building.

He noted there was precedent for this.

Board Asked To Improve City Schools

cited the "insufficient educational opportunities" afforded the pupils by the inadequate facilities.

He made special mention of the small library, lack of a multi-purpose room, lack of a gym and overall unsafeness of the building.

Colson questioned whether these conditions would make it difficult to secure adequate teachers for Jackson.

Mrs. Danford, who said she represented the AAUW legislative committee; urged updating Jackson or sending its students, particularly the upper grades, to a better facility.

The AAUW also is concerned about Roosevelt, she said.

Jackson also was cited by Mrs. Vernon Wiese, an interested parent, whose letter was read by Mrs. Helen Heil, board secretary. Mrs. Wiese also expressed concern about Columbus.

Esler Appoints Outagamie Board Subcommittees

Six subcommittees of the Executive Committee were named Tuesday morning by Outagamie County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, including a purchasing and general accounts subcommittee to replace the standing committee of the same name whcih was eliminated by the board last week.

Named to finance subcommittee were Supvs. Marvin Babbitt, Seymour; Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna; Norman Austin, Town of Oneida; Eugene Kloes, Appleton, and Esler.

Personnel subcommittee will consist of Babbitt, Esler and Patrick Heenan, Appleton. The purchasing subcommittee will be Babbitt, Esler and DeLa Hunt.

The civil defense subcommittee will be John Dietz, Appleton; Allen Bubolz, Appleton; Patrick Mares, Appleton, and Esler. Members of the appraisal subcommittee are Babbitt, Mares, Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, and Norman Helms, Towns of Cicero, Seymour and Village of Nichols.

Placed on the convention committee for the County Boards Association convention were DeLaHunt, DeBruin and Kloes. Esler said most of the board supervisors would be involved in some phase of the convention which will be held in Appleton this September.

Copper Wire Stolen From Salvage Yard

Some 200 to 300 pounds of copper wire, valued at $500 to $700, were stolen last Friday from J. Golper & Co., 425 S. Bounds St., Appleton police were informed Monday afternoon.

The heavy copper wire was in an iron drum on the northwest corner of the salvage yard, police said.

Teamsters Feel Effects Of Walkout

The strike of union masons in the Fox Valley has boomeranged on Teamsters Local 563.

Construction of the local's new office building on State 47 southwest of Appleton has been slowed to a snail's pace.

When the bricklayers and cement finishers struck the contractors' association April 8, it also meant bad news for the Teamsters building project along with hundreds of others in a 20-county area.

"It's just one of those things," remarked Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer of Local 563.

Among major building projects affected by the two-week old strike are the addition to Madison Junior High School and construction of McKinley southside elementary school.

Members of the Fox Valley Contractors Association will meet Wednesday to discuss a revised proposal to be considered by the masons.

Airline Balks Over Period For Payments

Air Wisconsin Asks 15 Years to Finance Hangar Alterations

Air Wisconsin officials have balked over the Outagamie County Board's decision to require payment of improvements at the airline's hangar over a five-year period, instead of over the remaining period of the lease on the building.

Karl Baldwin, president of the Appleton-based commuter airline, told the board's airport committee Monday night that with expansion of the company's air routes, the proposed five-year write-off on the planned $15,000 remodeling project would be financially difficult.

Plans are to remodel the second floor of the hangar to provide about 800 square feet of office space and to install an oil trap in the hangar to eliminate oil from the sewerage system.

15-Year Payment

The airport committee agreed to recommend to the board to extend the payment period over 15 years and to have Baldwin appear before the board to explain his position.

The committee also directed airport manager Charles Olson to make tie-down provisions for small airplanes both on the pavement and on the grass near the t-hangars. The county will charge $10 per month for tie downs on the pavement and $5 per month on the grass.

Hiring of a full time maintenance man also was discussed but no decision was made. A meeting with the personnel committee will be held to bring in a recommendation.

Miss Van Den Heuvel

Elks Contest Victor Named In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Elaine Van Den Heuvel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van Den Heuvel, 305 W. Eighth St., has been selected first place winner in the Kaukauna Elks Lodge 962 U.S. Constitution Contest.

The announcement came from Oscar Kunz, chairman of the Kaukauna Elks Youth Activities Committee.

A senior at Kaukauna High School, Miss Van Den Heuvel plans to attend Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

She now is eligible to compete in the Wisconsin U.S. Constitution Contest sponsored by the state Elks organization, set for 10:30 a.m. Saturday in Portage.

as a result of a price overcharging ruling involving five drug manufacturing firms.

In a letter to the committee, Eggert said the prescription information would be given to the state which would seek to recover the costs as a result of a federal court ruling.

Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath has ruled that a proposed subdivision control ordinance would cover all unincorporated areas in the county. However, he ruled that such an ordinance would not void any existing deed restrictions or covenants as long as those restrictions were as at least as restrictive as the subdivision ordinance.

His opinion had been requested by Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, a member of the Zoning Committee.

A proposed model subdivision control ordinance probably will be submitted to the county board in May and then referred to the zoning committee for study and revision.

Froehlich Appointed Chairman of Wisconsin Republican Convention

Republican State Chairman Ody J. Fish today announced that he has appointed Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, Appleton, to serve as permanent chairman for the 1968 state GOP Convention in Madison on May 24th and 25th.

Froehlich, who represents Outagamie County's 1st District, is an announced candidate for re election; he is seeking a fourth consecutive term.

Fish also announced the appointment of State Sen. Allen J. Busby, Milwaukee, as a parliamentarian for the convention.

Buckley Raps School Board Building Plans

to come in but the school board seems to continue to drive the tax rate up and people out," Buckley continued.

Charles Buchanan, school board president, called City Clerk Elden Broehm this morning and wanted to have the board's latest building and spending proposals for capital outlays put before the city council at a special committee of the whole meeting the night of May 1.

Regular Meeting

The council has a regular meeting that night and Broehm told Buchanan to contact Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), who is council president and chairman of the finance committee.

In the meantime, several city officials observed the school board's move to proceed to hire an architect was "pushing things too far" and predicted that pending resolutions on bond issue referendums would be reported out of committee.

Proposals call for referendums on all future bond issues. Some aldermen have hinted the proposals may be amended to cover school projects, noting that several communities in the state now conduct school building referendums.

New Chancellor Sets Faculty Colloquium

University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Chancellor Edward W. Weidner will be in residence Wednesday at the UW-Fox Valley Campus.

Weidner will conduct a faculty colloquium on his recent world travels. The colloquium will meet at 3 p.m., with the rest of the day given over to appointments and talks with individual faculty members and students.

4 Charged In Kaukauna Glass Damage

Four New London and Hortonville area youths, who last week were placed on one year probation in Waupaca County, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon on four charges each of criminal damage to property in Kaukauna.

The youths, whose cases were continued to Tuesday afternoon for the entering of pleas, are Peter Carmody, 18, route 2, Hortonville; Eugene Fink, 19, route 1, New London; John Jolly, 18, 1323 Division St., New London: and Robert Muskevitch, 19, 324 E. Quincy St., New London.

The youths were charged, following investigation by county authorities, with damaging display windows at four Kaukauna business places on April 4. Sheriff's investigators alledged that the damage was caused by the use of air rifles.

Investigators said that more than $1,100 damage was done to windows at Haas Hardware Co., Verfurth's Shoe Store, Coffey Motors, and Gustman Chevrolet Sales. Authorities said that a truck window also was damaged at Gustman's.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer found Carmody, Fink, and Jolly indigent, and appointed Appleton attorney Jerome Block to represent them at county expense. Muskevitch was advised to hire his own attorney when it was learned during an indigency hearing that he has $940 in a bank.

Schaefer said that because of the seriousness of the charges, he felt an attorney should be named. Schaefer set bonds at $400 for each of the four youths.

The youths were placed on probation last week in Waupaca County on charges of criminal damage to property and theft.

Byrnes is ". . . spend . . . appropriate . . . borrow . . ."

The Republican Party has a grave responsibility, he went on. We must "cure the long Democratic drunk . . . we can't shrink from the nasty job."

Caucus Chairman Richard Boltz, 8th District GOP chairman, listed the number of delegates to the state convention from each county. Brown heads the list with 82, followed by Outagamie with 66, Manitowoc with 46, Marinette, 23, Door, 19, Oconto, 18 and Kewaunee 14.

Eighth District representatives on four standing convention committees were also named. They are: Credentials — Roy Willman, Marinette and Mary Strange, Outagamie; Rules — Fred Kaimbach, Kewaunee, and Cecilia Schmidt, Oconto; Resolutions — William Heerman, Outagamie, Virginia Severson, Brown; Platform — James Byrnes, Door and Robert Warren, Brown.

The caucus also adopted a resolution on Vietnam which avoided any controversy. It called for avoiding any resolution at the state convention which would interfere with peace talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam, and urged finding a solution to the war and an honorable peace.

Other resolutions sought cooperation of all facets of American life to combat the problems of the major urban centers; called for fiscal reforms to halt the deficit spending for "guns, butter and jam;" and seeking a tax reform which will include increasing the personal federal income tax exemption from the present $600 per dependent.

Other resolutions praised Byrnes and Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

In addition to those candidates asking for endorsement, the caucus was attended by Assemblymen Lawrence Kafka and Jerome Quinn, Brown County; Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, Outagamie; Lawrence Johnson, Door-Kewaunee; and Milton McDougal, Oconto-Langlade, and State Sens. Gerald Lorge, Outagamie, and Alex Muenier, Door.

Glue on the Sales Slips For a Shopping Bag Stunt

BY CAPPY DICK

Yesterday's fun-project directions told how to make a target game using a shopping bag as part of the equipment. Today's project also involves a shopping bag, but instead of a game being made from it the bag becomes a place for keeping an accurate record of grocery purchases.

The idea is shown in the adjoining illustrations. The sales slips received at the checkout counter of the market are glued to the outside of the bag as a means of decorating it.

Cover the Bag

The sales slips are important to Mother, of course, and should not be glued to the shopping bag until she has inspected them. Once she has turned them over to you for your project, proceed to glue them neatly to the bag.

When the entire outside of the bag has been covered, continue the project on a new shopping bag.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, April 23, the 114th day of 1968. There are 252 days left in the year.

On this date in 1838, the first regular transatlantic steamship service was inaugurated as the "Sirius" and "Great Western" arrived in New York from England

On this date:

In 1564, William Shakespeare was born. He died on the same date in 1616.

In 1789, President-elect and Mrs. George Washington moved into the first presidential mansion at the corner of Franklin and Cherry streets in New York.

In 1792, the French national anthem, La Marseillaise, was written

In 1940, more than 200 persons died in a dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss

In 1941, during World War II, King George II of Greece fled to the island of Crete. A German armored division had broken through the Thermopylae Pass.

In 1946, a strike by government employes in Palestine ended when the workers were granted higher wages.

Ten years ago — The French Ministry of Defense said 62,000 rebels and 6,000 French troops had been killed since the start of the Algerian rebellion four years earlier.

Five years ago — A white demonstrator for Negro civil rights, William A. Moore, was shot and killed on a road near Attalla, Ala.

Attic Theatre Tells Officers for '68 Season

Anne K. Glasner Re-elected President; J. C. Mills, Mrs. James Auer Named

The board of governors of The Attic Theatre, Inc., has announced the re-election of Mrs Anne K. Glasner, 127 E. Capitol Dr., as its president for the current year.

James C. Mills, 1066 Reed St., Neenah, was elected the new vice president, and Mrs. James

Anne Glasner

M. Auer, 209 Linden Ct., Neenah, was re-elected secretary

At the annual meeting of the general membership, three members were returned to the board and two new members elected. Mrs. Auer, Boyd Payne, 171 Plummer Ct., Neenah, and Mrs. Don C. Smith, 1702 Ravinia Place, are the returning governors.

2 New Governors

New governors are Philip La Borde, 2917 E. Wisconsin Road, and Bartley L. Munson, 1320 N. Durkee St.

In addition, Mrs. H. H. Des Marais, 1208 Manitowoc Road, Menasha, was chosen to fill the unexpired term of a retiring member.

Attic is served by a board of 15 governors, each serving three-year terms, with five elected each year.

Other members of the current board are Mrs. William P. Casey, 409 Edgewood Drive, Neenah; F. Theodore Cloak, 1515 S. Alicia Drive; Mrs. Jules N. La Rocque, 11 Bellaire Court; Charles A. Schuman, 429 E. Grant St.; Urban P. Van Susteren, 1107 E. Nawada; Mrs. John I. Vlossak, 1044 E. Eldorado St.; and Carl Wenzel, 45 Woodmere Court.

Season Opens June 22

Attic's season, its 19th, will open Saturday, June 22, in Lawrence University Music-Drama Center.

Don Jones, managing director for the past six seasons, will be assisted by Tom Jacobs as music director, Richard Dixon and Dennis Dorn as co-technical directors.

The well-known comedy-thriller "Arsenic and Old Lace" will begin the season, staged in four-sided arena style in the Experimental Theater. "Teahouse of the August Moon" will follow, opening July 13 in Stansbury Theater.

Musical Last of Series

Action will switch back to the arena stage for the suspense-filled "Night Must Fall," beginning July 27. The musical "Pajama Game" will close the summer program, playing in Stansbury from Aug. 17 through 29.

Pre-season coupon sales will begin in mid-May under the chairmanship of Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Donald F. Anderson, 1018 Whittier Dr.

Attic will again conduct a summer-long junior workshop program for boys and girls age 15 and over. Interview dates for applicants will be announced early in June.

Marlon Brando Quits Films for Rights Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Marlon Brando, stepping out of starring roles in two motion pictures, says he will devote his full energies to civil rights.

The announcement came four days after Brando appeared at the Oakland, Calif., funeral of Bobby Hutton, 17, a militant Black Panther killed in a gun battle.

Brando, until recently, was set for starring roles in Elia Kazan's "The Arrangement" and a Western, "Sundance Kid and Butch Cassidy." But the actor said Tuesday, "There are issues facing us with which I think everyone ought to concern himself first and foremost."

"I don't feel that I can do two things successfully at one time," Brando said in a statement.

A spokesman for Warner Bros.-Seven Arts, where "The Arrangement" will be filmed, said Brando was "devastated" by the recent assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

This stars Noel Harrison who sings the title song and bounces from act to act along with a bevy of mini-skirted models and dancers. Included are Cher Bono who sings "Sunny" to a background of her husband's photos; Barbara McNair who belts "Don't Rain on My Parade," and comedian Don Adams who plays an Indian Guru and author of "How To Make A Million From Meditation." Among the musical groups are The Association, The Byrds, Tommy, Jimmy, Marilyn and Mitch and Don Peake's Band. (C)

9:30-10 (Channel 2) — Cinematographer Warren Forma accepted the formidable task of doing a film essay on one of the world's best known photographers and came up with a gem worthy of both men in The Weapons of Gordon Parks. The subject is a celebrated Negro photographer, artist, author, musician, philosopher and crusader. In the latter category, Parks is not particularly vocal, preferring, as the title suggests, to use the pen and camera lens to get across his message. The program traces his own harsh and humble beginnings, and touches on many of the outstanding and often heart-breaking photo essays he has produced. (C)

7:30-8:30 (Channels 11-9) — Old-timer Henry Wilcoxen gives a nostalgic twinge to It Takes a Thief. In the movies he has always been cast as the "good guy" but tonight, in a rare TV appearance, he plays the heavy, a scheming prime minister who uses Mundy to help assassinate a king without Mundy knowing it. The clever story has Mundy assigned to return a jeweled globe to a coronation after a kleptomaniac American heiress had stolen it. (C)

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7) — There is a certain appeal to the slapstick artistry of Mickey Rooney that is magnified by the buffonery of Red Skelton as this offering of The Red Skelton Hour shows. The main skit is a spoof on ancient Roman life with Mickey playing Julius Caesar and Red as Forsooth, a water boy at a public bath. Energetic Lana Cantrell is also featured in a production number to "Bonnie and Clyde" and soloing "I'm Falling In Love Again." (C)

8-10 (Channel 5) — "That Funny Feeling" on Tuesday Night at the Movies is little less than absolute and almost hysterical confusion. Sandra Dee plays an aspiring actress currently working as a cleaning woman. When she meets an influential young publisher Bobby Darin she tries to impress him by bringing him to an apartment she works on which just happens to be his. Donald O'Connor, Larry Storch, Leo G. Carroll and Robert Strauss are featured. (C)

The For-Mor Quartet from Madison is one of the headliners in the Harmony Hoe Down being presented on Appleton High-West stage Saturday night by the Appleton SPEBSQSA chapter. Organized in 1948 and singing together ever since are bass Elwood Davidson, left, lead Kenny Davidson, baritone Harry Nesberg and tenor Don Riug. This foursome has traveled about 850,000 miles in its 20 years together, performing at nearly 1,000 barbershop shows in 38 states and several Canadian provinces. They are so much in tune that they never use a pitch pipe.

Jaycees to Spend $1,000 to Buy Park Equipment

COMBINED LOCKS — The Combined Locks Junior Chamber of Commerce will spend approximately $1,000 to purchase playground equipment for the recently dedicated Jaycee Park.

The park was dedicated to the Jaycees Oct. 15 last year when the chapter was chartered by the state organization.

Members said they are hopeful to have the park open for play in early June with the installation of the new equipment.

The playground equipment project is the second part of a three-phase program which began late last fall with the grading and landscaping of the park bordered by Stephen, Jean and Richard streets in the village.

A fence also was erected by village crews along with sidewalks around the perimeter of the park.

Tonsil Removal by Radium Dangerous

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you give your opinion on radium treatment for removal of tonsils? Our family doctor says no, they might not regulate it just right and cause a burn or other harm.

I have talked to several people who have had theirs removed this way, and they say it's the only way. — H.A.L.

My opinion is no.

I have tried consistently — most recently only a few days ago — to persuade people not to fear the brief exposures involved in whatever X-ray examinations they may need.

But in the same breath I am just as intent on people avoiding all X-ray (or similar) exposure that is not necessary.

There certainly is no justification for exposing patients' throats to the amount of radium that would be necessary to destroy tonsils.

I would also protest against taking the opinion of "people" rather than of your doctor who knows the situation.

In addition, I am interested to know how you came to talk to several people who have had this radium procedure. In my 35 years of experience I cannot recall having seen a person who has had this done. Radium may have been thus dangerously used years ago, but it is not, to my knowledge, being so used now.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please send me the booklet, "Tips on How to Stop Smoking," for which I enclose 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Also, I would like to know why my EKG gets worse each time I have one taken. Of the last five, each has been worse than the one before. — Mrs. J.H.

You'll have to ask your own doctor, because he has examined you and I haven't. But putting two and two together, I would suspect that smoking may be one factor, for there is every indication that smoking does affect the heart — and the EKG is reacting accordingly.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem write to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Perillo Gets Top Post at Heritage Home

New Administrator Held Similar Job At Neenah for Year

Anthony Perillo, who served as administrator of the Neenah Family Heritage Home for a year, has assumed the same position at the Appleton Family Heritage Home.

Perillo, who also serves as coordinator for the Family Heritage Corporation, which has six homes throughout the state, has been with the corporation since 1965.

Prior to his position at Neenah, he had started the Family Heritage Home in Wisconsin Rapids.

The St. Paul native attended the University of Minnesota. He is a member of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Nursing Home Association, and the Kiwanis and Elks Clubs.

The Appleton nursing home presently is in the process of building an addition which will house the physical therapy department, activities room and the administrative unit. A greenhouse also will be added. A May 15 completion date has been set.

Of the 99 beds in the home, 75 are presently occupied. A total of 5 are extended care beds.

Youth Found Guilty; License Is Revoked For Traffic Offense

Gregory W. Pfunder, 17, 1007 N. Richmond St., was found guilty Monday afternoon of failing to stop for a stop sign Jan. 3 at N. Mason and W. Frances streets.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer, who heard the case without a jury, revoked Pfunder's driver's license for 60 days and ordered him to pay court costs.

Pfunder had pleaded innocent to the charge brought after his car was involved in an accident with an auto driven by Eugene Otto, 524 W. Pershing St.

Milwaukee Youth Jailed; Fined on Traffic Charges

Ronald Phelps, 18, Milwaukee, was sentenced to 10 days in jail and was fined $55 and costs or another 13 days in jail Monday after he pleaded guilty of traffic offenses committed last July 28.

The mandatory 10 days in jail was imposed after Phelps pleaded guilty of driving after his license was revoked. The fines were for passing in a restricted zone and using another person's driver's license.

State police arrested Phelps on U.S. 45 near State 76 last July 28. He displayed the driver's license of another Milwaukee youth and it was on the basis of information on that license that police issued the ticket for the passing violation.

Police later learned that it was the wrong license, and tracked Phelps down in Milwaukee. He is serving a jail term in Milwaukee on traffic offenses.

Trading Active On Wall Street

Motors, Electronics All Post Gains In Strong Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued its advance in active trading this afternoon.

The ticker tape at the New York Stock Exchange lagged as much as six minutes at the start but caught up by noon.

At noon the Dow Jones industrial average was up 5.72 points at 897.71.

Gains outnumbered losses by nearly 3 to 1.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.4 at 323.1, with industrials up 3.4, rails up .2, and utilities off .2.

Control Data was up 4½ points. IBM was up 9¼.

Scoring gains of more than a point were Occidental Petroleum, "Automatic" Sprinkler, Monogram Industries, and Sanders.

Polaroid was up 2⅝ and U.S. Industries gained 2¾. Xerox was up 2¾.

Motors were up as a group, with Chrysler, Ford and General Motors each gaining more than a point. American Motors was up ⅛.

Among aircraft stocks, United was up 1¾, and Boeing was up ⅝. General Dynamics was off ¼.

The electronics group was up with RCA, Raytheon and Sperry Rand all gaining a point or more. Zenith was up ⅜.

The market showed strength right at the opening. Brokers said it got early impetus from rumors that a site for Vietnam peace talks had been agreed on. The State Department quickly denied the rumors.

The market drew later strength from a statement by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that he hoped peace talks "will begin soon, perhaps even this week."

Prices generally were up on the American Stock Exchange.

Man Found Guilty Of Buying Beer For Teen-Agers

Richard W. Bragg, 22, 623 S. State St., who last Friday pleaded innocent to a charge of buying and furnishing beer for minors, changed his plea to no contest and was found guilty in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer continued the case to April 30 to allow time for a pre-sentence investigation by the State Department of Health and Social Services. He continued bond at $100.

Appleton police said that Bragg bought a case of beer April 11 for four youths ages 15 through 17. Police found the beer in a car occupied by Bragg and the four youths when they were investigating a complaint of reckless driving on Wisconsin Avenue near N. Richmond Street the night of April 11. A 17-year-old Appleton boy was driving the car.

Bragg told the court Monday that the four youths gave him money to purchase the beer, which was not opened when police found it in the vehicle. Bragg's trial was to have been May 2.

New Office To Open at High Cliff

SHERWOOD — Conversion of a former supper club "the Cliffs," into the High Cliff State Park office is expected to be completed by Memorial Day, according to park manager Jon Warren.

Presently park administration is being conducted from the house formerly occupied by the park manager at the park's upper level. The house will be vacated.

Several park buildings are scheduled to be razed in the near future including the small house and outbuildings, south of the present office. This was part of the Emery Schilling property and served as the first park manager's residence. The blacksmith shop, formerly part of the Western Lime and Cement complex, which was damaged by vandals, will be razed along with the two former Friedauer buildings.

Karl Kuhn has purchased rights to salvage material from the buildings previously owned by Norbert Schwabenlander and the remainder is expected to be burned by the local fire department for a practice session.

Kimberly Boy Suffers Head Bump in Mishap

KIMBERLY — Joseph Van Nuland, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Nuland Jr., 503 E. Maes Ave., suffered a bump on the head about 5:45 p.m. Saturday when he darted into the road and collided with a car being driven west on Maes Avenue.

According to police, Jeff Vanden Heuvel, 17, 909 E. First St., driver, had no chance to avoid the mishap. Vanden Heuvel took the youth to the doctor for examination.

Lutheran Pastor Participates In 3-Day Catholic Devotions

KAUKAUNA — A Lutheran minister from Appleton will participate in a three-day program of prayer and devotion this weekend at St. Aloysius Catholic Church.

The Rev. Christian Thearle, pastor, Trinity Lutheran, will be one of three speakers at a study session at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. His topic is "Bible on Christian Unity."

The other two speakers Saturday discussing the Word of God, will be the Rev. Thomas Dillenburg, associate pastor, St. Mary, Chilton, whose topic is "The Bible on Conversion," at 9 a.m., and the Rev. Kurt Gessner, OFM Cap., Monte Alverno Retreat House, Appleton, who will speak on "The Bible and the Church" at the 2 p.m. session.

After each talk the audience will divide into discussion groups.

Friday, the first day of the event which replaces the traditional 40 hours devotion, will be the Day of Atonement. The sacrament of penance will be observed at 2 and 8:15 p.m.

Sunday will be devoted to the eucharist and thanksgiving. A dinner and concelebrated mass will climax the event.

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Sam Anderson stole the show at the Elks Club Monday night, not an easy feat when surrounded by a bevy of distinguished guests.

But the Exalted Ruler of the Elks, in nervously opening the seventh annual Elks Sports Award Dinner, solemnly declared, "Tonight we are honoring Paul Taylor. . ."

It brought down the house and set the tone for an evening of general hilarity, guided by toastmaster Lloyd Larson and climaxed by Henry Jordan's pronouncement that though honored guests Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor were once known as "Thunder and Lightning" they are now "Cloudy and Drizzle."

The reunion for Hornung and Taylor, who led the Packers to four world championships before being dealt under rather fuzzy circumstances to New Orleans a year ago, was characterized by Larson as the night the Saints came marching in.

Daley in Hospital

Honored along with the famed Packer duo was Art Daley, former sports editor and now wire editor of the Press-Gazette. Unfortunately, Daley missed the affair, being confined to St. Vincent Hospital with a sinus infection. Ironically, in 24 years of covering the Packers, both home and away, Daley missed only one game, that on Sept. 15, 1947, when his son, Mike, was born.

Each of the three received a large plaque and standing ovation from the crowd of 700 people jammed into the upper hall of the Elks Club.

The award to Hornung was "In recognition of your brilliant career as one of the greatest all-around players in National Football League history and in particular appreciation for your inspirational leadership."

Taylor's award was "In recognition of you supreme talent as one of the greatest ground gainers in the history of the National Football League and in appreciation for the many thrilling moments you have provided for Green Bay fans."

Vince Sends Message

The award to Daley read, "In appreciation of the talent, effort, tears and smiles you brought to us during your many years of reporting Packer news and in recognition of the many sevices you provided to this community in your long career as sports editor of the Press-Gazette.

Shawano Gains 7-2 Triumph Over Kaukauna

Bill Gipp Pitches 3-Hitter in M-E's 1968 Opening Game

KAUKAUNA — Shawano High School's Indians rallied for three runs in the fifth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock and went on to post a 7-2 triumph over Kaukauna in the Mid-Eastern Conference baseball opener Monday afternoon.

The loss left the Ghosts with a 1-3 over-all record.

Bill Gipp went all the way to pick up the victory, allowing just three hits and no walks. He fanned five. Loser Dave La Borde also hurled the full seven frames, giving up five hits. Six walks and some faulty fielding (five errors) by the Ghosts proved La Borde's downfall.

Score 2 in Third

The Indians, defending M-E champions, got on the scoreboard first by tallying twice in the third inning on a walk to Randy Zastrow, Mike Tomashek's double, a wild pitch and a throwing error to the plate.

Kaukauna came back in the fourth to tei it on run-scoring singles by Bruce Specht and Al Borchard tafter a walk to Kurt Luedtke and an error on Mike Grogan's grounder in the infield.

Shawano then took advantage of hits by Zastrow and Gipp, a walk, a wild pitch and another error to score three times in the fifth. Stu Druckery's single, an infield out, and three errors accounted for the final two Shawano runs in the seventh.

Earl Battey Accepts Post As Consultant

NEW YORK (AP) — Earl Battey, who retired from the Minnesota Twins after 12 years in the majors, accepted a job Monday as baseball consultant to Consolidated Edison Co

Battey, 33, will help run the power company's part of a baseball-community relations program

Part of his job will be to answer questions from youngsters who are admitted free to New York Yankee home games. He will be with the youngsters from an hour before the game until it ends.

The Yankees are providing 5,000 free bleacher seats for most of its home games to children from underprivileged neighborhoods

While working with Con Ed, Battey will continue to serve as athletic specialist at Children's Village, the national treatment center for emotionally disturbed youth at nearby Dobb's Ferry.

Xavier's Trackmen Score 85 Points in Whipping Omro High

OMRO — Appleton Xavier notched firsts in 10 events and tied for first in another, as the Hawks overpowered Omro, 85-33, in a dual track meet Monday afternoon.

The Hawks recorded sweeps in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the 880-yard run as they dominated the nine running events in the meet. Omro picked up its only first places and most of its points in the field events.

Sprinter Brad Graff was a double winner for the Hawks, coming home first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. He also anchored the Xavier 880-relay team to victory.

Other Xavier victors included Dave Lang in the high hurdles; Tom Oates in the mile; Mike Ferron in the 440; Lee Hartzheim in the ½-mile; Bob Knoll in the discus; the quartet of Gary Nack, Jim Eisner, Dan Bleier, and Graff in the 880-relay; plus the foursome of Ted Wenning, Tom Van Susteren, Jim Knapstein and Ed Wenning in the mile relay.

Dick Drobnick, Ed Smietanski and Tom Jackson captured sole firsts for the Foxes in field events, and Steve Hoeft tied Xavier's Jim Wachtendonk for the top spot in the high jump.

IOC Votes South Africa Out of Olympic Games

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — South Africa is out of the Mexico City Olympic Games, the International Olympic Committee said today.

The IOC said it has received the necessary minimum of 36 votes approving its recommendation to withdraw South Africa's invitation.

An IOC spokesman said at least 38 of the IOC's 71 members have thus far voted in favor of barring South Africa, thus ensuring the necessary simple majority.

The vote was based on an appeal made by an emergency session of the IOC's executive board Sunday urging all IOC members to agree to the withdrawal of an invitation to South Africa.

This reversed the postal vote taken in Grenoble, France, during the Winter Olympics which re-admitted South Africa to the Olympic Games with a majority of three.

Versalles Hero Again as Dodgers Trip Pirates, 5-3

Phils Edge Giants in 10th, 2-1

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Zoilo Versalles, turned hunter again, used a Bull to bag a Moose, and came home with the limit for the second straight day.

The Los Angeles Dodgers shortstop capped a three-run ninth-inning rally with a two-run triple off reliever Bob Moose that shot down Pittsburgh 5-3 Monday night.

"I used the Bull—that's Al Ferrara's bat," said Versalles, describing his weapon.

"This way we keep him in the line-up," he added, referring to the absence of Ferrara, who is out with a broken ankle.

Versalles, far off the mark in 1967 after leading Minnesota to the American League pennant in 1966 by shooting down pitcher after pitcher, appears back on target now after last winter's trade to the Dodgers.

Close to RBI Lead

He is only hitting .154, but the big hits are returning. He drove in four runs, including a game-winning two run double in the ninth inning Sunday and now has 11 runs batted in, close to the National League lead.

Cookie Rojas was the top marksman in the only other NL game as he set up one run with a hit and then singled home the winning run with one out in the 10th inning to give Philadelphia a 2-1 victory over San Francisco.

Versalles took aim at a Moose fast ball after singles by Tom Haller and Len Gabrielson and a tying double by Wes Parker. Using Ferrara's 32-ounce bat, which is two or three ounces lighter than his own, Versalles smacked a drive over center fielder Matty Alou's head.

The Pirates, aided when Willie Davis dropped a fly ball, scored twice in the sixth inning for a 3-2 lead against Jim Grant, who came to the Dodgers with Versalles. Moose protected

The Kimberly High School track team defeated Appleton East, 64-54, Monday in the first meet held on the Patriots' new track.

In recording their second straight outdoor meet victory, the Papermakers captured eight firsts, to six for East.

Each team produced one double winner. Kimberly sophomore Tom Vander Velden won both sprints — taking the "100" in 10 7 seconds and capturing the "200" in :23.8.

East's Bill King dominated the hurdles — winning the 120-yard highs in :16.1 and the 190-yard lows in :21.2.

The Patriots took all three places in the pole vault to register the only slam. Cliff Tierney and Bob Manwell both cleared 12 feet but Tierney won on fewer misses. Sophomore Jeff Mueller cleared 11 feet to complete the sweep.

Kimberly won both relay events. In the 880, Steve Van Hout, Jeff Vanden Heuvel, Steve Dupont and Tim Vander Velden combined for the victory. In the mile relay, Tom Thiel, Mark Ristau, Jerry Hurst and Mark Williams scored the victory for Kimberly.

The Papermakers' next meet will be against Green Bay Premontre, Thursday afternoon at Kimberly.

Earl Lloyd One of UW Post Candidates

By ARTHUR L. SRB

MADISON (AP)—Earl Lloyd, 40-year-old Negro who once played with Syracuse and Detroit in the National Basketball Association, has been sought out by the University of Wisconsin as a possible replacement for Basketball Coach John Erickson.

Lloyd and three other finalists from a field of about 70 applicants were interviewed by the University's athletic Board Monday night.

Also going before the panel were head basketball coaches Robert Knight of Army, Jack Hartman of Southern Illinois University and Ray Krzoska of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Slated for interviews tonight were Coach Jim Harding of La Salle University of Philadelphia and Erickson's two assistants, John Powless and Dave Brown.

Admits Surprise

Lloyd, who would become the first Negro basketball coach in the Big Ten if chosen by Wisconsin, admitted he was surprised when the university asked him to apply for the job.

"I almost fainted when they called," Lloyd commented. "Obviously, I'm interested. This would be a great challenge "

The coaching vacancy opens May 1 when Erickson, after nine years as Wisconsin's head coach, steps out to assume the general managership of Milwaukee's new NBA entry.

Lloyd said he didn't think his race would handicap him in the recruitment of white athletes, and that it would be an asset in luring young Negro players to his school.

The 6-foot-6 Lloyd played in the NBA with Syracuse from 1952-58 and with Detroit from 1958-60. He was assistant coach and head scout for Detroit from 1960-65 before becoming a public relations man for a Detroit firm.

3 Years at Army

Knight, 27, compiled a 51-21 record in the last three years as head coach at Army. His cadets this year were 20-5 and played in the National Invitational Tournament

Knight was a member of Ohio State's National Collegiate Athletic Association championship team in 1960, and played on Big Ten conference championship teams in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Hartman, 42, has been Southern Illinois' coach for six seasons, compiling a record of 115 wins and 46 defeats. He guided his team to the NIT title in 1967.

Hartman decided to investigate the Wisconsin opening, he said, even though "I have a good job with a fine school."

Krzoska is in his fifth year at UWM The Panthers were 16-11 last season and have never had a losing season under Krzoska

Hardin, in his first year at La Salle, previously coached at Loyola of New Orleans, Gannon College in Erie, Pa., and Marquette High School in Milwaukee

His La Salle club went to the NCAA tournament last season.

Powless and Brown, both 35, have been Erickson's assistants since September 1963

Thunder-Lightning Reunited

Business Ventures Keep Hornung Busy; 'No Regrets' – Taylor

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Football's fabled "thunder and lightning" were reunited here Monday night — but not for long.

Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor, feted at the seventh annual Elks Sports Award Dinner as they returned to the scene of their Packer triumphs, shortly will take divergent paths for the first time in a decade.

Running mates in the Green Bay backfield from 1958 through 1966, they continued their association with the fledgling New Orleans Saints last season — Taylor as the Louisianans' No 1 fullback and Hornung, forced into premature retirement by a chronic neck injury, as an assistant coach.

Back With Saints

The granite-like Bayou Bronco, still an awesome specimen, will be back in New Orleans silks in '68, but the freewheeling Hornung, a walking corporation, does not expect to grace the Saint scene.

"I don't have enough time to be an assistant coach," Hornung explained at a pre-dinner press conference, and proceeded to enumerate an imposing number of ventures which now or shortly will claim his attention.

Presently engaged in public relations for an auto company and a food franchising concern, the erstwhile Golden Boy confided, "I'm living in New Orleans now, but what happens next depends on what Chevrolet wants me to do."

A television sportscaster on a part-time basis last football season, Hornung said, "I don't know whether I'll be doing any TV this year. I've had a few overtures from Houston and Chicago to do a sports show, and I'm going to listen to both of them."

Not Only Projects

These are not, it develops, his only projects at the moment. "I'm going to talk to some people in Hollywood next week about an offer to star in a movie, he said. "I just got the script last week and read it. It's a James Bond type of thing."

"I did a bit part in a movie last year that will be coming out in May," Paul added. "It's called 'Devil's Bridge.' It's just a little cameo role — about four minutes."

The swashbuckling blond, who still holds the National Football League's all-time single season scoring record, further informed, "I'm in an investment company with two people in Green Bay."

Taylor, who says he hopes to play "another two or three years," likewise has ventured into the commercial arena, but on a less diversified scale.

"I'm getting some construction started in my home town," the 32-year-old LSU alumnus reported. "My partner and I are building some apartments in Baton Rouge."

Some Coaching

"After I quit playing football, I may do some coaching, but I'm looking forward to living in Baton Rouge."

Playing with an expansion team has not been without its problems, Taylor freely admits, although he says he has "no regrets" about having cast his lot with the Saints last year after playing out his option. "I'm very happy there," he matter-of-factly reported.

"Certainly, it was different playing with New Orleans last season," he conceded. "I enjoyed it — it was quite an experience to be with an expansion team, with all the young players."

"I wasn't pleased with my season," Taylor soberly observed. "Being hurt (he was troubled by a foot injury for more than a month), you never are. I never have been content with any year I've had."

Lance Alwin Sets Vike Freshman Shot Put Record

Lance Alwin, of Fort Atkinson, has established a new freshman shot-put record at Lawrence University.

Alwin tossed the shot 48 feet, 1¼ inches to erase the old mark of 47 feet 1½ inches which was set by Paul Henningsen.

Hill Captures Tony Lema Tourney Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — It took the help of an amateur, but Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo., reigns as champ of the second annual Tony Lema Memorial Golf Tournament today.

Hill beat a strong field Monday to shoot a 68 and take the title after getting a lesson from his amateur partner, Bob Goldwater, brother of 1964 Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater.

On the first hole, Hill said, Goldwater told him about a weakness in his swing. He straightened it out and shot rounds of 32 and 36 over the par-71 course. First prize was a new car.

Tied for second at 70 were Dave Stockton of San Bernardino, Calif., Bob Rosburg, St. Louis, George Bayer, Incline Village, Nev., and Ray Floyd, St. Andrews, Ill.

The tourney is named after the California golfer who was killed in a plane crash in 1966.

Kaukauna Golf Team Posts Win Over Kimberly

KAUKAUNA — Mike Derus of Kaukauna High School recorded a sparkling 35 to lead the Ghosts to a 168-178 golf victory over Kimberly in the season-opening match for both teams at Oakwood Hills Monday afternoon.

Steve Montei was low for the Papermakers with a 40.

Individual scores:

Kaukauna (168) Mike Derus 35, Kuchelmeister 41, Steve Wildenberg 44, Behnke 48, Schneider 50.

Kimberly (178) Dan Wildenberg 49, Hubers 43, Steve Montei 40, Quella 46, Kelderman 49.

Two Top Negro Trackmen Have Second Thoughts

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — Payton Jordan, head track coach of the U.S. Olympic team, says the recommendation of the International Olympics Committee executive board to exclude South Africa "will obviously help our team."

The Stanford head man made the statement to Northern California track and field writers shortly after two top Negro track stars said they had second thoughts about an Olympic Games boycott in the light of the IOC decision.

"This is one of the things we were after," world record-holding sprinter Tommie Smith said Monday. "The chances of my going to Mexico City would have been much less had South Africa been allowed to participate."

Lee Evans, who has run the 440 in 44.9, said, "This certainly changes my mind some about participation."

Lamers Takes 2 Firsts

Southwest Defeats Terrors

GREEN BAY — The Green Bay Southwest track team racked up 11 first places out of a possible 15, including two relays, in registering a 79-48 victory over Appleton West in a dual meet Monday.

The Terrors received their only triumphs from Steve Lamers in the high jump and long jump events, Joe Boelter in the 220-yard dash, and Mike Moriarty in the 2-mile run. Lamers led West to a 1-2-3 sweep of the long jump, as Ade Dillon and Joel Hanna finished behind his winning effort of 19 feet, 8¼ inches.

Seconds were garnered by the Terrors' Boelter in the 100-yard dash, Sam Hesse in the 220, Jim Ruwoldt in the 880, Tom Sommers in the mile, Mark Stevens in the pole vault, and George Lowe in the discus throw.

The results:

Pair of Meets Face Lawrence Track Squad

Triangular Meet Wednesday, 4-Way Match Saturday

The Lawrence University track team faces its stiffest opposition of the young season this week with a triangular test at home Wednesday and a quadrangular on the road Saturday.

Wednesday, the Vikings will entertain Lakeland and Michigan Tech on the Whiting Field track. Field events are slated to get underway at 3 p.m., and the running events will begin at 4 p.m.

Last year, Lawrence racked up 83 points to 51½ for Lakeland and 38½ for Tech. However, both Lakeland and Tech have a good number of lettermen back and are expected to give the Vikes some strong competition.

Powerful Teams

Saturday Lawrence travels to Ripon College where the Vikes and Redmen will clash with a pair of powerful teams from the State University Conference, WSU-Oshkosh and Stevens Point.

Lawrence boasts a 2-0 record in outdoor competition. The Vikes of Coach Gene Davis have notched lopsided wins over Knox in a dual meet and Beloit and Judson in a triangular.

Chuck McKee, the team's top point man for the past two seasons is still on the doubtful list for Wednesday's meet. McKee pulled a muscle in the Knox meet and has been sidelined since.

Last Saturday's dual meet with Ripon was rained out and it has been rescheduled for April 29 at Ripon.

SPORT FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by John Behnke

Here's one that's hard to believe . . . Did you know that no one has ever hit a home run out of Yankee Stadium . . . That's right — in all the stadium's long history, no one has ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium during a game . . . Several players have come within a foot or two of doing it, but nobody's done it yet . . . That's rather amazing when you consider all the great sluggers who have played many games there.

Did you know that there was once a violinist with a symphony orchestra who became a big league baseball player? . . . His name was Eddie Basinski . . . He played second base and shortstop for the Dodgers in 1944 and 1945 and for the Pirates in 1947.

When a relief pitcher comes into a baseball game, or when any pitcher starts an inning, do you know how many warm-up pitches they are allowed to throw from the mound? . . . There is a definite rule in the official rule book on this . . . It says a pitcher may throw no more than eight warm-up tosses and he must complete them within one minute . . . Notice that the next time you see a ball game . . . The only exception is if the previous pitcher is injured and a new pitcher must come in without having had a chance to warm up in the bull pen . . . Then the umpire can allow him to warm-up longer on the mound.

Peters Again To be Facing 'Yaz', Bosox

Central Figures in Beanball Incident Of Last Thursday

CHICAGO (AP) — The woe-woe Chicago White Sox, burdened with a nine-game losing streak, face a possible vendetta by the Boston Red Sox and Carl Yastrzemski tonight.

Southpaw Gary Peters, the culprit according to Boston, will be on the mound again against Dick Ellsworth.

In Boston last Thursday when the White Sox were losing their sixth straight game, a Peters' pitch hit Yastrezemski and put him out of action in the eighth inning.

"That's the closest I've ever come to getting hit in the face," said Yaz, the American League's Most Valuable Player last season.

Yaz wouldn't comment on whether or not he thought Peters was throwing at him but some of the Boston players wanted to retaliate.

Desperately Need

Manager Dick Williams put a stop to such thoughts, refusing to give the White Sox something they desperately need — base runners.

White Sox Manager Eddie Stanky, when asked if he expected retaliation in tonight's game, said, "All I know is the day after we left Boston, four batters were hit by pitchers up there."

That happened Friday when the Red Sox defeated Cleveland 9-2 with Yaz slapping out three hits including a pair of doubles and two runs batted in.

Since then Yaz has gone 0 for-0 twice in games against Cleveland Saturday and Sunday with the Red Sox winning 3-2 and then losing 7-0 Sunday.

Meanwhile, the White Sox' losing streak is causing a stir and team owner Arthur Allyn chided the press "for pushing the panic button."

"I suppose you expect me to say I'm going to fire him," snapped Allyn in reference to Stanky when Allyn was reached by phone in Sarasota, Fla.

"He has a four-year contract," said Allyn. "You're nuts to even call me about that. I'm completely happy with Stanky."

Allyn, who will return to Chicago Sunday, also stated emphatically that there "is no possibility" his franchise will be moved to Milwaukee or that he will sell it — "and there never has been."

20 Softball Units Sign Up In Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Twenty softball teams have signed up to compete in the three leagues to be sponsored by the Kaukauna Recreation Department. Additional teams are likely to be added.

Most popular is the Tavern League, where nine teams signed to compete. This league uses the 16-inch ball. Teams and captains include Ranch Bar, Bob Kerscher; Stoney's Bar, Jack Wieler; Modern Bar, Vic Diedrich; Joyce and Tuggy's, Ray Gerow, Kappell's, Don Kobs; Verbeten's, Les Pelky; Joe Gertz, Robert Gertz; Jerry and Dee's, Don Vanderloop, and Powers' Pub, a captain yet to be selected.

Six teams signed for the 12-inch Class B League including Log Cabin, Bruce Mathis; Rose Hill, Dale Arnoldussen; Giddings and Lewis, Dick West; Corner Bar, Andy Anderson, and Shamrock Bar, Dale Moonen.

Signed for Class A were Speed's Bar, Bill Vanderloop; Schouten Oil, Bob Gossens; Lee and Sandy's, Ed Schaeffer; Badger Northland, Chuck Kilawee; Miller Masonry, Tony Zenisek and Kaukauna Athletic Club, Bob Pendleton.

Others interested in entering a team are to contact the recreation office. Play in all leagues is expected to open the first week in May.

North Stars Defeat Blues

Minnesota Cops In Overtime, 3-2; Hawks Play Tonight

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota North Stars climbed off the deck once more Monday night, but it may be just a matter of time how long they can stay on their feet.

The North Stars came from behind twice in the third period to force an overtime, then beat the St. Louis Blues 3-2 on Parker MacDonald's rebound goal at 3:41 of the extra period.

That tied the National Hockey League West Division final playoff series at one game each, and sent the best-of-7 series back to St. Louis for the third game Thursday night.

The fourth and fifth games also will be played in St. Louis because the North Stars rented out Met Sports Center here to the Ice Follies the rest of this week.

Minnesota has a 1-1-4 record this season at St. Louis, including Sunday's 4-3 loss to the Blues in the series opener.

Montreal and Chicago resume their NHL East Division final playoff series tonight in Chicago with the Canadiens holding a 2-0 lead. Both of those victories came on Montreal ice.

Stolle Requires 2½ Hours to Best Young Amateur Netter

BOURNEMOUTH England (AP) — Tennis fans here are waiting to see the improbable happen—a professional star toppled by an amateur.

Open tennis was launched Monday with first round matches in the British Hard Courts Championships, and the fans realized it is not so improbable after all.

Two stars from the professional troupe of American promoter George MacCall—Fred Stolle of Australia and Andres Gimeno of Spain — defeated young British players and saved their reputations. But they had to go all out to do it.

Stolle won a 2½-hour encounter with Peter Curtis 5-7, 6-4, 14-12, 6-1.

Gimeno downed Stanley Matthews Jr. 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.

"It didn't surprise me that I had a tough match," Stolle said. "I know this boy plays well.

"Open tournaments will have a psychological effect on young players. When they have to face a professional they will play above their best—and that's why I think open tennis is such a good thing."

Four more professional stars of MacCall's group—Australians Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Roy Emerson, and Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles—were due to go into action today, all against low-ranking opposition.

Pair Rolls 1,156 To Lead State Junior Doubles

KENOSHA (AP)— A Milwaukee team took over the No. 1 spot in the junior doubles handicap competition Sunday in the Wisconsin State Bowling Association's annual tournament, which ends May 12.

Edgar Waddell and Prather Monons rolled a 1,156 for the junior doubles lead. Pinky's Bowl of Milwaukee stepped into second place in the regular team competition with a 3,177.

Milwaukee's Bud Dreyfuss and Ed Wellskopf moved into fifth place in the minor doubles handicap competition with a 1,-200.

Ollie Neuberger, Stevens Point, had a 661 for third place in open singles, and Janesville's Robert Martin had a 663 series for second place in the minor singles handicap.

There were no other weekend changes.

Prahl Rolls 576 Set

Patsy Haltinner Tops Lucky Loop With 561

Patsy Haltinner cracked a 202 game and a 561 series to lead the bowling action in the Lucky League at Sabre Lanes Monday night.

Beth Momsen took runnerup honors with a 516 series and other top scores included Barb Derks 197-510, Merle Carlson 193, Joan Day 197, LaVerne Vandenberg 191, Nancy Webster 502 and Margaret Zehren 194-503.

On the final night of action in the Appleton City Employes League at Sabre Lanes Monday, Willard Prahl fired a 576 series to set the pace.

The Fire Department No. 2 team took the league championship with a 57-33 record to nose out the Fire Department No. 1 squad by 3½ games.

A. Schiltz socked a 232 game and H. Theisen had a 600 series in recent action in the Elks Big Ten League at the Elks Lanes.

Michigan won the league title with a 45-33 record with Illinois finishing in the runnerup spot, two games out. Members of the championship squad included Schiltz, E. Frahm, Mark Catlin, Don Larson, E. Walker, Andy Jimos and H. Checkai.

The loop's trophy banquet will be held Thursday night.

Yankees Edge A's; Orioles Notch 2-1 Victory Over Twins

California's Jack Hamilton Stops Senators on Three Hits

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oakland's Floyd Robinson still is ahead of Dooley Womack, but the New York Yankees' pitcher has shortened the distance by about 350 feet.

Robinson, who beat the Yanks a week ago with a 400-foot pinch hit homer off Womack in the ninth inning, nicked the slender reliever for an infield single with two out in the ninth Monday night.

Womack, however, retired the next batter, preserving a 2-1 New York victory that ran the Athletics' losing streak to four games.

California's Jack Hamilton pitched a three-hitter and drove in the deciding run with a fourth-inning single, leading the Angels past Washington 4-2 in another American League night game. Baltimore nipped Minnesota 2-1 on Andy Etchebarren's 10th-inning homer Monday afternoon in the only other game on the AL schedule.

Womack, whose home run pitch to Robinson last Tuesday at New York cost Yankee southpaw Fritz Peterson a victory, rescued Peterson in the eighth inning at Oakland, striking out Sal Bando to escape from a bases-loaded jam.

He stopped the A's in the ninth—with the exception of Robinson's second hit of the season—to protect Peterson's first triumph. The New York starter yielded six hits and struck out nine.

The Yankees managed only four hits against loser Lew Krausse, who fanned seven before going out for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Singles by Horace Clarke and Mike Ferraro, followed by Tom Tresh's sacrifice fly, sent the winning run across in the sixth.

Hamilton spotted the Senators two runs in the second inning, then held them hitless the rest of the way to win his first 1968 decision. The husky right hander snapped a 2-2 tie in the fourth with a run-scoring single off loser Dick Bosman.

Scored 3 Runs

Roger Repoz scored three runs, one of them on his third homer, as the Angels ended Washington's winning string at four games.

Etchebarren drove his first homer of the year into the left field pavilion at Minnesota with one out in the 10th, sending the Orioles past the Twins. Jim Merritt, who had given up a first inning homer by Paul Blair, was the victim of Etchebarren's winning blast.

Dave McNally, who allowed just four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the 10th, picked up his second victory without a loss John O'Donoghue finished up, retiring the Twins in order in the bottom of the 10th the lead with 2 1-3 shutout innings until the ninth.

Grant, winner Jim Brewer who struck out five of the six hitters he faced, and Jack Billingham stopped Pittsburgh on three hits as the Dodgers won their third straight.

Rojas connected against reliever Frank Linzy as the Phillies won their fifth straight. Richie Allen, who didn't start because cold weather bothers his injured hand, walked as a pinch hitter, stole second and reached third on Tony Taylor's hit before Rojas zeroed in.

With two out in the third, Rojas singled off Gaylord Perry and scampered home on safeties by Johnny Callison and Tony Gonzales.

Rick Wise protected that run until the ninth when pinch hitter Jack Hiatt singled home the first Giant run in 25 innings and the first run off Philadelphia pitching in 26 innings.

Wise pitched the 10th and finished with an eight-hitter to even his record at 1-1.

Mary Heinecke Wins State Open Crown

Mary Faye Heinecke, assistant professor of physical education at Lawrence University, has won the women's division of the Wisconsin State Open Fencing Tournament for the third year in a row in Milwaukee

Earlier in the spring, Miss Heinecke had won her second crown in the women's division of the Wisconsin State Closed Fencing Tournament.

$154 Million Netted From License Sales

WASHINTON (AP) — The U S Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife said Monday the 50 states collected a total of $154 million in fiscal 1967 from the sale of hunting and fishing permits.

Reports submitted by the states indicated that some 20 million hunting permits were issued, bringing in about $81 million—an increase of some 500,000 permits and $4 million over the previous year.

Fishing licenses issued increased by one million to a total of 27 million, and revenues from them increased $4 million to $73 million.

Quarry Early Favorite to Defeat Ellis

OAKLAND (AP) — Jerry Quarry is the early favorite to defeat Jimmy Ellis Saturday and win the World Boxing Association heavyweight title.

Quarry was a 13-10 favorite Monday in Las Vegas, Nev.

"This will give Jerry an added incentive to prove they're not wrong in having so much faith in him," said Jack Quarry, Jerry's father and co-manager.

"This is right down our alley," said Angelo Dundee, Ellis' manager.

"Twice they pegged it wrong. It's a cinch they'll be wrong again."

Cubs Get Pair Of Righthanders

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, trying to bolster their bull pen and arise from the National League cellar, obtained righthanded pitchers Jack Lamabe and Ron Piche from Tulsa Monday.

The Cubs gave up pitchers Pete Mikkelsen and Dave Dowling in the deal.

Lamabe, 31, was 1-0 with the Chicago White Sox last year, 0-3 with the New York Mets and 3-4 with the St. Louis Cardinals. He made three relief appearances in the World Series.

Piche, 32, was 4-2 with Tulsa. He has had major league flings with the Braves, Los Angeles Angels and Cardinals. Piche was assigned to Tacoma. Lamabe is to report to the Cubs Tuesday, possibly in time for their game with Atlanta.

Hornung and Taylor Feted In Green Bay

to attend a meeting, conveyed his congratulations to the trio through a message read by Packer President Dominic Olejniczak. Of Hornung and Taylor, Lombardi said, "Their names will always be associated with pro football no matter where they are or who they are with. They will always be the "Thunder and Lightning" of pro football, symbols of what the game is all about."

Hornung, the Golden Boy, was visibly and admittedly nervous as he accepted his plaque from Anderson. But he declared that his association with the Packers had been "the luckiest break of my life" and that "one of my greatest thrills was just playing here in Green Bay."

But Hornung also provided some of the lighter moments, pointing out that he had just returned from speaking at a testimonial in Las Vegas and "I haven't had many chances to get back to Vegas since my sabbatical." The reference being, of course, to his suspension for the 1963 season for violating an NFL gambling rule.

Starr Recalls Hornung

Bart Starr, honored by the Elks just a year ago, recalled the championship game of 1966 in Dallas as typical of Hornung, even though he didn't even play.

"We had a good drive going in the third quarter when Elijah Pitts fumbled. It changed the game. We had them on the ropes but they came back to take it right down to the wire. But the first player to meet Elijah as he came off the field was Paul. He put his arm around Elijah and took him back to the bench, comforting him.

"I don't know when a guy stood higher in the eyes of his teammates than Paul did at that moment. If you don't think that's class, I don't know what is"

Taylor acknowleaged that coming back to Green Bay under these circumstances was "certainly a different feeling. I'm really just speechless."

Jordan a Funmaster

And he was, except to ask Hornung if he had brought along the Saints' highlights film, which Jim indicated was about as big as a spool of thread.

Jordan, typically the funmaster, praised Taylor for his ability but added that since going to New Orleans, Jim is the only guy he knows who could commit sucide stepping off his wallet.

Press-Gazette sports writer Lee Remmel accepted the plaque in behalf of Daley and commented that covering the Packers was strictly a "life-long labor of love" for the man who was dean of the country's pro football writers when he left the job last Jan. 15.

Remmel then read a message in which Daley said, "One of the fine things in this city has been the recogniiton of great Packer players and coaches by the Elks. Never did I expect to be among this distinguished group. I feel terrible about not being there tonight."

Main speaker of the night was long-time TV voice of the Packers Ray Scott, who perhaps summed up the entire feeling of everyone present when he said that the three men being honored had set a standard of excellence that insures continuing great football for Green Bay and Wisconsin.

Wausau's Phillips Leads State Junior Bowling Tournament

MADISON (AP)— John Phillips of Wausau posted a 605 series for the lead Sunday in the senior boys' open division of the 3rd annual Wisconsin state junior bowling tournament.

Although not in the tourney, 12-year-old Brad Legreid rolled a 267 line with strings of four and six strikes Saturday. The youngster has a 115 average.

Virgin Land Given to UW by Nature Group

250 Wild Acres in Door County Include Mile of Shoreline

Special to the Post-Crescent

GREEN BAY — University of Wisconsin holdings in natural resources were boosted importantly Friday as the regents accepted from the Wisconsin chapter of the Nature Conservancy a gift of 250 wild acres in Door County including more than a mile of Lake Michigan shoreline on Moonlight Bay.

The gift, valued by the donor at $67,000 carried with it a condition that the lands be held forever as a nature preserve for scientific, educational and aesthetic purposes. Except for those modifications necessary for research and maintenance, the property lying north of Bailey's Harbor and adjacent to The Ridges, famous wildflower sanctuary, will be kept in its natural state.

Grant Cottam, Madison campus professor of botany and chairman of the Arboretum committee, pointed out that the gift will increase research opportunities in the natural sciences for the entire University but because of its nearness to the Green Bay campus will be of special benefit for studies here.

Nothing Like It

"I'm overjoyed," Cottam said. "There is nothing like it in our science program. Now researchers using the land as a comparison area can check the bayside against the lakeside."

Wisconsin's new natural treasure holds both uplands and lowlands in approximately equal amounts. The forested portion, lying directly over limestone, is one of the southernmost outliers of ancient northern forest. University naturalists also emphasized that the property, as it adjoins The Ridges, is essentially an extension of the famous sanctuary "which holds more rare plants to the square mile than any other site within the state."

The Nature Conservancy is dedicated to preserving samples of the state as Nature made them — undisturbed natural areas to be studied and enjoyed. Accordingly the citizens group works to locate and purchase, where possible, such lands, then ultimately bestows them where preservation, study and public enjoyment is assured.

One of Finest

The property accepted by the regents is not the first land gift made by the Conservancy to the University, but it is one of the finest.

When sold recently to the Nature Conservancy by Miss Emma Toft, long-time Door County resident, and her nephew Thorval Toft, a Sturgeon Bay attorney, the property had been in the Toft family for close to a century. In deeding the wild acres to the University, the Nature Conservancy carried out not only its own purpose but the express wishes of the previous owners.

The donation carries additional provisions that Miss Toft may continue to reside on the land for the remainder of her life and that her nephew and his children may hunt waterfowl there

Three Michigan Youths Each Forfeit $50 Bonds For Disorderly Conduct

Three 18-year-old Gwinn, Mich. youths each forfeited $50 bonds in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 this morning on disorderly conduct charges brought by Kimberly police.

Arrested were Mike J. Miljour, Steve W. Winter. and Laurence J. Hafeman.

Police said the boys broke and damaged several small trees as they walked along W. Kimberly Avenue about 12:10 a.m. April 3. Police were summoned by a citizen who witnessed the vandalism. The youths, who reportedly were in this area seeking employment, also were assessed $86 for damage to the trees.

Girl Says She Stole to Buy Easter Outfit

A 16-year-old Appleton girl stole $15 from a westside family last week so she could buy a new Easter outfit which she told police she "wanted very badly."

Edward Banker, 414 W. Winnebago St., reported to police last week that $15 in half dollars was missing from his home. Police later learned that the girl, an acquaintance of the family, took the half dollars and substituted pennies.

She later sent a letter and $1 to the Bankers. The penciled note, on flowered stationery, read, "A dollar down, 14 to go. Do not ask any questions of anyone, you would not of suspected me in a million years." Banker turned the note over to police Saturday.

A short time later the girl was brought to the police station for questioning, and readily admitted taking the money. She said the $1, contained in the envelope, was the first payment toward restitution of the $15. The girl told police she intended to pay it all back in the same manner.

She said she bought a dress for $8 and used the rest to buy new shoes. She was released to her parents with orders to make full restitution.

Village Police Report 2 Thefts Over Weekend

LITTLE CHUTE — Police are investigating two thefts reported over the weekend, one from a grocery store and the second from a parked car.

Mrs. Barney Vosters, 504 S. Wilson St., reported five cases of beer stolen from a grocery store. Entry was gained by breaking a window on a rear door. No money or other items in the store were touched.

Thomas Schmit, 322½ E. Main St., reported two supersport hub caps stolen from his car when it was parked in the driveway at his home Sunday night.

Road to Well Started At High Cliff Park

SHERWOOD — Work was started Friday on about 1,100 feet of road north of the main campground road in High Cliff State Park to enable campers to get water from the well near the quarry.

Campers had been carrying water from the well near the new shelter building at the top of the steep hill.

Electricity and a pipeline system eventually will be installed for the convenience of campers in the 58-unit campground which was opened last year.

Rural Shiocton Man Not Hurt in Accident

David L. Nelson, 34, route 2, Shiocton, escaped with minor bumps and bruises when his 1965 truck ran off Outagamie County Trunk MM near Manley Road, just east of Hortonville, about 3 p.m. Monday.

County police said that Nelson was westbound on MM, rounding a curve, when his truck went out of control and ran off the road, striking a fence owned by Horace Larson, route 1, Hortonville. Police said there was no damage to the truck.

Madison Man Admits Forcing Students to Shave

MADISON (AP)—Gerald McKnight, 30, of Madison pleaded guilty in county court Monday to charges of battery and reckless use of a gun in connection with a forced mustache shaving incident.

Judge Russell Mittelstadt delayed sentencing until May 6.

Police quoted two University of Wisconsin students as saying McKnight and another man, now being sought, forced the students to shave off their mustaches in a Langdon Street apartment early Sunday.

The students were identified as Stephen Sommerville, 23, of Green Bay, and Richard Hoffmaster, also 23, of Oshkosh.

Sommerville and Hoffmaster said McKnight and a companion beat them and forced them at gunpoint to remove their facial adornments. Both were treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises.

McKnight told the court he and his companion had been drinking. He said he had no explanation for his action except that he disliked "longhaired hippies and those demonstrators."

THE MARKET PLACE for NEW and USED AUTOS

Our Double Check Emblem— The Sign of Confidence!

There are many reasons why you should demand the Double Check emblem on a previously owned automobile. The Double Check insignia tells you the automobile has been checked, rechecked and tuned to perfection. You buy with confidence and know you have made a wise investment. Each Double Check previously owned model offers you built-in "peace of mind"—at no extra cost.

We have a wide variety of Double Check models waiting for you — Buicks and competitive makes. Come in and select yours today.

Sales and Service Facilities will be included in the new Wisconsin Gas Company district headquarters building in Clintonville. Plans for the structure were announced today.

Utility Firm Plans Clintonville Office

Facility for Sales and Service

CLINTONVILLE — Wisconsin Gas Company has announced that it will construct a new district sales and service building in the city's downtown sector.

Dean Burton, district manager, said that the Felts Construction Co., Inc., Shawano, has been awarded the general construction contract.

Construction will begin in early May, with completion scheduled for early fall, Burton said. Wisconsin Gas Co. presently leases office space at 79 S. Main St.

Architectural Design

Early American architecture will be featured throughout the design of the building. A colonial red brick and cedar shake shingle exterior design and interior furnishings are planned.

The 5,000 square feet of office space will be utilized for a sales display area, combination demonstration and meeting room, and general office and warehouse activities.

The demonstration area will accommodate activities such as home service demonstrations by the company, as well as meetings by various civic organizations and clubs.

Warehouse Area

Appliance parts, meters, fittings and other gas distribution and service equipment will be stored in the district office building in an 1,800 square foot warehouse area.

The building will be on an 87 by 150 foot landscaped lot on the corner of 10th and Clinton streets. Wisconsin Gas Co. purchased the parcel in two parts from Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Richardson, 25 10th St., and from Franklin and Russell Haven, of Green Bay.

The utility's district office provides natural gas service to 13 communities including Clintonville, Shawano, New London, Bonduel, Embarrass, Hortonville, King, Cecil, Bear Creek, Gillett, Waupaca, Weyauwega and Oconto Falls.

A Tuberculin Skin Test may be a simple thing but it's a matter of major concern to James Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beyer, who is a pupil at Freedom School. The last clinic of the Outagamie County testing program was held at Freedom Monday. Previous clinics have been held at Seymour, Little Chute, Kimberly, Shiocton, Bear Creek and Hortonville public and private schools. Tests were given to 2,886 children. Shown administering the test is Dr. John G. Russo, superintendent of Riverview Sanitorium and Outagamie County General Hospital, while Mrs. Raymond Stephanie gives James an assist. New Concepts in Study of Land

Geography Gets Glamorous

"I suppose you prepared yourselves for this course by memorizing the 50 states and their capitals. Well, forget it."

That's how William G. Laatsch regularly opens his geography classes at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Geography used to call for the memorization of facts. But in Laatsch's classes students aren't expected to remember the exact width of the Amazon River or the height of Mt. Everest.

Instead they study differences in land forms, climate and man's adjustment to these factors.

"Geographers these days are generalists, observing entire regions and characteristics of them," says Laatsch.

This shift of emphasis in geographic education has been marked.

Geography was one of the first four courses offered when the Fox Valley Center opened in 1936. At that time geography fulfilled the requirement of a laboratory course for Center students. Materials and equipment for the course were simple, inexpensive and easily transportable.

This is the third in a four-part series on "Social Sciences Today," prepared by the staff of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Konrad Ebisch, who has taught in the Center geography department since 1946, says, "It was literally possible to teach geography from the trunk of my car."

And indeed he did.

Ebisch learned a lot about Wisconsin geography in his first years with the Center. He traveled between Menasha and New London, Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids, teaching geography at each place. Sometimes Center classes met in a high school or a church annex, and Ebisch taught one course in a city hall council room. He carried his minimal supply of maps with him.

Winter Day

"One winter day, as I left Menasha for a class in Wausau," Ebisch recalls, "it was 5 degrees above zero. As I went farther north it became colder, and by the time I reached Wausau it was 19 below. It certainly was an impressive lesson in geography and climate difference."

After World War II, the study of geography changed. The subject began to reflect the end of isolationism and the beginning of American interest in world affairs. It has become a well respected discipline and more scientific in its approach.

Georgraphy courses offered at the Center reflect the change of emphasis. There are classes that investigate climate, vegetation and land forms throughout the world. Economic geography explores man's economic activity over the earth, from subsistance agriculture to sophisticated manufacturing.

Scientific equipment used in geography courses has improved too — in complexity as well as in quantity.

Fold-Up Map

"I used to carry a fold-up map of the world with me," recalls Ebisch, "but now each desk in the lab has its own globe."

The Center now has a fully equipped weather station that includes a rain gauge for measuring rainfall, a hygrothermal graph to measure relative humidity and temperature, an anemometer to record wind velocity, psychrometers to measure humidity and barometers to indicate air pressure.

The geography department has a well-stocked map library with large-and small-scale maps of many areas of the world.

A recent addition to the geography department is a stream table, which simulates geographic conditions. With this device students can observe soil erosion, drainage patterns and wave action on beaches. It is a complex type of sand box into which a stream of water is directed. It stimulates in miniature the same forces of nature that act on the earth.

"The stream table explains

4 to be Tried For Kaukauna Glass Damage

New London, Hortonville Area Youths Charged

Four New London and Hortonville area youths, who last week were placed on one year probation in Waupaca County, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon on four charges each of criminal damage to property in Kaukauna.

The youths, whose cases were continued to Tuesday afternoon for the entering of pleas, are Peter Carmody, 18, route 2, Hortonville; Eugene Fink, 19, route 1, New London; John Jolly, 18, 1323 Division St., New London; and Robert Muskevitch, 19, 324 E. Quincy St., New London.

The youths were charged, following investigation by county authorities, with damaging display windows at four Kaukauna business places on April 4. Sheriff's investigators alledged that the damage was caused by the use of air rifles.

Over $1,100 Damage

Investigators said that more than $1,100 damage was done to windows at Haas Hardware Co., Verfurth's Shoe Store, Coffey Motors, and Gustman Chevrolet Sales. Authorities said that a truck window also was damaged at Gustman's.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer found Carmody, Fink, and Jolly indigent, and appointed Appleton attorney Jerome Block to represent them at county expense. Muskevitch was advised to hire his own attorney when it was learned during an indigency hearing that he has $940 in a bank.

Schaefer said that because of the seriousness of the charges, he felt an attorney should be named. Schaefer set bonds at $400 for each of the four youths.

The youths were placed on probation last week in Waupaca County on charges of criminal damage to property and theft.

2 Break-ins, Theft Reported

Iola, Rural Waupaca, Fremont Buildings Entered Recently

WAUPACA—Break-ins, at the storage warehouse at Fremont, a cottage near Iola and a theft from a Town of Lind home have been reported to the Waupaca County sheriff's office.

An estimated $60 worth of candy, maple syrup and miscellaneous items were taken from the storage warehouse owned by Brasch's Cheese House two miles east of Fremont on County Trunk H. Entry was gained through a rear window.

A spinning reel was taken from a cottage owned by Burton Arkin, West Allis. The cottage was entered through a side window. It is located on Moon Lake in the Town of Helvetia.

Two bottles of liquor were taken from the house owned by General Tree Corp. south of Waupaca in the Town of Lind. The theft was reported Saturday by Mrs. Arthur Sells. It was not determined how entry was made.

Airline Balks Over Period For Payments

Air Wisconsin Asks 15 Years to Finance Hangar Alterations

Air Wisconsin officials have balked over the Outagamie County Board's decision to require payment of improvements at the airline's hangar over a five-year period, instead of over the remaining period of the lease on the building.

Karl Baldwin, president of the Appleton-based commuter airline, told the board's airport committee Monday night that with expansion of the company's air routes, the proposed five-year write-off on the planned $15,000 remodeling project would be financially difficult.

Plans are to remodel the second floor of the hangar to provide about 800 square feet of office space and to install an oil trap in the hangar to eliminate oil from the sewerage system.

15-Year Payment

The airport committee agreed to recommend to the board to extend the payment period over 15 years and to have Baldwin appear before the board to explain his position.

The committee also directed airport manager Charles Olson to make tie-down provisions for small airplanes both on the pavement and on the grass near the t-hangars. The county will charge $10 per month for tie downs on the pavement and $5 per month on the grass.

Hiring of a full time maintenance man also was discussed but no decision was made. A meeting with the personnel committee will be held to bring in a recommendation.

Permit Granted For Pond Near Marion

MARION — Alward Gruenstern, route 1, last week was granted a permit by State Department of Natural Resources, division of resource development to construct a pond adjacent to Kinney Lake in the Town of Dupont.

The pond, 300 feet long, 80 feet wide, and six feet deep, will be 230 feet north of Kinney Lake and 75 feet west of Gruenstern's east property lines.

The purpose of the project is to provide habitat for fish and wildlife.

Money, Liquor Taken In Burglary of Cottage

An undetermined amount of liquor and money was taken during a Saturday night burglary at the Ervin LaSage cottage on the Wolf River, north of Stephensville.

The break-in was reported to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department Sunday afternoon by a caretaker at the cottage. Entry was gained by breaking a rear door glass. Kitchen cupboards were ransacked, investigators said.

Pinned in Wreckage

Antigo Man Injured, Hay Spilled in Crash

TIGERTON — An Antigo motorist was injured when he was pinned in the wreckage of his car early Monday afternoon after being involved in a collision with a truck on U.S. 45 north of here.

Bruce Kegler, Antigo, was taken to the Tigerton Hospital where he is being treated for severe leg injuries and face and head cuts. He was freed from the wreckage by passersby. The Clintonville rescue squad was called to the scene but Kegler was taken from the car before the unit arrived.

Shawano County authorities, who investigated, said that Otto Stadler, 61, rural Birnamwood, was driving a truck northwest on U.S. 45 with a cargo of baled hay when the truck was struck by a car going in the opposite direction and driven by Kegler. Stadler escaped injury.

Police were told that Kegler was at the top of a hill and passing another vehicle when he struck the Stadler truck. Both vehicles were demolished. The crash occurred at about 1:30 p.m.

Hay Bales Were Strewn across U.S. 45 about six miles south of Wittenberg when a truck and a car collided almost head-on about 1:30 p.m. Monday. The car was traveling south and the truck north when the accident occurred.

Items Taken From Bear Creek School Are Recovered

BEAR CREEK — Articles taken from the high school Friday evening have been recovered, according to Constable David Fletcher.

A retractable ruler and one stop watch were found near the school. Another stop watch was still in the possession of one of the boys alleged to have entered the building.

Fletcher said the one boy was a third-time offender, and had a different boy as a companion in each offense. He has been referred to the department of Health and Social Services.

2 Injured in Car Crash Near Fremont

WAUPACA — Two Illinois youths were hospitalized at the New London Community Hospital Sunday following a one-car crash, 6 miles north of Fremont at the intersection of County Trunk HH and Pine Road.

Injured were Robert L. Olson, 17, Oak Park, Ill., driver of the car, who sustained a possible skull fracture plus head lacerations, and a passenger, Edward A. Breen, 15, Maywood, Ill., who suffered a fractured right shoulder.

County traffic police said the car was traveling north on Pine Road when it failed to stop for a stop sign, crossed County Trunk H, and struck a high embankment. Damage to the compact foreign car was estimated at $400.

The youths were taken to the New London hospital by a State Traffic patrolman who assisted in the investigation of the crash.

New London Firemen Answer False Alarm At Industrial Plant

NEW LONDON — Firemen were called to Curwood Inc., about 6 p.m. Monday when the automatic alarm system was activated by a malfunction.

Ruben Voss, fire department chief engineer, had just completed the regular 6 p.m. radio alert system test when the automatic system sounded.

Chief Robert Besaw and Darwin Scheid, engineer, were making a training run with the aerial-pumper truck and were near the plant when the alarm was sounded. They, along with two other trucks, answered the false alarm.

Ex-St. Joseph Pastor Dies In Indiana

The Rev. Alphonse Heckler OFM Cap., former pastor of St. Joseph Catholic Church, died Sunday at the Capuchin seminary in Huntington, Ind.

Father Heckler served the

that the new elementary school was completed.

A native of Milwaukee, the priest was ordained in 1927. After leaving Appleton, he was assigned to a Negro parish, St. Benedict the Moor, in Milwaukee and from there went to an Indian mission in Montana.

He will be buried Wednesday in Huntington.

Former New London Resident Forfeits $275 On Traffic Charges

WAUPACA — An Illinois man, who was arrested April 8 by county police and charged with speeding 100 miles per hour in a 55 m.p.h. zone, and driving while his driver's license was revoked, failed to appear for trial Monday and forfeited a bond for fines totaling $275.

Robert R. Rowe, 20, Maywood, Ill., a former New London area resident, pleaded innocent to the charges when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court April 8. When he failed to appear for the trial Monday, he was found guilty on both charges and was fined $150 for speeding and $125 for driving while his license was revoked.

$149 to Heart Fund

BEAR CREEK — A total of $149 was contributed to the Heart Fund in the Town of Deer Creek, according to Mrs. Norman Conradt, chairman.

School District Costs Estimated at $457,288

New London Board of Education Studies Newly Proposed Expenditures for '68-69

NEW LONDON — A partial list of expenditures estimated at $457,288 — about $10,428 less than for similar categories in the present program — were revealed Monday night when board of education members conducted their initial study of the school district's planned expenditures for the 1968-69 school year.

Only estimates on the cost of operation, maintenance, debt retirement and other costs not related to salaries have been compiled to date.

Supt. H. James Ramsdell said: "I feel the figures represent an accurate proposal for the cost of operation next year.

Ramsdell explained that debt retirement costs were down about $5,000; vocational costs about $1,500 because of VTE-12, and food administration estimates down about $1,500.

Complete Budget

A complete budget will not be compiled until June when equalization values are made available by the state. School aid, tax apportionment and other income items will be based on the equalized valuation figures.

The administration is to bring in a study of non-teaching salaries at the next board meeting and figures on area salaries and means of designating duties.

A program of naming supervisors in various areas of non-teaching areas is being taken under advisement by the board for further study.

After a proposal is agreed on by the board, a meeting with non-teaching personnel will be scheduled.

Buy Equipment

The board authorized the purchase of football equipment and textbooks as outlined in the newly proposed budget to insure receiving both items prior to the start of school in the fall.

A field trip to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry was given tentative approval after much discussion and change in the original proposal.

The board voted to approve the trip, proposed by the Junior High School science department, provided it be on a Saturday, that school district buses were used instead of private carrier, teachers acted as chaperones and the cost be pro-rated at about $3 per person.

Originally it was suggested that the trip be made on private bus by the 200 freshman at a cost of $10 per person and a school day be used for the trip.

Women Hurt In Accident

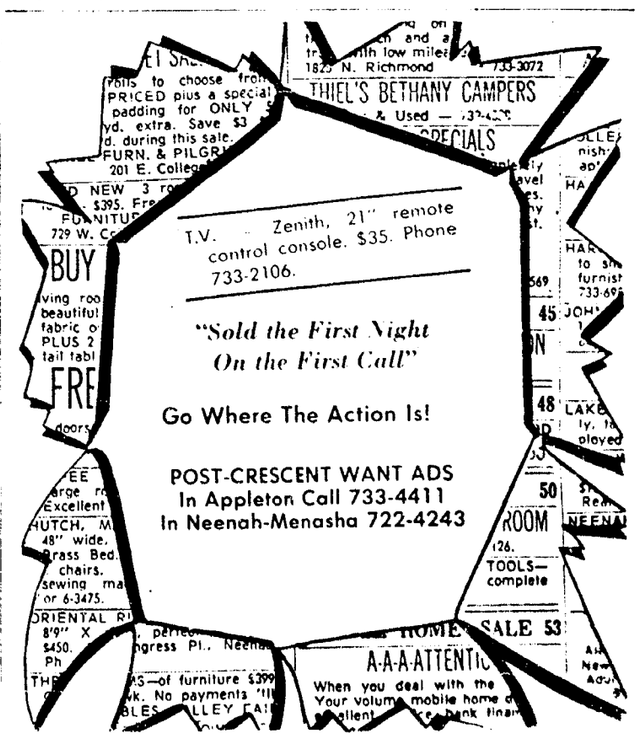
Car Hits Tree Less Than Block From Home in New London

NEW LONDON — A young New London woman was seriously injured about 12:10 a.m. Monday when the car she was driving crashed into a tree at E. Beacon Avenue and Algoma Street, less than a block from her home.

Mrs. Charles Schmallenberg, 409 E. Beacon Ave., was transferred to Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, shortly after being taken to Community Hospital by Cline-Hanson Ambulance. Besides cuts on the legs, she was believed to have suffered a severe injury to her back and spinal column.

A passenger in the car, Mrs. George Zimmerman, 20, 501 W. Beacon Ave., received cuts on the legs, an injured ankle and was in shock. She is being treated at Community Hospital.

City police reported Mrs. Schmallenberg was driving west on Beacon Avenue and her car ran over the right curb and struck a tree. She had just left her home to travel downtown.



Principal to Leave School At Clintonville

Florian Felts Leaves St. Martin for Indiana Position

CLINTONVILLE — Florian L. Felts, principal of the St Martin Lutheran School, announced Sunday he has decided to accept the call extended to him from St. John Lutheran Church, La Porte, Ind., to serve as principal and eighth grade teacher.

The congregation has a communicant membership of 1,750 and baptized membership of 2,250. There are 215 pupils enrolled in grades kindergarten through eighth at the present time but a new $650,000 school, which is planned for an enrollment of 300-plus students, is being built

Felts will have completed 24 years in teaching this fall with 19 years here at St Martin School and five years in the rural public schools

Felts received his bachelor of science degree in education from Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., in May, 1963.

In the summer of 1963, he attended a National Science Foundation course in Modern Mathematics at Valparaiso University for seven weeks. He has served as the chairman of North Wisconsin Teachers' conference, chairman of the North Wisconsin Principals' conference, secretary of the North Wisconsin District Board of Education, and is at present the secretary of the North Wisconsin District Stewardship board.

Professional Groups

Felts is a member of the Department of Lutheran Elementary School Principals, National Department of Elementary School Principals, National Council of Teachers of English, National Council for Social Studies, Wisconsin State Council for Social Studies, Lutheran Education Association National Council of Teachers of Mathematics, Wisconsin State Council of Mathematics, National Council of Teachers of Reading, and the Wisconsin State Council of Mathematics.

He was born May 30, 1918, at Tilleda and graduated from Shawano High School in 1936.

100 Enroll for Kindergarten

200 Parents Attend Round-Up for 1968-69 School Year

CHILTON — About 200 parents attended the kindergarten registration round-up April 17, at Chilton High School.

Approximately 100 children were registered for the 1968-69 school year and phases of the kindergarten program were discussed with parents.

Principal Robert Garfield encouraged any other parents who have not registered their children to do so immediately so plans can be completed for next year's kindergarten program.

To be eligible for the fall term, a child must have reached his fifth birthday before Dec. 1, 1968. For registration, it is necessary that the parent present a legal birth record.

Drive chairmen were Mrs. Joe Wettstein, rural Chilton and Mrs. George Herrmann, rural Hilbert.

New London Musician Will Go on School Band Tour

NEW LONDON — The city's most traveled musician — a comely junior at New London High School — will again make a barnstorming tour this summer.

Debbie Miles, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miles Jr., will travel with the School Band of America throughout the central Eastern states during August.

Last year she made the European tour with the same band. She was the only musician from Wisconsin in the troupe.

She learned recently that she would again be a member of the band, composed of 73 musicians from throughout the nation. She automatically held the right for a post with the band as an alumni. Members must be in high school.

The tour will begin Aug. 11 with rehearsals in Peoria, Ill.; and will conclude in that city on Aug. 21. Concerts will be performed in Indianapolis, Ind.; Columbus, Ohio; Pittsburgh and Harrisburgh, Pa.; New York and Buffalo, N.Y., and Toledo, Ohio.

Gardeners Plan to Attend Conference

CLINTONVILLE — Members of the Clintonville Flower and Garden club plan to attend the spring meeting of the Central Region Garden Club of Wisconsin on May 1 at Peace Lutheran church, Amherst.

The morning speaker will be Carl Scholz, who will use as his topic "The Ridges and Toft Point," and the afternoon speakers will be Mrs. Albert Bennett and Mrs. Gladys Kuhn, both of Hortonville, on the topic "Colorful Arrangements from the Garden and Wayside."

Jurist to Address Masons-K of C Fete

CLINTONVILLE — The guest speaker at a dinner meeting on Monday night at the St. Rose Catholic School hall will be Judge James H. Levi, Wisconsin Rapids, recently elected circuit judge, when the Knights of Columbus entertain members of the Masonic Lodge. An incorrect name had been given for the speaker in a previous article.

Seymour Approves Street Projects Costing $5,700

Okay Hickory, Babbit; Ivory, Elizabeth Under Consideration

SEYMOUR — Summer street construction with an estimated cost of slightly more than $5,700 was approved Monday night by the city council.

Fill, grading and graveling on Hickory Street, estimated at $4,250, and repairs to Babbit Street, estimated at $1,460, were approved on recommendation of the street and sanitation committee.

The committee also considered work on Ivory and Elizabeth streets but additional study was deemed advisable before a recommendation is presented.

Ald. Malcomb Vietch (1st) asked approval of the recommendation so the city could prepare specifications and obtain bids and get the projects started.

Other Work

Other street work under consideration is reconstruction of the bridge on Hickory Street prior to resurfacing the street within the next two years. Estimated cost is $8,000. The other consideration is resurfacing Ivory Street with a total estimated cost of $9,940.

In other action the council instructed the public property and insurance committee to meet with Steve Van Buren and Vern Fremore in an attempt to arrange for a summer recreation director and director for city-wide organized baseball.

Both applicants are college students and majoring in physical education and considered likely prospects by the council.

The committee will discuss salary arrangements and hours with the applicants and make recommendations at the next meeting.

Last year one director received $900 for the summer and the other was paid $800. Last year's program was all day, however, this year a half day schedule is being considered because the swimming lake is open in the afternoons and most of the city's youngsters are there at that time.

Earl Gosse, director of public works, gave a sidewalk report which was requested at the last meeting. He said that 40 per cent of the city streets have sidewalks and recommended a five-year program to complete approved installations.

His proposal was referred to the street and sanitation committee for recommendation where the program should start and the approximate amount of footage to be included this year.

As soon as the recommendation is presented and approved the council will advertise for bids.

However, it was brought to the council's attention that all recommendations would have to be estimates because a property owner can arrange for the installation on his property. Michael Burns, city attorney, said it was doubtful if any property owners would choose to contract for their own work as it was highly improbable that any could find a competitive price for the amount of work that the city is planning.

Mayor Ivan Dunbar was instructed to sign a lease with Richard Kahnt for the property north of his department store on N. Main Street for the city to use as a parking lot.

Parking Lot

The lot was the subject of considerable controversy at an earlier meeting.

Ald. Albert Doepker, 2nd Ward, opposed the issue at both sessions. He held to his conviction that the lot was presently being used for a parking lot and it seemed foolish to him to pay for something already available.

The previous council had passed a resolution stating the city would rent the property for the amount of the yearly taxes.

Kahnt had asked the council's consideration in this amount before he purchased the property. He said he didn't have any plans for building and his only purpose for owning the lot was to assure an access to his rear entrance and loading dock.

In final action the council instructed the planning, zoning and development committee to arrange for a public hearing on rezoning property owned by Leon Sampson on E. Pearl Street from residential to commercial.

Sampson requested the action so he can use a housetrailer for an office building for his excavation business.

A 10 p.m. Curfew Will Be Enforced in the Village of Bear Creek

All juveniles on the streets of the Village of Bear Creek after 10 p.m. will be turned over to the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department. The parents will then be notified and they must go to the Sheriff's Department to get the child.

This is an order of the:

Outagamie County Sheriff's Dept.
Village Constable, David Fletcher
Village President Leonard Lisbeth

Mrs. Donald Wordell to Head Brillion Jaycettes

BRILLION — Mrs. Donald Wordell was elected president of the Jaycettes last week.

Other officers are Mrs. Robert Behnke, vice president; Mrs. Robert Endries, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Mathiebe, treasurer. Directors are Mrs. Donald VandeYacht, Mrs. Robert Durig and Mrs. Clarence Bohman. An installation dinner with the Jaycees' new officers will be May 25 at the Reed-Way Sportsmen Club, Reedsville.

The Jaycettes appropriated $150 for Camp Waubeek for handicapped children near Wisconsin Dells. Half of the money will aid in sponsoring Kim Zimmerman, local muscular dystrophy victim, to the camp this summer and the balance will be used for camp equipment. The Easter Seal Society pays the other half of the boy's fee to camp.

In other action the Jaycettes donated a typewriter to the special education class at Forest Junction.

Mrs. Vande Yacht and Mrs. Dennis Krizenesky are chairmen of the senior tea for Brillion High School girls. Assisting will be Mrs. James Jensen, Mrs. Don Sommers, Mrs. Behnke, Mrs. Donald Endries and Mrs. Wordell.

Delegates to the Jaycette spring regional meeting May 4 at Darboy are Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Eldore Buboltz and Mrs. Wordell.

Mrs. Robert Durig volunteered to be summer band concert chairman. The Jaycettes will assist the Jaycees in refreshment booths, as in past years.

Mrs. David Robertson is a new Jaycette member. The group's next meeting on May 13 will include a tour of Holy Family Hospital, Manitowoc.

Aide Announces Her Candidacy

Shannon to Quit Job He Held for 40 Years

Sydney M. Shannon, Outagamie County clerk of courts for 40 years, announced this morning that he will not seek re-election in November, and his deputy clerk of six years, Gloria Johnson, announced she will be a candidate.

Shannon, who will be 65 in June, was appointed clerk of courts June 1, 1928 to succeed his father, Harry A. Shannon, who resigned after holding office 12 years. Sydney, who was a deputy clerk under his father for six years, was appointed by the late Circuit Judge Edgar V. Werner.

Sydney took the courthouse job immediately after graduating from Appleton High School. He and his father were the only two employes in the clerk of courts office.

Miss Johnson, 25, of 123 S. Mason St., is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Sylvester Johnson of Appleton. She began working full time in the Outagamie County register of deeds office after graduation from Fox Valley Lutheran High School. After working in that office for six months, she transferred to the clerk of courts office and has worked there for the past six years.

Shannon has always served as a Republican, and Miss Johnson said she intends to seek election on the Republican ticket.

In announcing her candidacy this morning, Miss Johnson said she felt that with the retirement of Shannon, the clerk of courts office should continue to be operated in the same efficient manner. "I feel that my six years as deputy clerk qualifies me to see that it is operated in such a manner," Miss Johnson stated.

She is the first person to announce candidacy for the $8,400-per-year job. Miss Johnson is one of four employes in the county office.

Oldest in Wisconsin

In terms of tenure, Shannon is the oldest clerk of courts in Wisconsin, and has held office longer than any other elected Outagamie County official. He said this morning that when he took office at the age of 25, he was the youngest clerk of courts in the state.

The Appleton native, when asked his reason for retiring, explained, "As far as I am concerned, I think it's time for me to retire from public office." He said he will continue to reside in Appleton, but will spend more time at his cottage north of Rhinelander.

Shannon is a member of the Elks Lodge. He and his wife, Dorothy, live at 1019 N. Owaissa St. They have a daughter, Sally Shannon Walsh and a son, Sydney Shannon Jr., both of Appleton.

Fire Fighting Made Easy

NEW LONDON — A car left idling on N. Water Street produced an excessive amount of smoke from its exhaust system.

The New London fire department was called at 9:50 p.m. Sunday when it was told that the car "was on fire."

The "fire" was extinguished when the ignition was turned off.

more to the students than many lectures can. It's fun too," admits Laatsch.

But in the spring Ebisch guides a traditional field trip to Devil's Lake.

"It always shocks students to see how much sooner spring has reached Devil's Lake then the Fox Valley," says Ebisch. "It drives home to the student that for every 70 miles you travel south, you add 2½ degrees to the average temperature." (Devil's Lake is 100 miles from Menasha.)

At Devil's Lake geographic phenomena range from Pre-Cambrian rock (that's the oldest) up to present-day erosion. The students can study glacial geography and also the nearby un-glaciated areas. Examples of drainage, potholes and wave erosion are also available for study.

Indian Mounds

Historical sites and Indian mounds interest the student too and show the use to which the first men in Wisconsin put the land.

"Geography is a valuable part of a liberal education," says Laatsch. There are 1,340 colleges and universities that offer geography, of which 230 offer an undergraduate major and 32 the doctoral degree. Four geography courses will be offered at the Center this spring.

And how can one earn a living in geography?

Most students who major in the subject enter the teaching field. But there are many other areas of employment.

The federal government hires geographers for work in the Department of the Interior, the Defense Department and the CIA. Before coming to the Menasha campus Laatsch himself worked in the Library of Congress.

Congo Garb

"I was in charge of the care and feeding of the map collection," he said. He did legislative reference work too.

One of his more humorous assignments was to answer the request of a senator who was to visit the Congo. The senator wanted to know what his wife should wear for the trip.

There are other job opportunities for geographers in marketing research, photo-interpretation, transportation planning and regional planning. Even super-market planners consult geographers when selecting a new location.

A geographer is in the enviable position of having research opportunities wherever he chooses to locate. He can study climate and land forms near home, or he can journey to far places. He can work in business, do research or even "cloak and dagger" interpretation for the government.

Both Ebisch and Laatsch agree that Wisconsin is a fine place to begin a career in geography.

GOP Caucus Hears Byrnes

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Eighth district Republicans Monday night kicked off the 1968 state political campaign with a forum for candidates, a "give 'em hell" speech by Rep. John W. Byrnes and routine business at the annual caucus.

Following Byrnes' talk, criticizing Democrats at all levels of government and from Woodrow Wilson to Lyndon Johnson, the caucus selected delegates to the state GOP Convention next month and adopted eight resolutions.

The list of Republican candidates seeking support from the delegates was headed by Lt. Gov. Jack Olson and Byrnes.

Seeking the convention endorsement for attorney general were State Sen. Robert Warren, Green Bay, Milwaukee attorney Louis Ceci, who was the GOP candidate in 1966, and Beaver Dam attorney Howard Boyle, a past candidate for that post.

Two possible candidates for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Gaylord Nelson also asked for support. They were State Senate Majority Leader Jerris Leonard, Bayside, and Don Tewes, Waukesha, a former congressman from the old 2nd District.

Caucus Keynote

Also seeking endorsement was Harold Clemens, former assemblyman whom Gov. Knowles recently appointed state treasurer succeeding the late Mrs. Dena Smith.

In what could be called the caucus keynote speech, Byrnes told about 200 party officials from the seven-county area, "It is up to the Republican Party to get the country out of this sorry, tragic mess."

There is only one way to free the country from "the Democratic albatross. Put a new party in power," Byrnes urged.

Byrnes said it would make little difference to the nation, and what he called the mess in foreign relations, domestic crises, and fiscal problems, which Democrat runs for the presidency.

"I know them all," he said referring to President Johnson, and Senators Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy, and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. I've watched them all. Their differences are so minute they are almost invisible."

'Spend. . .Borrow'

The philosophy of all, said Byrnes is ". . . spend . . . appropriate . . . borrow . . ."

The Republican Party has a grave responsibility, he went on. We must "cure the long Democratic drunk . . . we can't shrink from the nasty job."

Caucus Chairman Richard Boltz, 8th District GOP chairman, listed the number of delegates to the state convention from each county. Brown heads the list with 82, followed by Outagamie with 66, Manitowoc with 46, Marinette, 23, Door, 19, Oconto, 18 and Kewaunee 14.

Eighth District representatives on four standing convention committees were also named. They are: Credentials — Roy Willman, Marinette, and Mary Strange, Outagamie; Rules — Fred Kaimbach, Kewaunee, and Cecilia Schmidt, Oconto; Resolutions — William Heerman, Outagamie, Virginia Severson, Brown; Platform — James Byrnes, Door and Robert Warren, Brown.

Vietnam Resolution

The caucus also adopted a resolution on Vietnam which avoided any controversy. It called for avoiding any resolution at the state convention which would interfere with peace talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam, and urged finding a solution to the war and an honorable peace.

Other resolutions sought cooperation of all facets of American life to combat the problems of the major urban centers; called for fiscal reforms to halt the deficit spending for "guns, butter and jam;" and seeking a tax reform which will include increasing the personal federal income tax exemption from the present $600 per dependent.

Other resolutions praised Byrnes and Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

In addition to those candidates asking for endorsement, the caucus was attended by Assemblymen Lawrence Kafka and Jerome Quinn, Brown County; Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich, Outagamie; Lawrence Johnson, Door-Kewaunee; and Milton McDougal, Oconto-Langlade, and State Sens. Gerald Lorge, Outagamie, and Alex Muenier, Door.

Russia Fears End of Communism in China

Secretary of State Dean Rusk talks with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin Monday at the State Department where both signed an agreement to return astronauts and space equipment. Britain also signed the pact.

Warning Also Hits Mao Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist Party said today there is a clerr possibility communism might be overthrown in China.

In a strong attack on Mao Tse-tung's policies, the Soviet party's theoretical journal said, "The very existence of the Communist Party of China . . . is now at stake.

"Already clearly in sight is the danger of a change in the nature of the government in the country and, hence, a real danger to the Socialist (Communist) gains of the Chinese revolution," the journal Kommunist said.

Internal Danger

The article, as summarized by Tass news agency before the journal was distributed, indicated that the danger of communism's being overthrown was an internal one.

It suggested that Mao's policies had created such discontent that his ouster and the destruction of his party were possible.

After the failure of the "great leap forward" in the late 1950s, Kommunist said, "Mao Tse-tung's authority and the belief in his infallability began waning in the party and among the people."

Dictatorial

To overcome this, Mao adopted an increasingly dictatorial policy, militarizing life and increasing the role of the army, fanning nationalist passions and inflating his own "cult of personality," Kommunist said.

At the same time, he tried to divert attention from internal problems by criticizing other Communist parties, the article said.

It also accused Mao of "staging military provocations to aggravate the international situation." The summary of the article did not specify what these were.

'Wave of Discontent'

Aside from "channeling the surging wave of discontent outside," this policy had another goal of seeking greater world power for China, Kommunist charged.

It described Mao's Communist Party as never having been truly Communist by Kremlin standards. Instead, the article suggested, it was infected with "the artificially cultivated idea of China as the center of the world" instead of Communist internationalism.

"All the burden of responsibility for the present deep social-political crisis in China rests fully and entirely with Mao Tse-tung's group which deliberately broke with Marxism-Leninism in keeping with its great power adventurist ambitions," Kommunist contended.

Analyzes Causes

The article, presented as an unsigned editorial by the journal of the Soviet Communist Party's Central Committee, ana-

Emergency Programs Urged

Millions Go Hungry In U.S., Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new report says that in the Deep South, in New England, on Indian reservations, in Applachia —in every section of the nation —at least 10 million Americans suffer unremitting hunger and the number of victims is growing.

They suffer anemia, growth retardation and parasitic diseases usually found in underdeveloped countries, the report said. And their infants often are fed water instead of milk, while their aged suffer dizzy spells from hunger.

"No other Western country permits such a large proportion of its people to endure the lives we press on our poor," the report said. "To make four-fifths of a nation more affluent than any other people in history, we have degraded one-fifth mercilessly."

National Emergency

The report, made public Monday by the Citizens' Board of Inquiry into Hunger and Malnutrition in the United States, urged President Johnson to declare that a national emergency exists and to launch emergency food programs in 256 hard-hit countries, as well as migrant farm camps and some Indian reservations.

It also recommended establishing a free food-stamp program and stripping the Agriculture Department of responsibility for food aid because it places "the interests of agricultural producers first, the needs of the poor and hungry second."

The report said only 5.4 million of the estimated 30 million persons in poverty receive surplus commodities or food stamps under current Agriculture Department programs. And, it added, one-third of those receiving the government aid still have a poor diet—according to Agriculture Department standards.

Not Enough Food

"We cannot assume that any of the remaining poor—those on neither program—are getting enough food," the report said.

Co-chairmen of the citizens' group are Benjamin E. Mays, retired president of Morehouse College, Atlanta, Ga., and Leslie W. Dunbar, director of the Field Foundation, New York.

The 100-page report showed pictures of undernourished infants, children and old people—as well as grain storage bins, farm land taken out of production under government programs and a shipload of food headed for India.

The report said the 256 counties requiring immediate food programs are in 20 states—most in the South and Southwest—with 47 of them in Georgia.

William Burson, Georgia welfare director, commented on the report: "As bad as the situation is in Georgia, it's not as bad as the committee painted it."

Another 27 counties are in North Carolina. Said that state's welfare chief, Clifton M. Craig: "We are aware that there are many poor persons without food and other essentials of life, including proper shelter and clothing" and added his department is doing its best to help the destitute.

In Virginia, which the report said has 14 hunger-struck counties, Director Otis L. Brown of the Department of Welfare and Institutions said some hunger and malnutrition problems stem from "eating and buying habits."

The citizens' board gave no ethnic breakdown of hunger victims but did report: "Curiously, the desolate poor are heavily weighted on the side of old inhabitants: Indians, Negroes, Appalachian whites, Spanish-speaking residents of the Southwest."

"A thousand people who must go without food for days each month would be shocking in a wealthy nation," the citizens' report said. "We believe that, in America, the number reaches well into the millions. And we believe that the situation is worsening."

March by Whites Urged on Capital

NEW YORK (AP) — Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, called today for a massive march on Washington by white people to demand an end to racism.

A march by hundreds of thousands must be led by the nation's most respected white leaders if rebellion by poor and frustrated Negroes is to be avoided, said the Negro head of the civil rights organization.

Young told the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, "White people own the industries, the newspapers, the housing. They reap the benefits of our way of life, and theirs are the rewards of this society. It is their future which is at stake, perhaps more than that of Negroes, who, after all, have the least to lose."

Believed Lost in Thailand

3rd F111 Downed on Strike Against North

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the third crash of a U.S. Air Force F111 fighter-bomber on its way to or from a bombing mission against North Vietnam. The command said the plane was believed down somewhere in Thailand Monday night.

There was no other information on the plane or its two crewmen, the command said.

Six of the $6 million, swing-wing aircraft arrived at an air base in Thailand March 17 and went into combat March 25. On March 28 the first of America's most advanced planes crashed and was believed down in a remote section of Thailand.

The second crash was March 30, in northern Thailand, and the crew was rescued and the wreckage recovered. That crash was attributed to a capsule of sealing material getting lodged in the flight controls.

Following the first two crashes, the other F111s were grounded until two replacements were flown from Nevada. The squadron resumed combat missions against North Vietnam April 12 and have been bombing every night since then.

Four Missions

A U.S. spokesman said the F111s flew four missions against North Vietnam's panhandle Monday night, but he would not say how many planes were on each mission.

U.S. planes flew a total of 155 missions over the panhandle Monday as pilots took advantage of clearing weather to hit targets south of the 19th parallel. Most strikes were against communications lines and weapons positions.

On the ground in South Vietnam there was heavy fighting south of Saigon, but no sign of the major enemy attack on the capital feared by the South Vietnamese.

Troops of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division and the 199th Light Infantry Brigade fought an all-night battle 17 miles southwest of Saigon with an estimated battalion of Viet Cong holed up in bunkers.

Troops Rush In

The Viet Cong opened up on the infantrymen when helicopters landed them in a nearby clearing. More U.S. troops were rushed in by helicopter, and artillery, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers were called into the fight that raged through the night.

The Viet Cong retreated just before dawn. Eight U.S. soldiers were reported killed and six wounded by intense small arms and automatic weapons fire and enemy rocket grenades. The U.S. troops said they found the bodies of 35 Viet Cong in the bunker complex.

South Vietnamese infantry reported 115 Viet Cong killed in a battle 20 miles south of Saigon Monday.

The South Vietnamese said troops of their 7th Infantry Division fought for an hour with a Viet Cong unit of unknown size in the Mekong Delta. Seven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 47 wounded.

Shelled by Enemy

Enemy gunners also shelled installations more than 40 miles south and east of Saigon today, but close to the city there was no evidence of activity that might signal the big offensive anticipated by the South Vietnamese command.

Government forces in the capital and in neighboring provinces were put on full alert Monday after a North Vietnanese defector said the Communist command planned an enemy attack with all the punch of the Tet offensive in February.

Key U. S. officials said the alert was a case of war jitters, and a U.S. mission spokesman said: "No alert or any warning has been issued to American personnel."

Extra 100,000 Seen In Draftees for 1969

Gen. Hershey Claims Pentagon's Estimate of 240,000 Is Too Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey has told Congress he estimates the 1969 draft call could exceed by as much as 100,000 men the 240,000 the Pentagon is asking.

And at the least, the Selective Service director indicated, the draft call—should the Vietnam war continue—will probably be closer to 297,000 than to 240,000 next year.

In testimony given to a House Appropriations subcommittee Feb. 23 and released Monday, Hershey noted that for this year the Pentagon orginally asked for induction of 285,000 men.

The number actually to be taken this year now stands at 345,000 and, "Therefore, when I get 240,000 in my figures, it will take another 100,000," said Hershey, adding:

"If the war gets over, everything is gone. But if the war doesn't get over, I have to think of the worst, because the best I can always live with."

Hershey also related the 240,000 Pentagon figure to the 297,000 actually inducted in 1967. He explained the 1967 figure was more pertinent to 1969 needs than were figures for 1968 since men are inducted for two-year terms.

And he expressed skepticism recruiting efforts could appreciably lower his estimates on the number of inductees needed.

Talking of the need to replace 1967 inductees who will be discharged next year, he said "We don't necessarily replace them, if (the) recruiting is good enough. The 285,000 (in 1968) make it."

2,400 for State

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's 1969 draft call could be boosted by 2,400 men if estimates by draft chief Lewis B. Hershey are correct, the State Selective Service headquarters said today.

'Cabinet' Wants To Reorganize State in 8 Parts

Appleton Situated in Center of 11-County Region of 'Fox Valley'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The proposed creation of a series of state service districts might well put Appleton in the running for a new state office building, it was disclosed here Monday.

A uniform districting plan dividing Wisconsin into eight administrative districts to provide clear-cut lines for providing state services has been endorsed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles' operating cabinet.

Headquarter cities have not yet been chosen for the districts, but state planners hope to have proposals before the cabinet by May 20.

Centrally Located

Appleton is the most centrally located major city within one district of the Fox Valley region which includes Outagamie, Door, Kewaunee, Brown, Shawano, Waupaca, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Calumet, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties.

The comprehensive plan prepared two years ago by a St. Louis consulting firm for Appleton has designated the Jones Park area as a future civic center.

One of the potential structures proposed for the center is a state office building. A city-county complex also is envisioned for the general site.

Knowles warned, however, that local residents should not look upon the headquarters site decisions as regional battles.

"I hope we don't envision regular capitols in the areas, or start a run on the part of local legislators," Knowles said.

The plan actually divides the state into four regions, each having two districts.

The cabinet-level departments would offer their services through identical districts to provide residents with common centers for state governmental service and operation.

Economy, Efficiency

Blending of the headquarters also would effect economies and efficiencies in state operation, according to the cabinet members attending the meeting with Knowles.

Linked to the district headquarters offices buildings would be the state departments of natural resources, revenue, transportation, agriculture, industry, labor and human relations, health and social services and local development.

The plan represents the first step toward restructuring

Thant Optimistic

Initial Talks This Week?

PARIS (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said today, "I hope preliminary peace talks between Washington and Hanoi will begin soon, perhaps even this week."

Thant told airport newsmen, "Phnom Penh, Warsaw, Geneva or Paris are the cities where these preliminary talks could be held."

Thant was reported last week to be in contact with Washington and Hanoi on peace talks.

His comment on prospects came amid rumors in financial circles in New York that a site already had been agreed on

But in Washington a State Department spokesman said: "You can say flatly that no agreement has been reached."

Answers Questions

Thant flew to Paris from Tehran where he opened the International Human Rights Conference. He went to Paris' Orly Airport greeting salon for distinguished persons and then informed newsmen he would make a statement. He told about the purpose of his trip and then responded to questions about Vietnam.

"I have taken part through my contacts with the two parties, on a private basis, in the negotiations toward a solution to the problem of preliminary talks between North Vietnam and the United States.

"It is up to Hanoi and Washington especially to settle this problem. However, it is preferable to be optimistic."

Asked if Paris could be considered as a possible meeting place, Thant said, "Phnom Penh, Warsaw, Geneva or Paris are indeed possible meeting places."

Accident Fatal to Police Chief

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The police chief of Phillips was killed early today when he was struck by one car and then hit by another on a Milwaukee street.

Phillips Police Chief Donald Marks, 41, who also was a Price County deputy sheriff, was killed in an accident at 2:40 a.m. today. He was in Milwaukee to attend a police administrators' school.

Authorities said Marks, a pedestrian, was struck by an automobile at N. 27th and W. State streets on the city's west side ad was carried about 30 feet on the hood of the car before he rolled to the pavement. An unidentified person directed traffic at the scene while the motorist went into a nearby restaurant and telephoned police. Another car then struck Marks, dragging him about 40 feet. The woman driver said she did not see the person directing traffic.

Marks, married and the father of three children, had been a member of the Phillips police department for 10 years and chief since 1966. His wife, Lorraine, is an elementary school teacher, there.
